Local News Note:
Harry Truman, a former clothing merchant and Democratic political leader of Kansas City, Mo., now residing at 1600 Pennsylvania street, Washington, D.C., passed through our city this a.m. on the inbound. He was greeted at the depot by friends with whom he swapped political gossip. As far as he could tell from his remarks, he doesn't seem to think much of any Republican except Senator Morse.

Slab-in-the-back political note:
Britain's sartorial bible, the Bond Street trade journal Tailor and Cutter, tried America's two men of the hour for a fitting this morning and raised a glad cry of "Stevenson-for-President."
Its editor says:
"Governor Stevenson is so much better dressed than Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that it hurts. He is our boy."
Adlai Stevenson supports his elegant speech with an elegant sartorial background, and his appearance, far from being that of a Middle Western Democrat, smacks more of the British FOREIGN OFFICE.
"Eisenhower, on the other hand, is a homespun type who looks like a kind of military Will Rogers. He is not exactly tweedy, but to ward the more casual will suggest a fundamental sympathy with agricultural problems.

What's cooking, sir?
We didn't campaign over here for your Winnie? How come you're campaigning for our Ike?
This changing world note:
The home town of Christopher Columbus has finally decided to celebrate the discovery of America EVERY October 12 from now on. Until now Columbus Day in America has been ignored by Genoa, Italy—the town where Columbus was born. Last night the Genoa city council decided that hereafter the day will be annually observed with a celebration.

Why this change of heart?
Well, back in 1492 Columbus headed his three little ships into the setting sun and discovered America. For four and half centuries later, American ships are plowing the seas back to Italy, carrying food and clothing and money and technical know-how in a sincere effort to REBUILD Italy after the ravages of two wars and take it a better place for Italians to live and raise their families.
It could be gratitude on Genoa's part.
There is such a thing as gratitude in the world, you know.

With Columbus Day only a week off, here is a thought about Columbus:
He was practically the only man in the world in his day who BELIEVED the world is round. His men—along with nearly everybody else in his time—thought it was flat. They had been superstitiously taught that somewhere out to the west the flat world came to an end and over this edge-of-the-table cliff the waters of the Atlantic poured into a boiling cauldron at the bottom of which lay the inferno.

But they conquered their fears and WENT ALONG WITH COLUMBUS.
Men DO have courage.
And FAITH.
And willingness to stake their lives on the ability and the integrity of a leader whom they TRUST.
It is this combination of bold and able leaders and men who are willing to stake their lives on their belief in such leaders that brings about GREAT THINGS in this world.
That is a good thing to remember in these critical days when LEADERSHIP WE CAN TRUST is our greatest need.

One other thought:
These masses of the people in Columbus' day were TERRIBLY HANDICAPPED by the fact that they knew so many things that WEREN'T SO. We are becoming similarly handicapped. We too know so many things that AIN'T SO.
We need a modern Columbus to lead us out of this fog of untruth.

DISTRIBUTION PLAN OK'D
MANILA (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino has approved a one million dollar loan to finance a land distribution program on Mindanao—second largest and least developed major island of the Philippines.

PREACHER ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Preacher Roe, veteran Brooklyn southpaw, limited the New York Yankees to six hits, including homers by Yogi Berra and pinch-hitter Johnny Mize, as the Dodgers won the third game of the World Series, 5-3, Friday and took a 2-1 lead in the series.
The crafty Roe, working hard and slowly, stopped the Yankee righthanded hitters cold on this chilly afternoon, but the lefties did enough damage to keep the score close until the ninth inning, when he passed ball by Berra allowed Brooklyn's last two runs to score.
The Dodgers collected 10 hits off Lopat, another slow-balling southpaw, and finally drove him to cover in the ninth.
Tom Gorman, a righthander, finished for the Yanks and gave up Brooklyn's 11th and final hit. Although they couldn't get their hits in effective clusters, the Dodgers pushed over a run in the third inning and another in the fifth to take a 2-1 lead.
Brooklyn made it 3-1 in the eighth just before Berra smashed his third home run in World Series competition.
Then, in the ninth, with Pee Wee Reese on third and Jackie Robinson on second, Berra let one of Gorman's pitches get away from him—and the two Dodger runners scooted home.
In the bottom of the ninth, Mize, hitting for Gorman, belted a home run into the right field stands. It was his first in series competition.
A huge crowd of 66,698, contributing to net receipts, after taxes of $311,774.97, watched the game in weather that was more suitable for football than baseball.

