

TIME OUT!

"The defensive guys play good ball, and then we lose 77 to 70 because the offense bogs down!"

Big Ones On Grid Schedule

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The national collegiate football program, well-studded with "crucial" games, should answer at least two questions today.

Army, beaten only once in three games meets Pittsburgh's Panthers, surprise conquerors of Notre Dame, at West Point in a game that should answer the question whether the Cadets have returned to football's top flight.

Navy, unbeaten in three games, clashes with all-conquering Maryland (4-0). The question here is whether the Midshipmen are strong enough to extend their longest winning streak in seven years.

Both games will be played before packed stadiums with some 27,000 in Michie Stadium at the Point and 42,000 jamming Byrd Stadium at College Park, Md.

After their three-point win over Notre Dame, the Panthers are rated a slight favorite to turn back the Cadets, who thumped Dartmouth a week ago to jump back into the gridiron limelight.

Maryland, ranked No. 2 nationally and unbeaten in the last 19 games, is a solid choice over the Middies but stranger things have happened.

In addition to the Navy-Maryland affair, three other major pairings involved undefeated teams.

The Big Seven Conference has a showdown with defending champion Oklahoma (2-0-1) tussling with the No. 1 contender, Kansas (4-0), at Lawrence, Kan. The Sooners are given the edge despite the fine work displayed in the Kansas backfield by Phil Reich, former Army ace.

The first pivotal battle for the Pacific Coast Conference title and the Rose Bowl assignment brings together Stanford's T-gearred Indians (4-0) and the single-winged Uclans of UCLA, also with a 4-0 record.

Nebraska (4-0) brings its spotless record east to do battle at State College, Pa., against the unbeaten but once-tied Nittany Lions of Penn State.

Syracuse, another unbeaten Eastern 11 in college competition, travels to East Lansing, Mich., with hopes of snapping the 18-game winning streak of Michigan State, the nation's top ranking team.

From a television viewpoint the game of the week is Cornell-Yale at New Haven. It will be televised nationally. The NCAA also has granted permission for local telecasts of the Navy-Maryland and Oklahoma-Kansas games.

Outside of Navy-Maryland the South's top seven teams are to be the featured battle between Alabama and Tennessee, Georgia Tech, favorite to take the South eastern Conference title, meets weak Auburn and Duke, apparent powerhouse of the Southern Conference, plays North Carolina State, Virginia, ranking Southern independent, shouldn't be troubled by VMI.

Purdue, the Big 10 leader with a 2-0-1 record, heads into trouble with Notre Dame (1-1-1). Ohio State takes on winner, but threatening Washington State in an inter-sectional contest at Columbus.

Don Dexter kept the Wildcats out of more trouble with his sparkling run while Mike Chase, Tom Lighthill and Gerald Del Fatti were defensive standouts for the losers.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Washington State's three-defeated Cougars hoped to make Ohio State's up-and-coming Bucks their first victims Saturday as they clashed in an inter-sectional grid game before some 73,000 fans.

The invaders, pre-season choices to dominate the West Coast picture, have dropped decisions to Stanford, Southern Cal and Baylor, but have had a two-week period in which to correct offensive and defensive faults and are ready to shoot the works against the Ohioans.

Figure-fiberists have the Bucks tagged as two-touchdown favorites.

WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE Victoria 4 New Westminster 3 Vancouver 3 Tacoma 3 Calgary 4 Seattle 1

Frank Secory, new umpire in the National League, works for an oil company during the winter.

We collect . . . or tell you why. Find out more about our service by giving us a try.

Carter's Collection Agency Ph. 6121 411 Main

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

Baker, Franklin Tumble

By JIM COUR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Dallas downer, previously unbeaten, untied Baker, 12-0, in a major upset of Oregon high school football play Friday night.

The victory put The Dalles ahead, on Baker, ranked No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll, in the race for the District 7 championship in Class 1.

