

"MATCHLESS MAMIE" AND "TENACIOUS OLIVE" — Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, as she appeared on the Eisenhower train after midnight Wednesday with Mrs. Marshall Cornett—whose unwavering tenacity was the main reason for the Eisenhowers' gracious and informal platform "visit" during the brief Klamath Falls stop. Of course, "Mamie" on the left is the wife of the Republican Presidential candidate; and Olive Cornett is the GOP National Committeewoman from Oregon. —Photo by Kettler

ATTRIBUTES FAIL TO DESCRIBE MAMIE EISENHOWER

By Millie Ramsey
The warmth of Ike and Mamie Eisenhower's visit is still comfortably with those Klamathites fortunate enough to share it shortly past midnight Wednesday morning during the brief stop of the Eisenhower Train.

A couple of naturals—their perfect teamwork and showmanship is superb in its simplicity.
Mamie is all they say about her and then some. Ike stands for everything expected of a real general and embodies all qualities essential to a GOOD president. These two will grace the White House as it has never been graced before.
It is impossible to reconcile their known ages with the youthful buoyancy and spontaneous charm which radiates from them, leaving an afterglow.
Thousands of superlatives have been printed describing them and more is merely repetitious. But after seeing and hearing them one is certain that stripped of all worldly goods—Mamie and Ike would still be richly endowed with each other.

"We've got 'em and this November we should vote to keep 'em!" —For they are truly symbolic of our great nation's heritage.
