

STEPHEN A. MITCHELL, 49, choice of Gov. Adlai Stevenson for Democratic national chairman, answers questions during news conference in his Chicago law office. Mitchell said that he's "strictly an amateur" in politics and that he couldn't discuss campaign plans until he confers with Stevenson and other leaders.

State Schools List Stocks

EUGENE — The state system of higher education has an estimated $80,000 worth of stocks it is holding as security for scholarships, only about 5 per cent of the entire endowment fund. The state board was told Monday by the attorney general that it was illegal for the education system to hold the stock and that it would have to get rid of it. University of Oregon officials made the estimate of $80,000 in standard stocks, donated to the educational institutions.

Income from the stocks has been used for scholarships and prize funds except at the medical school, which turned the income over to Doernbecher Hospital in Portland.

Park Airstrip Plan Muled

A State Board of Aeronautics idea to construct an airplane landing strip in Crater Lake National Park will probably get a cool reception from the National Park Administration.

From Salem Tuesday, the Associated Press reported the state board had discussed the idea and intended conferring with the National Park Administration.

At Crater Lake, Park Supt. John Wosky said the administration usually frowned on such installations inside the parks. He explained that an airstrip's construction would be foreign to the administration's policy of keeping the parks in as near a natural state as possible.

However, Wosky said the administration might welcome and cooperate with a plan to locate a landing strip near the park. Wosky was unaware of the state board's plan until informed by the Herald and News.

Fishhook, Line Used In Surgery

FT. COULONGE, Que. — A vacationing dentist from Erie, Pa. performed an emergency operation yesterday with a fishhook for a needle and fishing line for suture. He closed a deep gash in the arm of a fishing guide.

Dr. Eugene Engeskinger repaired a severed tendon and sutured an eight-inch laceration, bone-deep cut in the left arm of Ernie LaDouceur, 45-year-old operator of a fishing camp at Big Moose Lake, 60 miles north of this Ottawa River town.

LaDouceur was flown out of the bush afterwards to Ft. Coulonge, some 70 miles northwest of Ottawa. The guide was hurt when a fan blade from a small gasoline engine broke off and hit him.