Another of the top 10 teams in the poll to fall was Franklin of Portland, ranked No. 6. The Quakers were crushed by Jim Dougherty, The Pelicans now can clinch the District 6 title by defeating Grants Pass, last year's state champion but far off form this year.

Hillsboro, rated No. 5, took undisputed lead in District 4 with a convincing 35-12 win over Oregon City, its closest rival.

Bend clinched a tie for the District 8 title by edging Lebanon, 26-25.

Albany, which had been tied with Bend, lost a non-district game to Eugene, ranked No. 8 in the poll, 27-19. Corvallis won a non-district game from Springfield, 18-7.

Marshfield, rated No. 1 in the state since the start of the poll, romped to a 39-0 victory over Redport, a Class 2 team. The Pirates' high-scoring halfback, Tom Crabtree, recorded three more touchdowns. A teammate, Stan Lewis, raced 79 yards for the longest touchdown run.

Marshall's only threat in District 5 appears to be Eugene.

Central Catholic of Portland, the No. 2 team and favorite for the District 3 title, overcame Parkrose, 42-7. Its chief rival, Gresham, was played to a 12-12 tie by Salem in a non-district game.

Prineville, ranked No. 7, continued unbeaten and untied by crushing Lakeview, 48-6, in a Class 2, District 4 game.

Also in Class 2, University of Eugene clinched a sub-district championship in district 5 by routing Willamette of Eugene, 40-0.

St. Helens moved a step closer to sub-district title in District 1. It defeated Clatskanie, 12-0. Rainier stayed in the race by outscoring Scappoose, 34-13.

The other District 1 sub-district title will be decided Saturday afternoon when Lake Oswego meets Columbia Prep of Portland.

Williamina, leader in District 3, crushed Banks, 40-14, in a non-district contest.

Silverton continued undefeated, untied and ahead in the District 2 race by beating Molalla, 19-12. But Mt. Angel stayed on its heels with a 19-7 win over Woodburn.

Mustangs Whip 'Cats

By EDDIE BIGBY
The Klamath Wildcats' three-game win again was snipped by a 19-0 score.

The Malin forward wall made the difference as it opened holes for the fast Mustang backs to scamper through. Pat Madden scored first for Malin when he scooted around end five yards after a 57-yard drive.

Klamath lost the ball on downs as the result of a bad pass from center and Malin marches 22 yards for its second score. Glen Steyskal crossed the goal and Clark Unruh passed to Red Lyon for the extra point.

Lyon paved the way for Malin's last score when he intercepted a Wildcat pass. Madden scored on an end run from the three-yard line.

Don Dexter kept the Wildcats out of more trouble with his sparkling run while Mike Chase, Tom Lighthill and Gerald Del Fatti were defensive standouts for the losers.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Washington State's three-defeated Cougars hoped to make Ohio State's up-and-coming Bucks their first victims Saturday as they clashed in an inter-sectional grid game before some 73,000 fans.

The invaders, pre-season choices to dominate the West Coast picture, have dropped decisions to Stanford, Southern Cal and Baylor, but have had a two-week period in which to correct offensive and defensive faults and are ready to shoot the works against the Ohioans.

Figure-fiberists have the Bucks tagged as two-touchdown favorites.

WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE Victoria 4 New Westminster 3 Vancouver 3 Tacoma 3 Calgary 4 Seattle 1

Frank Secory, new umpire in the National League, works for an oil company during the winter.

We collect . . . or tell you why. Find out more about our service by giving us a try.

Carter's Collection Agency Ph. 6121 411 Main

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

SEEIN' THINGS — This isn't a two-headed football player. It's just a contrast in size between two University of Dayton, O., stars. In front is Dick Miyata, 230-pound Hawaiian guard. Peeping over his shoulder is Bobby (Ramblin') Recker, an extraordinary 153-pound scabbard from Toledo.

