

It Happened This Way in New Pine Creek

By IRVIN FARIS

Imagine the surprise! A lad whose name was not learned (sorry) was asleep in the back of the car while his parents were out hunting deer. He felt something hot licking his forehead and was awakened there beside the road in Pine Creek Canyon.

His eyes opened hysterically wide when he found himself face to face and very close up to the deer standing there wide-eyed and curious beside the car. She had a red cap atop her elegant head with her prominent ears protruding upwards through holes cut in either side of her red adornment, tied by red strings neatly about her throat.

It was Bambi—but the lad knew nothing of Bambi—thus the bewilderment. Art Leckert's pet doe had strayed a little way from home that day investigating just what was going on in the canyon.

New Pine Creek firemen held a party last Friday evening and those present reported having just a good time. They regretted that more people had not shown up for the committee had gone to considerable trouble to make the party a big success.

Mrs. Bess Rushton, Clarence McClain, Ed Madison and Frank Ross furnished the music for dancing and cake and ice cream was served for refreshments.

The Grange benefit dance was quite well attended on Saturday night and although all the bills have not been taken care of at this time the net proceeds is expected to be around $50. Many persons simply do not attend social events very much right at this time of year because on weekends.

Summer Lake

By MRS. E. R. NELSON

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carlson are the happy parents of a baby girl born at Lakeview hospital Oct. 3. Name and weight has not yet been learned.

The school film shown at Ana River school, Oct. 2, was quite well attended. "Call Me Mister" was the picture shown. Next film Oct. 9, will be "Two Flags West" starring Joseph Cotton, Linda Darnell and Jeff Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Penington and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harris, Clarence and Garry Nelson attended the dance in Fort Rock Oct. 4.

Next Guild meeting will be held at the church Oct. 10, when the members will spend the day cleaning the church and yard.

Mrs. Hugo and mother, were visitors of this correspondent Saturday. Mrs. Barnes and myself were old time neighbors when the Barnes family resided here a number of years ago.

The Dunn trucks hauled the S. D. Harris cattle from summer range at Lapine to the ranch this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Harris and small daughter, Bend, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Deane Harris.

Among business visitors in Lakeview Tuesday were: Mrs. Carl Ankeny, her mother Mrs. Ralph Foster and Mrs. Foster's cousin who is visiting here from Tacoma.

Young Hollywood Starlet Repairs Own Automobile

HOLLYWOOD—Curious hobbies or habits are no novelty in Hollywood, but here's a gal with one so genuine that it sounds like a gimmick but isn't.

Starlet Kathleen Crowley repairs automobiles. The starlet's unique talent came to light when her car stalled on the 20th Century-Fox lot. She tinkered with the engine. This brought laughs of "grease monkey" from nearby males. Marilyn Monroe strolled by and suggested that Kathleen call the maintenance department.

Kathleen did, but before the repair man arrived, she had the motor running. She drove off as the scuffling males stood by in open-mouthed amazement.

The starlet, whose other accomplishments include being Miss New Jersey in the 1948 Miss America contest, explained how she became acquainted with motors.

"I grew up in Green Bank, N.J., a community of about 200 people," she said. "The nearest town was Egg Harbor, 30 miles away. That's where I went to school, and that's where the nearest stores and garage were. If you had trouble with your car in Green Bank, you had a long way to get help. So I learned about motors."

"When I started work as a private secretary, my ambition was to have my own car. I saved my salary and lived on what I could make on weekends by picking berries. When I finally got my car, I learned all I could about how to take care of the car."

But Kathleen, a brown-haired Irish beauty, wasn't destined for a life of typing, berry-picking and cleaning out car engines. She was picked for the annual Miss America contest. While she was a scholar, she was also a car enthusiast.

FORT KLAMATH

By MYRTLE WIMER

Guests for two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zumbrun at their ranch one mile south of here are their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Porterville.

James Leggett arrived home Monday from Fairbanks, Alaska, for a visit with his wife and two sons, James Jr. and Ronnie. The former is home on 30-day furlough from the Navy. He was stationed at Adak Island in the Aleutians.

On expiration of his leave, he will go to Subic Bay in the Philippines for further duty. He enlisted for a four year hitch two years ago.

