FORT KLAMATH

By MYRTLE WIMER

A houseguest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAuliffe and family is her brother, Father William Codd, who is vacationing here from Seattle, Wash. Helen and Lee, Noah, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Noah of Prineville, returned home Thursday after visiting on the preceding Monday at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Noah.

The Old Swimm' Hole at Denton Park, has proved a most popular spot during the past month of warm, sunlit days, the ideal summer weather having been conducive to various groups holding their annual all-day picnic outing among the pines at Denton Park. On Sunday, Aug. 3, employees of the Balseger Motor Co., and also members of the Bartenders' Union of Klamath Falls gathered there for picnic, while, Saturday, Aug. 8, was the occasion for a gathering of Bonneville Power Project employees. Scheduled for next Sunday, Aug. 17, is the Klamath Falls Fraternal Order of Eagles picnic, and on Sunday, Aug. 24, Pacific Fruit and Produce Co. employees of Klamath Falls, will hold their annual picnic at the park.

Anita Vaden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vaden, of the Hawkins Cattle Co. ranch, is home after spending a week visiting in Klamath Falls with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vaden. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Denton visited over the weekend from Portland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Yegge of Denton Park. Denton operates a lumber yard in Guam, and was recently called home to Portland by the illness of his wife. Among local people who enjoyed the Elk's picnic held Sunday, Aug. 3, at the city park at Malin, were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McAuliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Miller Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Roeder and Mrs. Jerry Sisemore. Houseguests from Wednesday until Friday at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Denton and son Delbert, were Mr. and Mrs. Lew O'Neil and their sons, Michael and Gary, Sparks, Nev. Mrs. O'Neil is a niece by marriage of Mrs. Clara Beall, who is Mrs. Denton's sister, and a summer visitor at the Denton home, from Arcata, Calif. Spending all day Sunday at the Denton ranch home were Mrs. Viola McDowell, a daughter, Cheryl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fanger, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bellows and Mrs. Phil Lowd, all of Medford. The women are nieces of Mrs. Denton and Mrs. Beall. Mrs. Lowd being the former Claudia Klum, widow of the late state police officer, Phil Lowd, of Medford.

An event of the weekend of Aug. 16-17, will be the third annual get-together and picnic of the Wood River Pioneer and Old Timer organization. On Saturday evening, Aug. 16, local members will be hosts for a social meeting in the C. I. Clubhouse, when election of officers will be held. On Sunday, the all-day annual picnic will be held at Jackson F. Kimball park at the head of Wood River, with the organization furnishing ice cream and coffee for the feast which will highlight the occasion. Although it is a sad fact that during the past year, death has taken heavy toll of our beloved pioneer and old-time residents of Wood River Valley, still those who remain are determined to carry on and make the gathering this year a success for members of the organization and their families. Plans are being made in anticipation of a large attendance. Officers of the group are: Emmett Sisemore, president; Stewart Nicholson, vice president; secretary, Mrs. Wade Crawford; treasurer, Mrs. William Zumbun. Those planning to come are asked to bring an item of food for the picnic, also personal table service and silver.

The dinner given in the C. I. Clubhouse, Saturday evening, Aug. 9, by members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the local Methodist Community Church, was a fine success. Co-chairmen were Mrs. Raymond S. Loosley and Mrs. Bess Gray, assisted by members of the church group as well as C. I. club members and women of the community in general, in addition to local business establishments, all helping by donations and work to add a substantial sum to the church improvement fund here. Piece de resistance was baked ham or roast beef, served in the traditional, well-known Fort Klamath style with all the delectable trimmings. Patrons served during the evening, included not only local people but several from nearby points as well as numerous tourists who had stopped off in Fort Klamath to spend the night before resuming their trips the next day. These latter were especially pleased with the vianda, pronouncing the dinner most delicious and the best they had enjoyed while traveling. This is a well-deserved tribute to the culinary ability of Fort Klamath women, as we have here some of the finest cooks to be found anywhere.

A wonderful month spent at the Dr. Ralph Stearns' cabin will come to an end, Sunday, August 17, for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. "Perky" Stearns, for Perky has orders to report to McCord Airbase, Tacoma, Monday. Dr. and Mrs. Stearns spent the weekend with the young couple at the cabin, but their daughter Frances didn't accompany them. Frances could not go to the lake as she had already accepted an invitation to visit Nancy Highland, former resident of Klamath Falls, at her home in Portland. Frances will be leaving here soon for Northwestern University, Chicago, where she will enter as a freshman.