JUDO JACK TERRY will get another chance to put an ex-heavyweight boxing champion asleep Wednesday night at the Armory. Here Referee Jack Dempsey is the victim; Terry will oil up his sleeper hold when he joins five other wrestlers here in a battle royal starring Primo Carnera, also a former heavy-weight ring king, now successfully touring the mat circuit.

Carnera Mat Foes Signed

Matchmaker Mack Lillard yesterday signed battle royal opponent to join huge Primo Carnera next Wednesday night at the Armory in a show that carries a sell-out tag.

That is, Lillard chose all but one. He chose his friend, Hardy Kruskamp, a 220-pound grappling veteran.

He demanded that one of the six wrestlers be a heavyweight. He chose his friend, Hardy Kruskamp, a 220-pound grappling veteran.

IF THEY WIN
In the event, Carnera and Kruskamp will battle royal—the last two wrestlers to survive the test—they would reappear against the fourth and fifth eliminated performers.

The other five wrestlers will be Jack Terry, Tony Ross, Tur Yamato, Jack Kiser and Buck Davidson.

Here's how the battle royal will work:
The seven enter the ring at the same time.

ELIMINATED
The first to go will be through for the evening.

The next to come back in the opener, the fourth and fifth in the semi-windup and the last two in the main event.

Ponderous Primo—6-8 and 285 pounds—is expected to jam the Armory. Advance ticket sales at Castleberry Drugs already shows brisk action.

Nags Get Test In Laurel

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — A long range effect on International horse racing probably will come out of today's Washington D.C. International race as well as just the immediate winner among four foreign and three United States thoroughbreds.

The $50,000 Laurel race is being watched as an experiment by horse experts on both sides of the Atlantic. They all admit it's not a case of the best American thoroughbreds racing the best European, but the ingredients for such future events are present.

The most important aspect to breeders and owners is whether horses can be taken across the ocean and quickly be ready for a good showing. This test is being made in the Laurel race.

FOREIGN HORSES
Zuccheri, owned by George Rolls, and Wilwyn, owned by R. C. Boucher, were flown from England just last Tuesday. The other two foreign entries, Max Bell's Indian Hemp representing Canada and Baron H. Thyssen's Niederlander from Germany, have been over here only a few weeks.

Meeting the invaders at their own game, on the infield turf at a mile and a half with a walk-up start—usual European conditions, are Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship, Hasty House Farm's Ruhe and Mrs. H. L. Straus' Pilaster.

FIRST TIME
This is the first time several horses from different countries have met. In 1923, the Epsom Derby was won by a German, the lucky Derby winner Zev met in a match race in New York. The American won easily.

A majority of American experts figure that the American entries will run one-two-three in the Laurel race. Greek Ship, the most successful turf runner of the year in America, is rated the choice with Pilaster second.

Zuccheri is given the best chance of upsetting the American applicant.

Weights Favor Tom Fool

NEW YORK (AP) — Greentree Stable's Tom Fool, champion 2-year-old of 1951, gets another chance today to show whether he can carry his speed more than a mile when he meets 12 top flight handicap horses in the mile and one-eighth of the $50,000 added Grey Lag at Jamaica.

The son of Menoh has won four of his 10 starts this season. Three were at a mile and the other was a six-furlong sprint. When the distances were more than a mile, such as last week's Rosmer Handicap and the Travers in August, the Greentree colt wound up second or third.

The weights, however, favor Tom Fool this time. He'll pick up 119 pounds, seven less than when he was beaten two lengths by the Alphen Stable's Quiet Step in the Roamer, Quiet Step will carry 112.

Top weight of the field and probable choice is the King Ranch's 4-year-old To Market, winner of the Hawthorne Gold Cup two weeks ago in the good mile and one-quarter time of 2:01 2/5. He'll pack 123—the same weight he carried in the Gold Cup.

New York — Danny Bucceroni, 187 1/2, Philadelphia, outpointed Dave Davey, 211, Tacoma, Wash., 10.

