REFLECTIONS FROM Milly's Mirror

THIS WEEKS REFLECTIONS
By SALLY BARNHISEL

August Days may be Dog Days but not in Klamath where we lead an informal and happy existence, devoting our fun and relaxed periods to friends at garden and other outdoor parties, leaving the more formal entertaining to be enjoyed by the summer brides and their wedding parties.

It may truthfully be said that among these none has received more attention than the popular Jean Hilton. Her wedding is attracting a number of out-of-town people including: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fox, Jean's aunt and uncle from Minneapolis, Minn; Mrs. Arthur Bertleson and her two children, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Bon Hilton, sister-in-law of the bride-to-be, from San Francisco; are the three girls who lived with Jean in the city. They are Nancy Kunhnhausen, Florence Hansen, and Doris Ethridge.

Two other popular brides, Joyce Werner and Helen Jackson, have also been honored at parties this past week. Both girls will be married early in September.

There was a gab-fest at Rosie Murray's when she recently entertained a group of school friends at an after dinner party held on the lawn of her home.

Fort Klamath Street Dance

Primarily beef cattle country, Fort Klamath has ofttimes been referred to as one of the last frontiers of the Old West, and in keeping with this characterization, Saturday evening, August 23, the C. Crater Lake highway 62, in the north end of town will be the dance floor, with flagmen stationed north and south of here to direct traffic to side road detours. Low enforcement officers from Klamath Falls will be on hand to maintain order during the dance, as Fort Klamath has no police protection of any kind. Those attending are promised an evening of genuine western hospitality and fun.
