

ROUGH WORK—Actor Glenn Ford is being emergency first aid by Dr. Paul Olson and nurse Isobel Richfield after being thrown against a tree while riding a horse at a dead gallop. The accident happened on the Universal lot while making a scene for a picture. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital with three broken ribs and painful lacerations.

Stevenson Continues Attack On Republican's Sen. Taft

By BELMAN MORIN
 SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson headed for the Eastern seaboard today, opening a five-state sweep in which he will try to drive home his contention that Sen. Robert A. Taft is the new boss of the Republican presidential campaign.

Stevenson claims that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has surrendered to Taft and that what the governor calls the Republican "Old Guard" is now giving orders to Eisenhower.

On his second big campaign drive covering Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Virginia and Maryland—Stevenson's time-table calls for plane travel to key cities along the route. Brief roadside talks are also scheduled in a number of cities through which he will pass when traveling by automobile.

The first major speech, tonight at Hartford, Conn., will deal with the implications of the atomic energy age.

Stevenson goes before the American Federation of Labor Convention in New York Sept. 22 to extend the views he has already stated on labor policies.

He apparently went over much of the subject matter for his forthcoming speeches with Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas yesterday. Fulbright has been a guest at the Executive Mansion since Tuesday night.

He praised the late senator's conference yesterday full of praise for Stevenson.

"He is an excellent candidate," Fulbright said. "I'm going to support him very strongly."

Fulbright indicated his conversations with the governor examined the possibilities of last week's Taft-Eisenhower meeting.

Fulbright said, "It's a very, very serious change in the adopted Taft's views."

He stressed foreign policy and said he thought his own ideas on foreign relations had once coincided closely with Eisenhower's.

"Taft's are as different from mine as any could be. I don't see how they can be reconciled with what I thought was Eisenhower's position."

The senator said Eisenhower must have changed his position "substantially" and told newsmen it worries him greatly.

He added: "Taft is now in position to be a dominant power in government for the next four years if Eisenhower is elected."

"He will have a lot to do with the appointment of Cabinet officers and others."

CIVIL RIGHTS
 Fulbright said he did not discuss civil rights legislation with Stevenson. But they did talk about proposals to change the Senate rules governing the length of debate.

The senator indicated that he expressed his ideas at some length and in some detail. He said it is unfortunate that the question of changing the rule "should be tangled up with all the emotionalism about filibusters."

Stevenson has said that, if elected, he would use his influence to induce the Senate to alter Rule 22 on cloture.

Correspondents asked Fulbright about the governor's reaction to the discussion on this point. The senator replied: "Well, I don't know whether it impressed him or persuaded him. But he listened closely."

Fulbright indicated that he talked over the question of misconduct and corruption in government also. He said he thought the point should be brought out more strongly in his campaign, that the Democrats took measures to clean up corruption.

SUPERFICIAL
 "The Republicans took a superficial look at the RFC in 1946," he said, "and did nothing."

Fulbright said he believes Stevenson will carry Arkansas and added "I don't want to make any prediction. I can only say he ought to carry all the Southern states."

After his speech in Hartford tonight, Stevenson goes to Springfield, Mass., tomorrow. From there he flies to New York, remaining overnight.

He plans to fly to Washington on Saturday and go by car to the Marine Corps Base at Quantico, Va., where his eldest son, Adlai, 22, is to be commissioned a 2nd lieutenant. Stevenson will present the commissions and deliver a non-political speech.

He then goes to Richmond, Va., for a speech Saturday night. He returns to New York Saturday night and has his next important appearance at the American Federation of Labor Convention in New York on Monday. The following night he speaks in Baltimore, Md., and on Wednesday flies back to his Springfield headquarters.

Stevenson's third big drive goes into Taft's home state, Ohio.