After a six weeks' stay in bed as a result of a severe spinal injury, Mrs. Fred G. Brown, Crystal, is able to be up and around again at her home at the Brown ranch. Gay Stewart, Sacramento, visited here last week at the home of her aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Van Wormer and son Douglas, leaving on Friday for Klamath Falls, where she will stay with her sister, Mrs. Charles Smith, before returning to her home in California. Mr. and Mrs. Ord Pritchett returned here Sunday evening after attending the rodeo at Prineville, where they were guests during the stay at the home of old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kelly, at the Haycreek ranch. Going to Prineville Sunday, for the last day of the show were Mr. and Mrs. William Zumbun and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Pritchett and family. Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Miller Jr., and their three little sons, enjoyed a few days at the beach and visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patterson, Portland, returning home Monday, Aug. 1. During their absence, their infant daughter, Mary Anne, was left here in the care of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Loren L. Miller Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Ival Knox and children stopped here briefly on Thursday, to visit his mother, Mrs. Roy Wimer, while enroute to Sprague River, to see other relatives. Diane Bechtel and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eva Pritchett, left last week for Mitchell, Ore., called by news of the illness of Diane's mother, Mrs. Dick Young. During Diane's absence, Mrs. William C. Martin in pinch hitting in her position as waitress at the Old Fort Tavern and Cafe where Diane has worked for some time past. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Halford spent last weekend visiting her brother, John Conroy, at Shaniko, Ore., and also called on other relatives at Maupin and Tygh Valley while in the vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Al Lewis made a trip to Portland over the weekend

THIS WEEK'S REFLECTIONS By SALLY BARNHIS, L.
Klamath County's Skyline lakes beckoned hundreds of vacationing Klamath persons this month as the hurried city dwellers took advantage of the few weeks left before the rush to get back to school. Many families who want a little excitement, such as water skiing and speedboat riding, along with a restful atmosphere have been vacationing at Lake O' Woods. A few of the cabins there almost bursting at the seams with company include: The Bennets', on the West side of the lake, into which a steady stream of guests have been pouring this summer. Staying there this past week were the Bennets' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLaughlin of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bennett and daughter Betty spent the past weekend there and will go again today. Mrs. Martin Ramsby, society editor for the Herald and News, and her daughter Sue are spending their vacation at the Matthew Finigan cabin. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Linman really had their hands full when they took their son Joe and three of his friends to their cabin for a three day outing, August 8th through the 10th. The boys who young Joe had as his guests were Donald Brailer, Peter Barnhiel, and Harry Childers. A wonderful month spent at the Dr. Ralph Stearns' cabin will come to an end, Sunday, August 17, for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. "Perky" Stearns, for Perky has orders to report to McCord Airbase, Tacoma, Monday. Dr. and Mrs. Stearns spent the weekend with the young couple at the cabin, but their daughter Frances didn't accompany them. Frances could not go to the lake as she had already accepted an invitation to visit Nancy Highland, former resident of Klamath Falls, at her home in Portland. Frances will be leaving here soon for Northwestern University, Chicago, where she will enter as a freshman.

MR. AND MRS. CECIL KEENE—were married Friday, August 1, at the First Methodist Church, Reno. The Rev. Steven Thomas read the noon marriage service. Leon McDaniel and Sonya Lee Shupe, Seattle, were the couple's attendants. The newlyweds are home at 624 High Street after a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe. The new Mrs. Keene is the former Gertrude Thorpe.

Mrs. Bob Wampler Showered With Baby Gifts At Party

CHILOQUIN—Mrs. Bob Wampler was the recipient of many beautiful and practical gifts last Tuesday night, Aug. 5, at a baby shower given at the Ivan Doak ranch at Williamson river by Mrs. Robert Doak and Mrs. Bob Mathis. short puffed sleeves on the little flower girl's frock. The bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother both chose navy blue afternoon dresses with white accessories for the young couple's wedding. Their corsages were of white roses. The newlyweds were honored by two receptions. After the formal reception held immediately after the wedding ceremony in the basement of the Lutheran Church, the bride's parents had an informal get-together at their home, 5009 Allamont Drive. Those assisting at the formal reception included the following: pourers, Mrs. Helen Sherman and Shirley Book; and cake cutter, Dorothy Montgomery. A stylish gray suit with coral accessories that accented the coral and brown stripes in the jacket were chosen by the bride for her going away outfit. Following their honeymoon trip to California and Nevada the newlyweds will be at home, 3616 Summers Lane.
