Collapse Fatal At Trainside

A former Klamath Falls man, Charles A. Young, 60, suffered a heart attack at the Eugene railroad station last night just as Gen. Eisenhower was being announced for his re-ear platform task.

He managed to move toward the edge of the crowd and collapsed. A daughter said the crowd was so dense that an ambulance couldn't get to her father for several minutes. He died a short time later.

Young recently has resided at Springfield where he operated a grocery store. He was employed at the Big Lakes box factory here from 1941 to 1949.

Survivors include the widow, Ruth Young, at Springfield; and four daughters, Mrs. K. O. Bunn, Sweet Home; Mrs. Robert Loveless, Grants Pass; Mrs. T. H. Busby, Springfield; and Mrs. L. G. Murphy, Klamath Falls. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Bartholomew-Buell Chapel, Springfield.
