

Nixon Fund Tabulated

PASADENA (AP) — Sen. Richard Nixon's controversial two-year expenditure fund was disclosed Saturday as totaling $18,235 contributed by 75 Southern California Republicans.

The list, released by Attorney Dana C. Smith, originator of the plan, included among the subscribers Herbert Hoover Jr., Pasadena engineer and son of the former President; John J. Garland, San Marino, Calif., real estate man and prominent U. S. Olympics official; J. B. Van Nuys, wealthy member of a pioneer family in Southern California's development; Bernard J. Brennan, Glendale lawyer and GOP chief in this section; and Earl Gilmore, Los Angeles oil man.

Hoover was listed as one of several $500 contributors.

One contributor, Keith Spalding, retired Pasadena business man, was listed for two $500 contributions, apparently the most given by any individual.

Smith said that the funds were used only to cover "supplementary expenses" of Senator Nixon from his election to the Senate in 1950 until his nomination for vice-president by the Republicans last July.

Smith also presented an itemization of the disbursement of the fund. It showed that $18,166.62 had been spent, with a bank balance of $68.81, and "unaudited difference" of $2.25.

MAJOR ITEM

The major item listed was $1,106.60 for stationery, printing, mimeographing and supplies.

Smith said that this was mostly for reports and other communications to Senator Nixon's constituents.

Other expenditures:

Travel and hotel expenses, $1,000 and his aide, $3,430.78.

Radio and TV expenses, $2,017.79.

Addressograph plates, $1,281.07.

Telephone, telegraph and messenger services, $1,185.

Postage above allowance, $1,109.24.

Extra office help, $920.55.

Advertising and publicity, $764.65.

Meals paid by office force for visitors, $663.53.

Expenses of meetings, $387.30.

Miscellaneous, $204.06. (There was no breakdown of this item.)

Smith who has signed all the checks for the fund, said in response to a reporter's question that he could recall only one major expense directly connected with Nixon's campaign against Communism.

That was $190 for photostats of certain documents, Smith said.

The attorney added, however, that there might have been other expenses of this nature which he could not recall.

Smith made his announcement at a press conference in his San Marino real estate office. He said that Nixon, through aides on his campaign train, had asked for a complete public report.

Spud Market Service Slated

A two-week potato market reporting service goes on trial starting Monday in the Klamath Basin and will be reported by The Herald and News, KFLW and KPJI.

Roland Groder, market reporting specialist, has been in Klamath Falls several days helping to lay the ground work for the service, which is to be carried on with the cooperation of the County Agent's Office here, the Oregon Extension Service and the Federal Market News Reporting Service.

There will be no lists put in the mail for this as is being done for the weekly livestock auction. Instead all information is to be disseminated by the local press and radio.

This service is being put on under a temporary basis, but could be made a permanent service should potato growers in this area ask for it through their organizations. The livestock report is being put on for a nine-month trial period.

Walter Jendziewski, county agent who will compile the data, has stressed that this will be an effort to gain today's market news today. It is to show today's terminal markets in San Francisco, Chicago, Idaho Falls and possibly Portland, as well as data gathered locally.

KFLW's market news is broadcast daily at 11:55 p.m., standard time. KPJI will broadcast on daylight time until Sept. 28. Farm and Market News program is from 12:45 to 12:50 p.m.

Attorney Generals' Rulings Confuse Skywatch Operation

OLYMPIA (AP) — Confusion surrounding two attorneys general opinions has resulted in a 30 percent drop in activities of civilian volunteers who watch for enemy aircraft in Oregon and Washington, the commanding officer of the sky-watching detail in the two states reported Thursday.

Lt. Col. Phillip M. Hasmmussen said many of the civilian volunteers had misinterpreted the opinion to mean the Air Force was taking over their activities and would man the observation posts with uniformed personnel.

"This is not the case," another Air Force officer chimed in. "We want to emphasize to the volunteer civilian observer that we are depending on them to man their posts as they have done so well in the past in the interest of national security."

Col. Hasmmussen said the civilian volunteers are needed more now than ever before because of Russia's increased air power.

"On July 14 Russia had the capacity to put 400 bombers in the air," Col. Hasmmussen said. "Since then Russia's air potential has been increased by three months production."

