

Justice Injured, Todd Quits As Rams Beat Washington

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This is the day the Washington Redskins start over. They lost another exhibition football game last night, but a couple of much more serious things happened to them.

They lost Charley (Choo-Choo) Justice, their offensive star, and their head coach, Dick Todd. Justice broke his wrist, and will be out from four to six weeks.

Officially, Todd quit to attend to his farming interests in Crowell, Tex. Unofficially, there was talk that he and the Redskins' owner, George Marshall, were at odds over the 35-6 beating from the San Francisco 49ers last Sunday.

Todd's announcement said he asked to be relieved before the world champion Los Angeles Rams hung a 45-23 licking on his team last night. The news came out moments after the final gun. Marshall said a successor will be picked today.

There were reports that the head man's job has been offered to aging Sammy Baugh, starting his 16th pro season. But Baugh told reporters he isn't interested.

Justice distinguished himself with one of the finest performances the Coliseum ever saw before he snapped his wrist. To the cheers of 87,582 fans he piled up 199 yards in 11 ball-carrying tries.

Most of the yardage came on runs of 49, 53 and 63 yards, all starting deep in his own territory. Each time he looked to be in the clear, but the Rams' fleet defensive half, Herb Rich, ran him down.

It was at the end of the 63-yard gallop, when Rich tossed him out of bounds, that his wrist snapped. Justice blamed himself.

"I tried to straight-arm Rich and I never should have done it. It was the first time I ever tried to do it in my whole football career."

The Rams Norman Van Brocklin tossed four touchdown passes, and set up a fifth score. Bob Waterfield set up the sixth tally with three passes, and booted a field goal and six conversions.

Aside from Justice's three long gallops, the game's biggest sensation was provided by a local boy, ex-Southern California halfback Johnny Williams, who dropped a Ram kickoff, retrieved it and scooted 100-yards for a score.

3 Northwesterners In National Semi-finals

SEATTLE (AP)—This great Pacific Northwest is not only playing host to its first men's National Amateur Golf championship, it was supplying three-fourths of the field in the semi-finals Friday.

Young Al Mengert of Spokane, just out of the Air Force; Jack Westland, a candidate for Congress from nearby Everett, and runner-up for the national title way back in 1931, and Bill Mawhinney, former Canadian champion from neighboring Vancouver, B. C., made up the cast from this fine green country.

The lone invader left in the running was Don Cherry, a nightclub singer from New York via Texas.

They were the four who escaped defeat in Thursday's double round at the Seattle Country Club.

The pairings found Mengert, a Walker Cup team alternate in 1951, assigned to play the Gotham Cherry Westland, at 47 the "granddaddy" of the field, met Mawhinney, 23, a bonding company employe on the side and current Pacific Northwest champion.

QUARTER The gentlemen from up here are well acquainted. All three made the semi-finals of the Pacific Northwest Amateur this year.

Before the northwest delegation moved into the semi-final picture, the scene was lively and geographically well represented.

One by one the outsiders fell by the wayside.

In the day's feature matches, morning round, Jimmy McJale, Mansaroneck, N.Y., disposed of the last former champion when he defeated Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, 3 and 2.

Cherry won from Bob Rosburg, Stanford, Calif., 4 and 3, and Gene Little of San Diego won from Jim Jackson, Kirkwood, Mo., one up.

Then came the afternoon skirmishes.

Cherry, coming from behind, upset Little in a battle, 3 and 2.

Mawhinney, two down on the first rise, rallied and sent 26-year-old McJale, twice a member of the Walker Cup team, to the sidelines, one up.

CLAWED And on occasion, when the Northwesterners couldn't find outside talent available, they clawed each other.

Mengert, for instance, defeated Paul Johanson, Seattle, 5 and 4, in the morning, and then whipped Walter McElroy of Vancouver, the 1951 Canadian champion, 3 and 2. The ex-sergeant was two under par for the day.

Westland cracked young Dick Yost of Portland, Ore., 3 and one. He spent the morning trimming ex-Yaleman, Bob Kuitiz from New York, 4 and 2.

Westland's defeat in the 1931 finals was to the famed Francis Ouimet at Chicago's Beverly Country Club.

1700 Marksmen Shoot For $1500 Top Prize

VANDALIA, O. (AP)—More than 1,700 of the world's outstanding marksmen battle it out Friday in trapshooting's most unpredictable event and for the game's most coveted championship—the Grand American Handicap.

Shooters from practically every state in the Union, Alaska, Canada, the Canal Zone, Cuba and Hawaii are in the fight for the $1,500 first prize.

Last year Mike Wayland, 18-year-old Washington, Kans., High School student, shooting in the first squad in a field of 1,582, fired a 90 which grabbed off the big prize.

A year ago the youngster fired from 21 yards. But this year he's back on the 23, from where he fired a 93 in Thursday's preliminary handicap dress rehearsal.

E. O. Beckey, 45-year-old plant engineer of Rock Falls, Ill., won a five-way shootout to take the preliminary and thereby probably wrecked all his chances to capture Friday's classic. Only one American Handicap.

Salem Advances

YAKIMAN, Wash. (AP)—Salem, Ore., handed Waipahu, Oahu, its third straight defeat Thursday and qualified for the sectional American Legion junior baseball championships at Hastings, Neb.

The Oregonians clipped the Hawaiians 5-2 in a replay of Wednesday night's protested Pacific Northwest regional championship game.

Salem won that one, too, 9-5, but the game was ordered replayed from the first out in the first inning after the Hawaiians protested an umpire's decision.

Twink Peterson was on first for Salem and Chet Schmidt was at bat as the game resumed Thursday. Wednesday night's protest came after the umpire allowed Peterson to advance to second after Mike Campbell was called out on interference.