September 28, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Loosley, attended a reunion of members of her family in Medford at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mrs. and Mrs. Burrell Redpath. Present for the all-day gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Turner Armstrong, Citrus Heights, Calif.; Mrs. Bert Holliday, Prineville; the two women being sisters of Mrs. Loosley, a brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Roberts and son Neal, Medford; and daughter, Mrs. Rowena Meyers, both of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Loosley received word from their son, A-3C Wilfred Loosley, U.S. Army telling them of his transfer from March Field, Calif., to the air base at Shepherd Field, Texas. Wilfred spent a week here recently with his parents, flying up from March Field in a plane piloted by S. Sgt. Ray McArthur.

While writing of the Loosley family, a correction is in order in regard to a recent news note stating that the late daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Nunnally, former local residents, and has grown up considerably since leaving here several years ago.

Prof. and Mrs. Paul Bonifas and their little daughter Marianne have returned to Seattle after spending three weeks of their vacation at their summer home at the Wilson cottages at the entrance to Crater Lake Park. They have spent the last six summers here. He is professor of ceramics at the University of Washington. Their vacation time here this season was curtailed due to the fact Prof. Bonifas spent the early part of his holidays as ceramics instructor at Logan College, Logan, Utah.

Mr. Eldon M. Bratton, Sept. 29, returned duties as postmaster after enjoying a week's vacation which he spent at his home south of Fort Klamath, at the Bratton ranch. In charge of the local post office for the week was Mrs. Willa A. Page, clerk.

Mr. J. Olenburg, was called home to Everett, Wash., Monday by news of the illness of his wife, reportedly diagnosed as polio. Olenburg is building construction foreman for the West Coast Telephone company, and had been here for the past two weeks, engaged in building a structure which when completed will house the local telephone equipment of the telephone company. Work on the building is going ahead, Clarence Craig of the telephone company of Everett having arrived last week to assist Olenburg with the carpenter job, and the project is to be completed in a few days time.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wimer returned last Friday from a business trip of several days to Portland, when they were guests of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gentry.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hacker arrived here Tuesday from their home in Sacramento, on a combined business and pleasure trip. Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McQuiston entertained in their honor with a dinner party at their ranch home on Williams River, when the following enjoyed a fried chicken dinner, with cards providing the diversion after the repast. Mr. and Mrs. Hacker are former residents of many years, and returned here late this spring after having sold their ranch west of here to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gentry.

of here to Mr. and Mrs. James V. Owens, Red Bluff, Hackler's poor health was the reason for the move to Sacramento, where they bought a beautiful home.

Early on Tuesday morning, Sept. 30, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Loosley received news by wire telling them of the arrival of a new grandson, Stewart Lawrence Byus, born Monday, Sept. 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Byus, Eunice, N. M. The infant weighed 7 pounds 4 ounces at birth, and is the son of the young couple.

Members of the little family group being two charming little misses. The name Stewart was bestowed on the babe in honor of his proud maternal grandfather, Raymond Stewart Loosley, who is a real pioneer of the Wood River area.

Stewart's parents, Raymond and Mrs. Lawrence Byus, are professors of chemistry and mathematics of the Eunice high school faculty, and his wife is the former well-known Ethelva Loosley.

Following a summer of hectic activity, the Lyric Club, a beautiful Indian summer, with its floating cobwebs, lazy, sunlit days, crisp frosty nights, and cool early mornings. A mellow haze covers the Wood River Valley, and the encircling timbered mountains are shrouded in mist.

Scattered about which with the fragrant smell of wood smoke in the air is the result of the annual burning of brush piles on ranches in the valley. Leaves on deciduous trees are gradually turning from green to the livid gold and russet of their autumn coloring, with the stately evergreens forming a lovely contrasting background.

Days are getting noticeably shorter, the sun now rising over the mountains at 6:30 a.m., and setting down behind the western mountains at 5:30 p.m., followed by the lovely twilight of the fall season with nights illuminated by a harvest moon.

The tourist season almost over, Fort Klamath has entered a different phase of bee-hive activity—the fall shipment of the thousands of prime grass fed livestock to market and winter range. Whiteface Hereford steers are going out fast, as cattle trucks roll through by day and night, coming in empty to replace those sent out, and will be kept on grassland meadows here until snow falls, when their owners will move the stock to California for pasture until spring.

Kevin Lane, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hescok, died Oct. 1. The little one was at age 21½, and weighed only three pounds 11½ ounces at birth. In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur B. Hescok, Fort Klamath, Kevin Lane is survived by three sisters and four brothers, all of Fort Klamath, including Kevin's grandmother, Mrs. Frances Brandenburgh, Merrill, who is here caring for the family; a paternal grandfather, W. B. Hescok, Walla, Wash.