New Orleans — Charley Joseph, 155 1/2, New Orleans, stopped Leonard Caesar, 144 1/2, New Orleans, 5.

Copenhagen, Denmark — Jimmy King, 149 1/2, Buffalo, N. Y., outpointed Christian Christensen, 152 1/2, Denmark, 10.

Yogi's Boy

YOGI'S BOY—Yogi Berra's two-and-a-half-year-old son, Lawrence, Jr., helped his famous father collect his catching equipment and belongings at Yankee Stadium. The catcher had every reason to smile. A nice boy and his fifth winning Series check.

Cal 22-Point Grid Favorite

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — California's Bears, the nation's top rushing team, unleash their crushing football power on winless, outmanned, little Santa Clara here Saturday. California is a 22-point favorite to rack up its fifth successive win.

FOR FIRE PROTECTION CALL 4706

CITY ICE & SUPPLY CO. 660 SPRING ST. KLAMATH FALLS

OFFICE SPACE

For rent in Stuart-Drew building. Inquire at Drew's Manstore, 733 Main.

WINTER!

With PRESTONE anti-freeze YOU'RE SET... YOU'RE SAFE... YOU'RE SURE!

WE HAVE IT! ASHLEY CHEVROLET

410 So. 6th Ph. 4113

Bucceroni Offered Layne Go

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Hard-hitting Danny Bucceroni was offered a Garden bout with Rex Layne Saturday following his narrow squeak over husky Dave Davey.

The lanky Philadelphia heavy-weight, making his first start after a five-month layoff, beat the 22-year-old Puyallup, Wash., lad on the strength of a nine-count knockdown in the second round of their ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena Friday night.

Bucceroni acted like he had beaten a contender instead of a rookie.

"Sure I'll take Layne," he said after Matchmaker Billy Brown offered him a December bout with the Rocky Mountain contender.

"I'd like to get Rocky Marciano or anybody else.

CLOSE
"I never thought the fight was as close as the officials had it," Bucceroni added.

"I was sure I was way ahead and just coasted at the end of the fight. That kid is a great prospect. He's a good defensive fighter and very smart."

The 187 1/2 pound, 6-2 Bucceroni, a 2 to 1 choice over his 211 pound foe, floored his husky rival for nine with a right to the jaw in the second and piled up a huge lead.

He missed often, however, as he kept shooting for a knockout, and the farmer boy from Washington's Puyallup Valley pulled up close with his jabs and short combinations.

ROUNDS EVEN
Both judges, Arthur Aidala and Jack O'Sullivan scored the fight even in rounds, 4-4-2, but gave the nod to Bucceroni on points. Aidala's points were 7-5 while O'Sullivan had it 6-4. Referee Al Berie had Bucceroni the winner on rounds, 5-4-1. The AP scorecard agreed with the referee's.

Under New York rules, a knockdown counts heavily and that was the difference.

It was Bucceroni's 38th win against three defeats. The loss snapped a four-year, 16-fight win streak for the 6-2 1/2 Davey. His record now is 22-2.

It was Davey's debut on a national television fight show and he was downcast over his defeat.

The crowd of 2,428 paid $5.389.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York — Danny Bucceroni, 187 1/2, Philadelphia, outpointed Dave Davey, 211, Tacoma, Wash., 10.

New Orleans — Charley Joseph, 155 1/2, New Orleans, stopped Leonard Caesar, 144 1/2, New Orleans, 5.

Copenhagen, Denmark — Jimmy King, 149 1/2, Buffalo, N. Y., outpointed Christian Christensen, 152 1/2, Denmark, 10.

AIR ARM—Tom Yewick (left) calls signals and passes for Michigan State. Quarterback Tony Rados (center) throws a long ball for Pennsylvania State. Chuck Spaulding, Wyoming tailback, harries the defense with short, sharp pitches.

