Keno Readies 24-Hour Watch

The little community of Keno has established a full 24-hour Operation Skywatch observation post, but Klamath Falls hasn't been able to do that yet.

Despite the offer of a post location by Mrs. Gladys Egan on Prospect Street, so far attempts to maintain a 24-hour watch have failed there.

At Keno, however, a Boy Scout troop was contacted by two Air Force men here to organize the observation system last Thursday evening. The following morning at 7 a.m. the post there went on watch. A night-watchman at a nearby mill will cover the sky for the night side, and at least for now the Scouts will handle the day-side.

US To Mull Jap Crimes

WASHINGTON — The United States has indicated to Japan that it will promptly set up machinery for consideration of applications to free Japanese war criminals. The State Department announced Saturday that the Japanese embassy had "expressed the hope" on Thursday that the United States government would soon be prepared to give consideration to applications for clemency and parole of Japanese war criminals.

The embassy said the applications were being presented by the Japanese government under Article 11 of the Japanese peace treaty. Prior to the peace treaty the American-controlled Allied occupation of Japan had paroled 892 war criminals sentenced by the Allies. Under the treaty the governments whose courts passed the war crime sentences retain authority to exercise clemency.

The State Department announcement said the Japanese embassy "was assured that the United States government is continuing to give the matter careful attention with the view to early establishment of machinery for consideration of such applications."

Truman Extends Housing Law

WASHINGTON — President Truman Saturday ordered the period for eliminating World War II temporary housing extended from Dec. 31, 1952 to July 1, 1954. There have been previous extensions. But federal housing officials explained one of these orders was so worded that 65,000 units were not included and Saturday's order will cover them. Officials said the president acted after considering national defense needs and the effect of the added extension upon the general housing situation and the national economy.
