Newsmen Meet Ship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The cruise liner SS Silverstar, which runs between Havana, Miami and Vera Cruz, radioed from the high seas to have newspapermen meet her when she docked Monday night.

George Southworth, Miami Herald reporter, rushed to the docks where he met an official of the company which manages the big ship.

"Must be very important," the official said.

When the Silverstar docked, the official hurried aboard and conferred with the captain. Then he returned to Southworth and gave him the news:

Someone aboard wanted to buy a paper.

Ethel Merman Returns To Films In Call Me Madam

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There can be no doubt that Ethel Merman is back at work in the movies after a 12-year absence. Her voice can be heard all over the 20th Century-Fox lot.

That's when she's speaking, of course. When she's singing, it's reported she can be heard in Santa Monica.

I needed no sound device to follow her voice to the stage where she was testing for the screen version of her broadway hit, "Call Me Madam." When I arrived, it appeared that the studio was taking good care of Ethel. There were about two dozen well-paid workers on the set, ready to make a test of her hairdo. Quite a difference from when she was there last for "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in 1938.

"I didn't come into the picture until it was half over," she recalled.

But she was glowing about doing "Call Me Madam."

"I'm certainly happy they saw fit to let me do it," she remarked. "I think it's going to be a lot of fun. The cast (George Sanders, Vera-Ellen, Donald O'Connor) is great, and the director, Walter Lang, is my dream boy."

Will this mean more movies for Merman?

"Could be. About seven months ago, I was offered a Broadway show for the spring of 1953. I turned it down because I couldn't see that far into the future. I don't know what I'll be doing next."

Her film producer, Sol Siegel, predicts she'll open a whole new career for herself in the movies.

When she was in pictures before, she was competing with other movie actresses," he told me. "Now I think she can carve a niche all by herself. She's the great; there's no reason why studios can't find pictures for a mature woman of her immense talent."

The selection of Merman for this role was something of a novelty, by Hollywood standards. Her long list of hit musicals has always fallen to other stars for the film versions.

I questioned producer Siegel about the topical aspects of "Call Me Madam." The show was obviously based on the diplomatic career of Perle Mesta and contained many allusions to present-day Washington.

"We've cut out most of the topical references," the producer said. "The 'I like Ike' number has been taken out, since the picture won't appear until after the election. If we left it in and he won, there wouldn't be any reason for it. If it was in and he lost, it would sound like sour grapes. So we have replaced it with a 1913 Irving Berlin tune, 'International Rag,' a corny routine which Merman will do.

"We've also eliminated the Dean Acheson character. It wasn't just because he might no longer be secretary of state; his part wasn't needed in the film version. But we left in the phone calls to Harry Truman and the remarks about Margaret's singing voice."

Cooperatives Hold Meeting

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Conventioning members of farm cooperatives had an admonition Tuesday to be vigilant against the "tricks" and "deceit" of critics of cooperatives.

Knox T. Hutchinson, assistant secretary of agriculture, told a session of the 24th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation that critics "will be sniping at co-ops this year and next year and in years to come."

Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of Sunkist Growers, Inc., of Los Angeles derided those who call cooperatives socialistic.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," he told the convention. "In fact, a bona fide farmer's marketing cooperative both in its organization and operation is the very antithesis of socialism. It could be better and more adequately defined as an 'industrial democracy'."

Harry Truman May Be Asked To Play Secondary Role in Campaign

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman may be asked today to play a muted second fiddle to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois in the Democratic campaign for the presidency.

Stevenson's scheduled arrival here today for White House conferences with the President, and a Cabinet luncheon is expected to bring a decision in the backstage controversy over Truman's role in the campaign.

Unless all the outward signs fail, the Illinois governor probably will have his help. But Stevenson is expected to make it plain he wants no presidential whistlestop tours overshadowing his own efforts as the nominee to get his views across to the people.

One issue that may be settled is a conflict in Labor Day speaking plans for the two.

William Flannigan, Stevenson's press secretary, disclosed yesterday in Springfield, Ill., that the nominee was considering kicking off his campaign with a Sept. 1 speech in Detroit.

Flannigan said the Stevenson camp learned that Truman tentatively had arranged to speak in Milwaukee the same day. He said the mixup occured because of lack of knowledge in Springfield of Truman's plans.

Democratic leaders apparently agree that in any such conflict the President ought to defer to the nominee.

One campaign official who asked not to be quoted by name said he thought Truman ought to let Stevenson get a running start on his drive before the President makes any appearances at all.

This official said he is suggesting that Truman's greatest contribution might come in his assurances to people in the populous Northern states that Stevenson will carry on his civil rights program if elected.

Sen. James Murray of Montana said he believes Truman could help Stevenson with a public power speech in the West.

"The President is popular in our country and it would be a mistake if he doesn't campaign for Stevenson," Murray said. "He doesn't have to undertake a whistlestop campaign but he ought to give his fullest cooperation to the nominee."

Some Republicans have been contending that Stevenson is the "captive candidate" of the Truman administration, but Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt) told a reporter he takes no stock in that.

Flanders, who is supporting the GOP nominee, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said he regards Stevenson as "a damn good man," but added he will have to fight for the right to run his own political show.

"In my estimation," Flanders said, "Stevenson quite obviously is embarrased by efforts of the President to grab hold of his coattails and also do the steering."

Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, told reporters:

"Gov. Stevenson is his own man. He won't be anybody's captive."

Sparkman said he believed the question of whether Truman should make a free-hitting whistlestop campaign tour was a matter for Stevenson and the President to settle between them. Sparkman insisted he knows of no friction or embarrassment surrounding the question and that he expects none.

"Gov. Stevenson will call the signals for his own campaign," Sparkman added.

Stevenson's visit to Washington will include a brief by government and military leaders on the international and defense situation.

Tax Collector Enjoys Work

BOSTON (AP) — Henry Long likes collecting taxes so much he even does it on his own time.

The energetic Massachusetts tax commissioner is supposed to be on a month's vacation right now, but he's spending it in his cluttered cubby-hole office at the State House.

He's entitled to four weeks off a year but he hasn't taken a day of it since he was appointed in 1920. And there's no extra pay involved either.

Long's philosophy is "If you have a week's vacation it takes a week to get over it; if you have a month it takes a month to recover."

Don't get Long wrong, though; he's all for vacations — for the others. His advice to vacationers is: "Eat hearty, drink hearty, and go to the races." (All are heartily taxed by the state.)
