ARRESTED—Newspaper executive William Gregory Dreyer, 33, Pocatello, Idaho, hides his face following his arrest in Reno, Nev., by the FBI on charges of robbing a Blackfoot, Idaho, bank of $8,300 Sept. 15. The FBI said Dreyer, known in Pocatello as William Karkov, admitted the theft, blaming it on gambling. He was gambling at Lake Tahoe when apprehended.

Anita Weber Malin Princess
Anita Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weber of Malin, Saturday night was elected Malin representative in the Klamath Basin Potato Festival queen contest. The Queen's Ball, at which time the festival royalty will be named, is slated for Saturday, Oct. 4, in Merrill.

War Brides Visit Home
SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—Half a hundred English girls who married American soldiers landed from the liner Queen Elizabeth Tuesday—with 60 children—for a visit to their homeland.

Nixon Tour Said Success
By RUTH KING
Mrs. Marshall Cornett, National Republican Committeewoman from Oregon, returning here today from Portland, said "That no one who heard Senator Richard Nixon, Republican vice-presidential candidate, speak on his campaign swing through Oregon, could possibly doubt the Senator's honesty, integrity and forthrightness in the present controversy over the disclosure of the nominee's $18,000 political expense fund."

AFL Seamen Win Raise
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific Monday announced ratification of a new wage agreement with Pacific Coast steam lumber schooner operators.

Chamoun Named Lebanon Prexy
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Parliament overwhelmingly elected former foreign minister Camille Chamoun President of Lebanon Tuesday. He succeeds veteran independent fighter Bechara El Houry, who resigned last week.

Nixon-Type Funds Muled
WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General James P. McGranery was reported Tuesday to have ordered a study of the whole question of the legality of supplemental funds received by public officials.

INDO-CHINA AIRPORT
KIENAN, Indo-China (AP)—A new airfield is being built in North-eastern Indo-China, not far from the port of Haiphong, through which comes much of the U.S. war aid for the French forces. The end of the year should see it completed. It will be the first airfield in Indo-China capable of handling any jet-propelled aircraft. Already, broad runways stretching nearly 1 1/2 miles have been finished—and hundreds of Vietnamese coolies are hard at work to finish the job.

Studios Fight for Rights To Cannery Queen's Story

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Behind the screen: The studios are scrambling for the rights to Tillie Lewis' life story. She's the ex-Brooklyn grocery clerk who parlayed a pear-shaped Italian tomato into a $30-million-per-year canning industry in the San Joaquin Valley. The yarn is titled, "Tillie of the Valley."

There's an eye-brow-lifting introduction for movie queens when they see Bette Davis in her new flicker, "The Star." It reads: "This is the story of the last six days in the life of a movie star and the first few hours of her existence as a woman."

Jack Palance, who plays Joan Crawford's murderous husband in "Sudden Fear," has his eyes on a different kind of lethal role—"The Jack Dempsey Story."

Raoul Ortega, handsome Venezuelan oil baron, is making Evelyn Keyes' life exciting in London.

Plans are steaming for Glenn Ford to co-star with Jennifer Jones in Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Down Catalina way as reported by Alan Wilson: "First fisherman: 'Catch anything?'"

Second fisherman: "Yes. But how do you fry a channel swimmer?"

The completed script of "The Empty Room," the story of the strange disappearance 22 years ago of Justice Crater, is making the studio rounds. Clark Gable is authorizing Irene Wright's No. 1 choice for the role.

Terry Moore, free of her Columbia Contract, is turning down all long-term studio offers. She won her role with Fredric March in Fox's "The Man On a Tightrope" on the strength of her emoting in Hal Wallis' "Come Back, Little Sheba." Watch this lass go zoom.

Arch Oboler's next film will be "Spear in the Sand," the story of a man marooned on a Pacific island.

Kay Francis is primping for a film comeback. She's been doing TV and radio in New York.

Milly Vitale, the European beauty who co-stars with Kirk Douglas in Stanley Kramer's "The Jugger," is having Hollywood dates, but her mama goes along.

Debra Paget, who didn't like it when Gene Tierney was announced as the star of Fox's "Evangeline," first slated for Debra, likes it even less now. Marjona Pavaan, Pier Angel's twin sister, is being rumored for the role Debra wants so much.

Bobby Van, MGM's new dancing star, and Diane Garrett, are turning about a printed report that there are parental objections, on Bobby's side, to what looks like a trip to the stars. Diane has the full approval of Bobby's family.

Short, short story: Veronica Lake stepped out of her limousine at the spotlighted movie premiere, tripped and fell flat on her face.

The handsome Air Force lieutenant who was her escort for the evening as a publicity stunt for the movie, "I Wanted Wings," just stood there and laughed—and there was the dickens to pay at headquarters next day.

That was years ago but an Air Force colonel remembered the incident when Airman First Class William H. Walleck of the Norton Air Base was voted "The Most Typical Bachelor in the U.S. Air Force." Leaving the base to escort gorgeous Coleen Gray to the Lake Arrowhead premiere of "Just for You," Walleck was stopped by the colonel, who said:

"Now remember—if the lady falls down, don't just stand there and laugh. Help her to her feet pronto."

"Yes, sir," snapped Airman First Class Walleck.

But not until he reads this will Airman Walleck know that the colonel was the lieutenant of years ago who just stood there and laughed when Veronica Lake fell flat on her face.

Mary Astor's ex-hubby, Manuel Del Campo, is now working as a film editor at Warner Bros. Rosemary DeCamp is writing a national magazine article on the problems of a Hollywood actress with four small daughters.
