SPANISH FISHING CATCH
MADRID (AP)—The Spanish fishing fleet caught an estimated 60,000 tons of fish in 1951, valued at approximately 60 million dollars, officials recently announced. There are more than 300,000 persons employed in this industry.

APPEAL FOR ADMISSION—Los Angeles Newsmen, upon learning that Prince Aly Khan had sneaked into Rita Hayworth's home through a back way while they were waiting in front of her Beverly Hills home, got down on their knees on her lawn and begged for the famous couple to let them in for an interview and pictures. Later Miss Hayworth sent a messenger out with a promise to let them in if they would leave soon—they did.

Hollywood's Fake Lashes Return In Rainbow Color

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Exclusive Yours: Put on the blinkers boys—false eyelashes are back in Hollywood, but this time in blinding, rainbow colors!

Movie dolls are fluttering red, blue, gold silver, diamond dust, violet and green eyelashes to match their lipstick, poodles, limousines and jewelry. And the word's around that the whacky vogue's going to be bigger than doe eyes.

Annie Baxter, wearing pasted-on purple lashes and a beauty mark of the same hue, explained to me: "It's glamorous for evening and makes women look like something out of a French ballet. Let's face it—make-up for women has been getting duller and duller."

Annie's answer to the "Will the men approve?" question: "I think so—as long as women don't wear chrysanthemum eyelashes at the breakfast table."

Hear about the tourists in Hollywood who asked for a tour of the cemeteries? They wanted to visit the stars they've been seeing in old movies on TV.

Columbia vows that "Affair in Trinidad" is being released as filmed, without a single concession to the censors. . . . Aldo Ray has a crush on Rita Hayworth and his pals are referring to him as Aly-dor Ray. His divorce will be final in November. . . . The Bob Nealey-Dailey merger (she's Dan Dailey's ex-wife) is near. Oooh, those grapevine's twisting with the report that Mario Lanza is in desperate financial trouble. He's been mis-managed, says the report, to the point where he's fighting to pay his rent.

During one of the recent earthquakes, a flock of diners at Bob Dalton's leaped from their tables and huddled together under a doorway, reputed to be the safest place during a tremor. All of which prompted Dalton to remark: "The next time I open a place in California, I'm going to build the entire restaurant under a doorway."

Gale ("My Little Margie") Storm has a fractured nose—the result of an accident on the set. Her medicals say that surgery will not be required.

Fan magazines and photo offices in Hollywood are being asked to shoot home layouts on Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell to offset the news stories about their brief sep-

U.S. General Wins Medal

WITH 2nd DIVISION, Korea (AP)—Brig. Gen. Thomas M. Watlington, commanding general of 2nd Division artillery, yesterday was presented one of the highest awards which can be given to a foreign officer by the Republic of Korea, the Chung-mu with Gold Star.

The accompanying citation commended the American general and the division's artillery for their support of the South Korean 9th Division earlier this year.

MESSAGE BRINGS ARREST
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—After the FBI searched several days without success for one suspect, they got discouraged and just left a note at his home. Briggs got the note, called the FBI, and was patiently waiting for the agents when they arrived.

At least one retired movie queen—Anne Shirley—is admitting she enjoyed seeing herself in an old movie on TV. The video release of "The Devil and Daniel Webster" left Anne beaming: "I loved it when I made it—and I still love it."

A return to grapefruit for Anne now the wife of writer Charles Lederer? "No thank you. I won't eat again until I'm starving. And even then I'll borrow from all my friends first."

At the sneak preview of "Hans Christian Andersen" Sam Goldwyn sat in the balcony to get an accurate reaction from the audience. He was enjoying what he thought was an anonymous appraisal of the reactions around him until shirt-sleeved workman seated next to him whispered: "Sam, you got a great movie there."

Clue, to the coolness between Lex Barker and Producer Sol Lesser is that Sol is searching for a female Tarzan to replace his tree-swinging hero.

MGM has given the no-home-lay-outs edict to fan magazines on glamor stars like Jane Powell, who play teen-aged roles on the screen. Too many babies around the house.

Twenty-Two Killed As Flash Floods Hit English Resorts

LYNMOUTH, England (AP)—The toll of known dead rose to 22 today with 42 others missing in flash floods that struck a 15-mile stretch of Southwest England's holiday coast Saturday and almost washed this picturesque resort town out to sea.

Police said it may be another week before the final toll is known. The coast was crowded with holiday-makers when the flood struck and it was feared some missing persons might not even be reported yet.

Meanwhile, Army engineers raced desperately against newly threatening skies to corral the surging Lyn River, using dynamite and bulldozers to get it back to its course. It was feared a further water pileup would spread the still widespread flood waters to a greater area.

Threatening gales and more rain were forecast for later today. First estimates put the property damage in the whole flooded area at over seven million pounds (almost 20 million dollars).

The catastrophe's full force fell on Lynmouth, a picture postcard little holiday resort which turned into a boulder-strewn shambles when cloudbursts Friday changed the placid little Lyn into a torrent boiling through the main street.

The flood damage here alone was estimated at more than two million pounds — over 5½ million dollars. Twenty houses and 20 hotels had disappeared. At least 40 other houses were damaged.

Police sealed off the town to prevent looting. More than 2,500 villagers and holiday-makers had been evacuated from the ghost village to inland ballrooms and halls hastily converted into refugee centers.

Five vacationists, including three Boy Scouts, were listed among the dead and nine vacationists among those missing and presumed dead.

Survivors from Lynmouth gave a graphic description of the terror that suddenly burst on them in the night.

Comedian Al Rale, appearing at the local music hall, told how the audience hurried out as the noise of the flood drowned a soprano's voice.

"I saw a chain of women walking hand in hand towards their hotel," Rale said. "Then the sidewalk disappeared, and the girl on the end of the chain was swept out to sea."

At one hotel, Phyllis Biggs, the manager, shepherded the scared guests through an upstairs window onto the roof. There, while the Lyn roared past beneath them and the hotel shuddered from boulders crashing against its walls, they huddled together and sang the hymn, "Oh God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Mrs. Ellen Jenkins, 36, was clambering inland when she saw a man, almost submerged by the flood, floating towards her. "I recognized him as my father and grabbed him by the shirt and managed to get him to dry land," she said.

"BALDY" SEZ: Sterling Way, Managing Director of the Hollywood Palladium, in a letter to me dated Aug. 15, 1952, has this to say about Ray Anthony and his band: "The public reaction to Ray this year is tremendous. In my opinion the band is considerably better than last year and the additional vocalists make his choir an exceptionally strong feature of the band. So far he has set two new post-war records; one for the highest weekly attendance and the other for the highest Saturday night attendance."
