Demure Anne Baxter Now Puffing Cigars

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD — What's happened to our Anne Baxter?

Long considered one of the most able and more conservative of the younger actresses, she started busting loose on her last picture. She played Cleopatra in one sequence and wore a rhinestone in her hair. That did it. "They're short and thin, like a cigarette," she told me. "But they're the same makings as the cigars men smoke."

She credits Alfred Hitchcock, her director on "I Confess," with introducing her to cigars. "We were on location in Quebec," she said. "After dinner, Hitch took out a cigar. It smelled heavenly, light and fragrant. Not the foul, heavy kind of smoke that clings to men's clothes. I tried it and was delighted. So Hitch sent to Cuba for the short, thin cigars, which are more suitable for women. I've been smoking them with coffee after dinner, and they're wonderful."

Film Mogul Wants Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Film producer Samuel P. Spiegel has sued his wife Lynne for divorce on charges of adultery and extreme cruelty. The complaint, filed yesterday, contends there is no community property and asks that Mrs. Spiegel be enjoined from filing any lawsuit as a result of their marriage.

ITU Firing Sustained

NEW YORK — A court-appointed arbitrator has upheld an employer who fired a union printer on the grounds he neglected duty by participating in pro-Communist propaganda during a vacation in Europe. The arbitrator, Theodore W. Kheel, ruled Tuesday in a dispute involving the Publishers Printing Co., and linotype operator Arthur Deutsch, a member of the AFL New York Typographical Union. Kheel found that Deutsch toured Europe early this year, visited Moscow with a group of trade Unionists, and upon his return repeated anti-American propaganda of the Communists in speeches before labor groups. Deutsch harmed the company that employed him by his alleged activities, Kheel said as he quoted a document tending to show the firm might lose its eligibility to handle federal government printing. The union argued that Deutsch was thousands of miles away from the United States and on his vacation and, therefore, could not be found neglectful of duty. He was fired last April 23, the day he reported back to work.

movies." And she actually plans to do something about it. Screen writer Helen Deutsch has offered her home as the locale for some Sunday brunches aimed at producing stimulating conversation. P. S. Chattering note for pipe smokers: Anne has tried pipes, too, but gave them up. Too messy.

Now it's Glenn Ford who will play the matador in Budd Boetticher's "The Number One," to be made in Spain next spring. Happy note for newspaper headline writers: The headlines on all newspaper inserts in producer Alex Gottlieb's murder mystery, "The Blue Gardenia," will be written by Los Angeles newsmen. For once they'll read like headlines. Prediction: Shirley Booth should cop this year's best-actress Oscar for "Come Back, Little Sheba."

Producer Obtains Rights To Mutiny Scene

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Behind the Screen: The unheard-of procedure that gives stage producer Paul Gregory the right to present the court-martial scene from "The Caine Mutiny" as a footlights offering has producer Stanley Kramer at the boiling point. Kramer tied up the movie rights and protected himself against stage competition by stipulating that conventional stage rights couldn't be sold until after the run of the film. But canny Gregory asked for only the "recital" rights to a few chapters of the novel and, according to literary agent Harold Matson, he's legally entitled to present the court-martial scene. Author Herman Wouk himself will adapt the chapters to the stage.

Assignment of Ruth Hampton to the second lead with Ronald Reagan in U-I's "Law and Order" should delight Miss Italy, who sounded off about the unfairness of the New Universe contest and said the Miss New Jersey should have won. Ruth is Miss New Jersey. Remember the case of the teenage baby-sitter in Boston who found $60,000 while taking care of a prominent doctor's kiddies and scooted to New York with two other girls for a big spree? Well, it's practically the plot of Sidney Harmon's forthcoming independent movie, titled—appropriately—"Baby Sitter."

What's Clark Gable got that Chili (the voice of Francis, the mule) hasn't got? Chili not only makes love to Ella Raines in the forthcoming "Golden Tide," but wins her in the final reel. David Niven is the only cast member signed, sealed and ready to be delivered for the movie translation of "The Moon is Blue." Production has been delayed until January to give playwright F. Hugh Herbert, who suffered a heart at-lacher's "The Number One," to be made in Spain next spring. Happy note for newspaper headline writers: The headlines on all newspaper inserts in producer Alex Gottlieb's murder mystery, "The Blue Gardenia," will be written by Los Angeles newsmen. For once they'll read like headlines. Prediction: Shirley Booth should cop this year's best-actress Oscar for "Come Back, Little Sheba."

Princess Ghika, once Errol Flynn's beloved, and lately the recipient of a small fortune from Aly Khan, according to the international grapevine, is trying to find entry for herself and her mother into the U.S. to open a dress designing business.

As any movie starlet knows, a day's timing, a Jane is only as good as her weakest link.