First Inning Dodgers
Furillo thrown out at first. Reese popped out. Campanella hit a liner to Bauer in short right. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.
First Inning Yankees
Rizuto walked. Collins struck out. Mantle fouled to Campanella. Woodling bounced out. Reese to Hodges. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.
Second Inning Dodgers
Mantle raced in to spear Pakko's low liner. Snider singled. Hodges

Hunters Face Tough Problem

Deer hunters are apparently going to have more trouble finding a place to hunt tomorrow than they are finding deer.
An Associated Press dispatch from Salem today said hunters could hunt only in these regions:
1. All of Eastern Oregon, although permits must be obtained to hunt in some forest areas. (This no doubt has to do with campfire permits for national forests.)
2. Western Oregon unforested lands.
3. Possibly Jackson, Josephine and Southern Douglas County if weather conditions permit.
All the rest of the state is barred to hunters because of forest closures.
In this area, special laws bar any hunting in Crater Lake National Park, on the OTI campus and Municipal Airport land.
State Police Sgt. Earl Tichenor made an appeal today for hunters to be extremely cautious about fire as the forests are tinder dry and in a highly combustible condition. Tichenor also pointed out that because of the Western Oregon closure, there would no doubt be an unusually large number of hunters in the woods and he warned hunters to be certain of their targets before shooting.
In Salem, a state forestry staff member referring to the restrictions on this season's hunting said: "If I were a deer hunter, I would not know what to do."
Understandably, he asked that his name not be used.

Reds Demand Kennon Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Russia demanded the immediate recall of American ambassador George F. Kennon.
The demand was made in a note terming him "persona non-grata"—personally unacceptable—because of recent "slandering attacks" which Moscow said Kennon had made against the Soviet Union.
Secretary of State Acheson announced that Kennon, now in Geneva, Switzerland, will return to Washington for consultation.
He said no consideration has been given to any replacement for Kennon at Moscow.
Acheson, after consulting with President Truman, read a statement at an unusual news conference denouncing the Soviet action.

Registration Deadline

Registration for voting in the Nov. 4 general election closes at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.
At that deadline, the County Clerk's office will close its doors, and no registrations will be accepted until after the Nov. 4 voting. The office will be open all Saturday afternoon.

Death Claims Ruth Addison

Mrs. Ruth Stevenson Addison, 73, pioneer Klamath Basin resident who resided in Eugene for the past 33 years, died in a Eugene hospital this morning. She had been in failing health for some time.
Mrs. Addison was a native Oregonian, born in the Oregon City area May 17, 1879. She came to Klamath County in 1904 and taught school at Pine Grove and Spring Lake. She was one of the founders of the Mt. Laki church.
In 1919, Mrs. Addison left Klamath to make her home in Eugene.
Survivors include: son, A. D. (Deb) Addison, Klamath Falls; daughter, Mrs. Helen Everett, Arcata, Calif.; two brothers, George Stevenson, Olene, and D. M. Stevenson, Portland; sister, Mrs. C. D. Houston, Phoenix, Ariz.; two granddaughters, Mary Margaret Addison, Klamath Falls, and Elizabeth Everett, Arcata.

McKay Urges Repudiation

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Douglas McKay asked Gov. Stevenson Friday to "repudiate President Truman's ridiculous statement that Dwight D. Eisenhower is controlled by a power lobby."
In a telegram to the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. McKay also said he is "sure that you will want to disassociate yourself from this false and ridiculous charge, which reflects equally on you under the circumstances."
Gov. McKay, a Republican, has been active in the Eisenhower campaign since long before the general consented to run.
In releasing the telegram to reporters, Gov. McKay commented: "President Truman is silly when he says the Republican won't build power dams. He forgets that the Republicans built Boulder Dam before the Democrats got into office."
"And Truman also forgets that when President Roosevelt announced the government would build Bonneville Dam, he said 'I'll have to give Charlie McNary his dam.'"
"All the Republicans out here were working for Bonneville Dam."
The late Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon was Republican leader in the U. S. Senate during the early days of the Roosevelt administration.

