

Janet Russell Becomes Bride In Beautiful Summer Wedding

The First Methodist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Sunday, August 17, 2 p.m., when Janet Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Russell, 1108 Hanks, became the bride of Herbert G. Wing, son of Mrs. Harold Wing, Medford.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lloyd Holloway. Before the services were read solemnly, Mrs. Richard Allen (Joy Erickson) sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a heavy white slipper satin gown with a yoke of lace. The rich satin extended into a full length train. A small pleated nylon lace cap was attached to a fingertip veil of illusion net. Her only jewelry was a double strand of white pearls.

White glamelias tied with wide white satin ribbon formed the bridal bouquet.

The bridal party was led by the flower girl, Sharon Russell, the bride's little sister, who was dressed in a light blue taffeta and net floor length frock. Following her in the wedding procession were six bridesmaids attired in gowns of pastel colors. They came down the aisle in the following order: dressed in yellow was Nancy Russell, sister of the bride; in rose was Billie Carson; in light green was Carol Wood; in light aqua was Marilyn Masters; at the three latter attendants are cousins of the bride; in light blue was Phyllis Stauffer and in light bluish green was Mrs. Robert Wade.

Maid of honor was Corrine Wing, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a light orchid floor length gown of nylon net over taffeta.

The bride's attendants all carried bouquets of pink glamelias, except for the maid of honor whose bouquet was of yellow glamelias.

The bridegroom's best man was Robert Bosworth, a former resident of Klamath Falls now living in Medford. The six ushers were as follows: Robert Carson, bride's cousin; Randy Watson; Richard Van Duine; Don Lynch; Herb Robbins and David Bourquin.

The reception was held in the church parlor. In the receiving line with the newlyweds was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. S. Hotchkin, who wore a dress of deep rose with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink rose buds. Also receiving the guests was the bridegroom's mother, who wore a grey dress with pink accessories and a pink rose bud corsage.

Mary Beth Rice and Pat Taylor assisted at the punch bowl. Mrs. Marion Lehman cut the cake and Anne Pederson passed the guest book.

The new Mrs. Wing's going away outfit was a grey wool suit with grey and peach accessories.

The young couple will be home at the campus apartments at Southern Oregon College, Ashland, after a short honeymoon trip to Diamond Lake.

A BEAUTIFUL AUGUST BRIDE—is Duveen Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Parker, North Powder, who exchanged vows with John A. Schubert Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schubert, Sunday, August 10, 4 p.m., at the St. Stephens Episcopal Church, Baker, Ore.

King-Redkey Nuptials At Presbyterian Church

Orchid chrysanthemums, white gladioli and lighted white tapers in candelabra formed the background in the First Presbyterian church, Saturday evening, Aug. 16, for the marriage of Marjorie Ann King and Samuel R. Redkey.

The double ring ceremony was read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. David F. Barnett Jr., before about 100 relatives and friends of the young couple.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Elbert S. Veatch played incidental music at the organ and the traditional march as the wedding party came down the aisle.

Ruby Gehring sang "Because" before the vows were taken and "The Lord's Prayer" before the benediction.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon J. King of the Merrill Highway was escorted to the altar by her father.

Her street length, full-skirted frock was of white lace made with a round neckline. She wore a matching hat of starched lace with a tiny veil and carried a lavender orchid and stephanotis in a cascading arrangement on a white Bible.

Mrs. Glen L. Yaple, Klamath Falls, was matron of honor for her sister. Her frock of orchid lace was made with full skirt and light bodice. She carried an arrangement of pink gladioli, orchid pom-pom chrysanthemums and pink Elf rosebuds.

Mrs. Earl Mack Jr. (Barbara Dickson) Seattle, maid of honor and college roommate of the bride, wore an identical orchid frock and carried similar flowers. Both attendants wore small caps of matching blossoms.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Effie Redkey was attended by his brother, Bob Redkey as best man. Ushers were Jack Ballantyne and Keith L. King, Klamath Falls.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. King, chose a beige shantung suit with copper and brown accessories, and a shoulder arrangement of Carlioca rose buds.

Mrs. Redkey wore an ice blue ensemble with white hat and pink rosebuds at the shoulder.

