Room Left In Craft Classes

Leaders of Klamath's youth groups and other interested persons may still enroll in the Arts and Crafts Institute slated for the YMCA Oct. 6-9 and Oct. 13-16, but the total class enrollment is limited.

Until the limits are reached, registrations are being accepted at the Chamber of Commerce and at the YMCA.

Frank Staples, one of the nation's best known authorities on arts and crafts, is to handle this institute as he did earlier this year. In the earlier sessions it was almost unanimous among those participating that Staples return and hold another session here, but as yet enrollments have not filled up as quickly as was at first indicated.

A special nursery is to be maintained at the YMCA during the morning session—complete in itself—so that parents of small children may bring them along.

HST Attacks Eisenhower In Whistlestop Speeches

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN—President Truman today bitterly denounced Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's charges of corruption in government by calling him a "traitor" for an unholy crew of lobbyists using that issue as "a political football."

Truman tore loose with one of his most scathing attacks on the Republican presidential nominee in a "whistle stop" speech at Fargo, N. D., where he told a throng of job-hunters that he would be returning to the White House to power if they "want to avoid a third world war."

Eisenhower, he said, "seems to be listening to some strange advice so far as foreign policy is concerned."

The President tackled the issue of corruption in his administration on his first formal whistle stop speech of his 8,500-mile, 19-day coast to coast tour. He said he had been "getting sick at wrongdoers" over the "opposition of Republicans in Congress."

Truman made an earlier rear platform appearance at Breckenridge, Minn., where he spoke of the-cuff.

Other "whistle stop" talks were down for Grand Forks, LaRimore, Lakota, Devils Lake, Minn., Berthold, Stanley, Toga, Williston in North Dakota and Wolfe Point, Mont.

It was a gloves-off attack Truman turned on his former chief-of-staff at Fargo.

He said of the Eisenhower who once quoted Truman as saying Truman would support him for anything he might want, including the presidency, that the general has allowed the propaganda of the special interests, "hook, line and sinker."

"He may not know it," Truman said of Eisenhower, "but he has become a front man for the lobbyists."

"They are sending him around the country with advance agents to put up bill boards and balloons and pass out the confetti. They have plenty of money to put into these things. The Wall Street bankers are just pouring it out."

EMOTION

Truman said Eisenhower admits he's trying to win the election by "appealing to the people's emotions, not to their intellects."

"That's why you won't find anything in most of his speeches except slogans, generalities and scare words," the President said.

"I think it's insulting to the American people to tell them they make up their minds according to their emotions, and not on the basis of the great issues that are before them."

Truman called Eisenhower a candidate "who has spent all his life in the Army and doesn't know much about what has been going on in the United States."

"The last time you had a Republican administration your farm mortgages were being foreclosed so fast you couldn't count them."

"Are you covered by social security or railroad retirement?" he asked. "Are you counting on that to help you in your old age? Then

Group Mulls Water Rights

YAKIMA—Some lively discussions loomed here Monday on the question of Canadian rights to water stored for American hydro-electric and irrigation projects.

Ralph Baker, president of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, said questions on Canada's share in the stored water will be aired at the group's 28th general conference Monday and Tuesday.

Baker, a Canadian, said his country wants to know to what extent it may share in the benefits of such an American operation. He also questioned whether Canada should permit water to be stored for projects which not only produce power but irrigation for American lands, when those lands would compete with Canadian crops on the world market.

"It comes down to this, so far as many Canadians are concerned," Baker said, "What is the water worth and whose water is it?"

"Our people in the Okanogan Valley are asking why Canadian water should be stored to facilitate the irrigation of American lands to the south when those lands will compete."
