Stocks

NEW YORK — Without any display of spirit at all, the stock market wandered along a mixed path Friday that tipped a little lower.

Prices were from fractions higher to between 1 and 2 points lower with a high priced share or two poking down beyond that.

Trading came to an estimated 900,000 shares.

GRAINS

CHICAGO — Grains held steady for most of the session and then drifted downward toward the close on the board of trade Friday.

Man May Face Morals Charge

Jerry Palmer Ellis, 27, held in the County Jail for traffic law violations, may be sent to Marion County for prosecution on a morals charge.

The man was picked up yesterday morning at Chemult in company of a 15-year-old girl. The girl was questioned by District Attorney Frank Alderson yesterday and said she and Ellis had been living together in various parts of the state.

Alderson said that Marion County authorities planned to submit a statutory rape charge against Ellis to a grand jury. The girl is to be returned to Eugene in custody of Lane County juvenile authorities.

Meanwhile, Ellis is serving a 15-day jail sentence here for having no operator's license, and also has a $25 fine against him for having only one headlight on his car.

He pleaded guilty in District Court yesterday afternoon.

His real name probably is not Ellis, but Palmer W. Leigh, State Police learned yesterday, a parolee from the Washington State Prison.

In The Basin

do better if we were as well led. These boys of ours over there in Korea are led by DEDICATED men. Men who govern their lives by this rule: "What is best for my country?" If it is best of their country that they die in their tracks, they die in their tracks.

Too often, here on the home front, we are led by men who ask: "What is best for ME? What will get me the most votes?"

A thought in closing: In this political campaign, in this year of decision, let's never forget that the BIG ISSUE is getting as leaders men who will govern their every act of leadership by this rule: "What is best for my country?"

airport disposal system).

The factory site seeker was impressed. Whereas a few minutes prior to Tucker's call he had not even thought of Klamath Falls, the factory man was now interested to the point of informing Tucker he would come here within a few days and look over our possibilities.

We may not set this particular factory but we now have a good chance at it, thanks to an alert Chamber of Commerce.

There are many other similar stories of chamber work. And there are several businesses in the Basin right now that are here primarily because of chamber work.

If you are a business or professional man interested in the Basin's business growth, you can help a lot by becoming active in the chamber, here or at one of the other chamber communities we mentioned.

Story Teller Off To Salem

John Middleton, 44-year-old Negro transient who yesterday started a story telling tour, left for Salem on a freight train last night when he was committed to the state mental hospital.

He was given a sanity hearing after being brought to the County Jail from Lapine.

Middleton had claimed that he killed, or nearly killed, a Negro woman, Daisy Thomas, in a gondola car of a Great Northern freight train near Lapine.

She was a voodoo woman, he declared, and was trying to hex him.

Train crewmen located the woman in the gondola, and she showed signs of a beating, but she was not seriously hurt and was left on the train to come to Klamath Falls where she was to be taken into custody by officers here.

When the train reached the yards, the woman hopped off and walked away. That was yesterday morning.

Late yesterday afternoon City Police located her here in town.

Hobby Show Deadline Set

Deadline for entries in the 20-30 Club-YMCA's First Annual Klamath Basin Hobby Show is next Wednesday, and there's still enough room for plenty more exhibits.

Entry blanks may be clipped out of the Herald and News or picked up at the "Y" building, 722 Pine Street. Starting Monday the blanks will be published in the paper until deadline.

Any possible hobby may be eligible, and exhibitors are asked to get their entries in as soon as possible. Everything from button boxes to collections of handcraft exhibits are expected.

Stamp collections, Indian artifact exhibits, mineral collections and photo setups are among the most popular entries so far.

The show is to be held next Thursday and Friday in the YMCA building.

Church Slates Special School

St. Paul's Episcopal Church has slated a vacation church school to be held Monday and continue daily through Aug. 26, excepting Saturday and Sunday.

The school is to run from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. daily, with stories, play periods and handcraft planned. Films are also to be shown.

Mrs. Hazel Morrison is in charge of the school, and she is to be assisted by Mrs. Sam Grubb, Mrs. Harold Shearer, Mrs. Norman Guyer, Miss Janice Larson, Mrs. Ernest Koschnick, Miss Joan Bellinger, Mrs. Gordon Turner and Diane Swanson.

The school takes pre-school youngsters through the sixth grade, inclusive.

Reds Yield To Map Demand

TOKYO — United Nations Command headquarters said Friday the Communists have yielded to Allied demands for maps showing the new locations of three Red prisoner of war camps in North Korea.

Maj. Gen. William Harrison, the senior U. N. armistice negotiator, received the information from North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator.

It also included maps showing the boundaries of two other camps holding U. N. prisoners.

The U. N. Command released without comment a note from the Red general saying the Communists now have located all camps — holding Allied prisoners — which had been expanded.

The Allies had complained last Wednesday that the Reds were endangering the lives of their captives by failing to pinpoint the camp sites. It demanded the information "without delay."

The truce talks at Panmunjom, Korea, are in a seven-day recess. Nam Il's letter was delivered by liaison officers.

The full delegations meet again next Tuesday to try resolving the major obstacle — a truce — repatriation of prisoners.

Campers Back From Y Trip

Thirty-six campers returned late yesterday from the YMAA camp at Diamond Lake, under the direction of Klamath "Y" Secy Paul Campbell — a four-day camp dream up almost the day before it happened for youngsters who have had no chance for camping experience yet this summer.

The camp was held at the YMCA camp site set up by the Medford Club.

Elmer DeWitt, Portland, who holds both "Y" and Red Cross Life Saving examiner's certificates, handled the waterfront activities; Charles Norland, Klamath Falls, undertook archery, handicraft and camping counselorships and Eugene Mead acted as chief trailsman.

Under Mead and Doug Campbell 14 youngsters trekked to the summit of Mount Bailey and another 14 circumvented the lake.

Under "Y" Camping Director John Searles, a panel of volunteers provided transportation for the campers, including Sam Ritchie and the California Oregon Power Company, Hans Norland, Earl Kent and Rex Dye and Gene Woods.

Mrs. Campbell acted as cook for the camp.

There were indications that next year's camp may be a longer period.

Morse Urges New Reviews

LONDON — Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore) said Thursday he favored setting up an independent review board outside the State Department to rule in cases where passports are denied American citizens.

Morse said he believed that any person denied a passport should be given a "full and complete public hearing."

The senator said here that creation of a passport appeal board within the State Department partly meets his objections to the previous system. But he added he would prefer an "absolutely independent review board."

Morse said "all I am interested in is seeing that there is some responsible board to give an American citizen a hearing when a passport is denied with due process."