A lawn reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony where the new Mr. and Mrs. Redkey cut the first slice of their three-tiered white and silver cake.

At the coffee services were Mrs. Clarence Hill and Ella Redkey, sisters of the bridegroom. Pat O'Connor was at the punch bowl, Judy Larson was in charge of the guest book and Sylvia Keady and Wilma Blackman assisted. The cake was served by Mrs. Yaple and Mrs. Mack.

Following a honeymoon spent in Seattle and other points north the young couple will be at home on Homedale Road.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Redkey attended Southern Oregon College, Ashland.

PARKER-SCHUBERT WEDDING CEREMONY HELD IN BAKER EPISCOPAL CHURCH

An event of August 3, was the wedding of Duveen Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Parker, North Powder, to John A. Schubert Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schubert, 2327 Bissbee. The rites were solemnized at 4 p.m. at the St. Stephens Episcopal Church in Baker, Ore.

On either side of the altar were tall baskets filled with white gladioli. In front of the flower arrangements stood the candelabra which held the burning white tapers. Before the ceremony soloist George Lee sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Coates, a cousin of the bridegroom, who played the organ.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a ballerina gown of white embroidered nylon with fichu neckline which came slightly off the shoulders. The full skirt fell in soft folds from a bodice which fit snugly at the waist. Dainty mitts that matched her dress ended at the elbow. A short veil was attached to the back of a small net and seed pearl halo which the bride wore on the back of her dark hair. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. The traditional something borrowed and something blue was the blue satin garter which the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Jack V. Taylor, wore at her wedding.

A colonial nosegay of pink roses and white stephanotis was carried by Duveen for her bridal bouquet. Matron of honor, Mrs. Jack V. Taylor, wore a light blue embroidered nylon dress which was ballerina length. A blue net bandeau covered her hair. The other two attendants, Mary O'Conner and Mary Joe Allison, wore bridesmaid dresses that were similar in style to the matron of honor's gown.

DOEGE-WAYBRANT WEDDING

In a beautiful afternoon ceremony, Saturday, August 16, 2 p.m., at the First Christian Church, Jack F. Waybrant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Waybrant, 126 Wall Street, took as his bride, lovely Helen June Doege, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Doege, 1928 Ward Street.

The Rev. George Alder officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Mary Hayden, organist, played the traditional wedding march and other appropriate selections.

Pink edged white gladioli and ferns banked the altar. The white candles in the arbors on either side of the altar were lighted by Dale Hankins and Robert Lohrey.

The bride's only attendant was her younger sister, Nola Jo, who served as maid of honor. Bill Waybrant, the bridegroom's brother served as best man.

Instead of the traditional white, Helen's delicate ballerina gown was a soft shade of baby blue. A lace jacket, with a Peter Pan collar and long sleeves pointed at the wrists, buttoned down the front with tiny blue buttons. The jacket was worn over a strapless lace bodice with a princess waistline from which a blue nylon tulle skirt hung in graceful folds. The fingertip illusion net veil was attached to a small halo of blue lace.

The fan-shaped spray of white stephanotis surrounding a large pure white orchid formed the bridal bouquet.

The maid of honor, Nola Jo, wore a deep pink nylon dress. The short puff sleeved jacket covered a strapless pleated bodice of lace. The ballerina length skirt was of a stiff nylon net over taffeta. Her halfmoon shaped bouquet was of pink edged white gladioli tied with wide green satin ribbon.

The bride's mother chose a deep plum lace dress, trimmed with narrow navy blue ribbon, for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were navy blue.

Mrs. Waybrant, who has been in Panama, was unable to attend her son's wedding because of poor boat connections. She called from San Francisco during the reception to wish the newlyweds the best of luck.

Those assisting at the reception held in the banquet room of the Winema Hotel were as follows: Dale Hankins and Beverly Kingman; cutting the cake Mrs. Ruth Wickerman and Mrs. Betty Ezell; passing the guest book, Mrs. Peggy Lohrey, the bridegroom's sister.

The bride wore a light orchid shantung suit with navy blue accessories when the young couple left for their honeymoon trip to Santa Cruz. When they return they will be home at 1435 Worden Street.