English Test Atom Bomb

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Britain exploded her first atomic weapon successfully today at the deserted Monte Bello Islands off Northwest Australia. A London newspaper said it gives Prime Minister Churchill the "trump" he needs to re-open exchange of atom secrets with the United States.
The "setting sun" flash and boiling atomic cloud, seen 65 and more miles away on the mainland, heralded Britain's "coming of age" as the third world power to possess a deadly atomic weapon. It was the world's 37th recorded atomic explosion.
The United States has exploded 33 atomic weapons—two of them in World War II over Japan and the rest in tests—and so far as is known there have been three atomic explosions in Russia.
Dispatches received here at the state capital of Western Australia said the British weapon went off at 8 a.m. today (7 p.m., Thursday, EST). Deepest secrecy shrouded the nature of the weapon.
Reporters who saw the blast from a 3,000-foot lookout on the mainland, 65 miles from the center of the restricted test area, said the initial orange-red flash was far less intense than had been expected.

Margaret Wins Crowd

Margaret Truman is an attractive young woman.
She is much prettier than the camera records. Her delicate blonde coloring is lost by the lens.
She has a vivacious smile, and she flashed it repeatedly for the cheering crowd that greeted her appearance at the call of her famous father, the President, to the rear platform of the special train.
Like any other daughter traveling across country she was wearing a straight, medium gray flannel skirt, topped with a soft wool sweater in deeper hue. Her medium-heeled red leather pumps were worn with neutral nylons and her only jewels were a gold wrist watch, pearl earrings and a medallion pinned to her sweater.
Her briefly appearance gave 8-year-old Peggy Jo Buck, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buck, time to climb aboard and present her with an arm bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums from the Democrats of Klamath County.

Ike Clarifies McCarthy Issue

By DON WHITEHEAD
Aboard the Eisenhower special train—A home town crowd roared its approval Friday as Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy appeared on the platform with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and introduced to them the GOP presidential nominee.
The appearance at Appleton came just after Eisenhower threw his support behind McCarthy for reelection despite the differences he said exist between them.
The GOP presidential nominee publicly gave his backing to the controversial Wisconsin senator—seeking a second term in the Senate—by saying it was necessary to elect a Republican team and Congress.
"We've got to have a strong party in January," Eisenhower told a cheering crowd at Green Bay on the first stop in his drive through McCarthy's home state.
"I am the people of Wisconsin to elect the entire slate of those we have nominated on our party ticket."
McCarthy was introduced a short time before Eisenhower stepped out on the platform, but McCarthy stepped back into the car before Eisenhower appeared and they did not stand shoulder to shoulder.
Photographers called for McCarthy to step out and pose with Eisenhower but he did not.
Eisenhower told the crowd it would be a "miracle" if there weren't differences between them and other Republicans.
Then, referring to McCarthy he said:
"The differences between me and Senator McCarthy are well known to others but what is more important, they are well known to him and to me and we have discussed them."
"I want to make one thing very clear. The purpose that he and I have of riding this government of incompetents, the dishonest and above all the subversive and disloyal are one and the same."

THE THRILL OF A LIFETIME came this morning to this little girl, Peggy Jo Buck, aged 8, when she was able to get aboard the rear platform of President Truman's special train and present a bouquet to Margaret Truman, the President's daughter. While Margaret took over the spotlight, her father stepped back and looked away. Peggy Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buck of Klamath Falls, and daddy is head man of the local Democratic organization.

EISENHOWER BUTTONS were numerous in the crowd that greeted President Truman this morning. Here, (left) Mrs. Francis Davis and a neighbor, Mrs. George Barthman of the South Suburban district show their preference for the Republican candidate.