The confusion and the resulting drop off in civilian volunteers started after the attorneys general of Washington and Oregon said state funds could not be spent on ground observer activities because it was controlled by the United States Air Force.

Prior to the opinions the state Civil Defense Department recruited civilian volunteer sky watchers and the Air Force trained them and directed operational control over the ground observer posts and the air defense filter centers at Seattle, Spokane and Portland.

When the opinions came out, the state Civil Defense Department turned the recruiting and administrative activities over to the Air Force and stepped out of the picture except for moral support.

Former Ikeman Turns Colors

PORTLAND (AP) — Charles Maxey, former vice chairman for the 11 Western States Regional Council of the National Young Republicans, said Saturday he was going to work for the election of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President.

Maxey, a leading Portland Negro and a former member of the executive board of the Oregon Young Republicans, said the disclosure that Sen. Nixon of California, Republican vice presidential candidate, had accepted a $16,000 expense fund, was the immediate cause of his switching allegiance.

But Maxey, former vice chairman of the Multnomah County Young Republicans, said he also believed that Gen. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate for President, had been ill advised on national affairs and civil rights.

Maxey, former membership and legislative chairman for the Portland chapter of the National Association of Colored People, said he would remain a registered Republican but would work and vote for Stevenson.

Earlier Steve Anderson, Salem attorney and national Young Republican vice president, announced his support of Stevenson.

Lanza Sued For $5 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mario Lanza was sued for $5,195,888 damages yesterday by his studio, MGM, which charges the singer broke his contract by failing to show up for work in the movie, "Student Prince."

The suit climaxed months of disagreement between the singer and his movie bosses. MGM, which has had Lanza under contract since 1947, has suspended the former Philadelphia piano mover several times.

MGM's suit said the movie had to be cancelled after Lanza refused to report for work last Aug. 22. The studio said it spent nearly $700,000 in pre-production preparations for the picture.

Lanza has never publicly given his version. He declined comment on the suit.

It asks $495,888 special damages and 4 1/2 million general damages for loss of prospective profits. It also seeks a permanent injunction enjoining Lanza from working for anyone else.

Combat Pay Forms Here

The Postoffice in Klamath Falls now has on hand the official forms for Korean War Veterans who are eligible to file for combat pay.

The Postoffice will send a number of these forms to Ted Case, Veterans Service Officer, and to the recruiting offices of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

According to the form, service in Korea or adjacent waters does not in itself qualify a veteran for the combat pay.

To be qualified a veteran must have served with a combat unit and been actually under hostile fire for not less than six days. Having been wounded in action also qualifies a veteran for the extra money.

The form also says that a person may not receive for the same month both combat pay and incentive or special pay such as that given for flying, submarines, demolition, parachute, etc.

For complete information call the veterans service officer in Klamath Falls.

IWA Approves Health Plan

PORTLAND (AP) — The CIO International Woodworkers of America voted Friday to continue the union's controversial health and welfare program despite its operation in the red.

Officers said the union operated program ran behind when paid out benefits exceeded income and a $300,000 shortage developed. A loan was obtained to continue the program, and officers said operating changes would have put the plan back on its feet if all locals had remained with it instead of cancelling out and attempting to get other coverage.

The program, financed through a wage and deduction plan, is handled through a well-known insurance firm.

Its financing was a major point of dispute in contract negotiations abandoned the program early after accepting a 9 1/2 cent hourly pay boost.

Union officers said the program would be solvent under new operating regulations.

Before closing a week-long convention Friday, the union endorsed the Democratic ticket in the congressional election and designated Vancouver, B. C., as the site of next year's convention.

Rancher Wants Range Program

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A Nevada rancher, told an area meeting of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts here Friday that all federal agencies should work together for a unified range management program.

"The public range land has been going down and down for the past 50 years," said Harvey Hale of Elko County. "All the people, not only ranchers, have a stake in public domain. Some of us cowmen and sheepmen are beginning to realize we must get the federal agencies all working together to improve public range and produce more forage, not only for us but for wildlife, too."

He said the carrying capacity of the range should be doubled or tripled.