AIR ARM—Tom Yewick (left) calls signals and passes for Michigan State. Quarterback Tony Rados (center) throws a long ball for Pennsylvania State. Chuck Spaulding, Wyoming tailback, harries the defense with short, sharp pitches.

AIR ARM—Tom Yewick (left) calls signals and passes for Michigan State. Quarterback Tony Rados (center) throws a long ball for Pennsylvania State. Chuck Spaulding, Wyoming tailback, harries the defense with short, sharp pitches.

Brethauer Oregon's Unsung Hero

By JACK HEWINS
SEATTLE (AP) — Speed and weight are generally considered basic requirements for football players, but when you add up all the equipment, the kid with heart and desire is the one who makes your first team.

Which brings us around to Monte Brethauer.

Oregon's senior left end is a football replica of Joe Clodt, the skinny, bespectacled wingman who gave Washington three years of honest effort and got hardly a nickel's worth of recognition outside the squad.

Brethauer is 6 feet 11 inch tall but carries hardly enough meat to cover his bones, weighing in at 168.

During the UCLA game in 112-degree weather he shrank to 155 pounds. Like Clodt, he plays both offense and defense and turned in 56 minutes of action against UCLA.

Although not fast he makes up for his apparent lack of physical ability by using his head and being letter perfect in his assignments.

An assistant coach slouched off the practice field one evening grumbling "we had a lousy workout—Monte made two mistakes."

Seems like the guys of Monte's make up are doomed to go unnoticed no matter how well they work. Last week Brethauer was in pass receptions with 18 and hardly got a mention. An Oregon wingman of a few seasons back, Dick Wilkins, was big, fast and flashy and got a lot of well-deserved publicity. Monte has beaten his Oregon record.

There is some serious stuff, too, for younger coaches who would like to know how Steve does it. There are pages of diagrams, but nobody can force you to look at them. Mainly it is the story of a worthy, interesting life, of a heavyset kid who was born in a log cabin in the outback country, first came to New York in a cowboy outfit in 1926.

It is not possible in limited space to give any impression of the wealth of amusing incidents recounted by Owen from his long career. Somewhere along the line, Steve has run into them all—players, coaches and other assorted characters—and he has a little special memory of each of them. To choose one at random, there is the great Jim Thorpe, and we will let Owen tell it:

"Old Jim played wingback at right half, and I played left tackle.

Prior to the Saturday game against Washington Monte has caught 78 in his college career and needed to boost his average only a shade to overtake McColl. His 13 for this season left him 29 back of Barker.

Brethauer showed up at Oregon with no advance notice and couldn't work his way into the frosh lineup until the final game. Since then he's been a general handyman around the Webfoot grid camp, catching passes, kicking off, sharing in the punting and playing either end or halfback on defense.

And in the locker room he's a volunteer assistant trainer, taping other players and ministering to their bumps and bruises.

Good ends are plentiful around the conference this season and Babe Curfman has one at Idaho he wouldn't swap for anybody. That's Ray Lewis, a senior who faked a freshman quarterback at Utah State into tossing a wild lateral and then fell up the ball to open the way for Idaho's winning score.

As the defensive platoon left the field and the offense came on, Lewis stopped to talk with Quarterback Wayne Anderson, who then stuck his head in the huddle and said:

"Did you hear old Banjo Eyes Lewis? Now let's do some blocking and get the job done."

This is what Mr. Lewis said to

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Owen's Football Book Gets 'Smash Hit' Tag

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP) — Large Steve Owen, the old Oklahoma boy who coaches the New York Giants, has authored a book called "My Kind of Football," and it comes very close to being the most consistently entertaining piece of sports literature ever turned out by a story teller and his official grammarian, in this case Joe King.

We happen to belong to a school which seriously feels that sports books, like comics, have become somewhat too numerous in recent years. It would take up all a man's time to review them. But this one is good, worth spending money for.

Owen has been in football practically forever, the past 27 years as coach of the Giants. He is recognized as a master of the profession, in a light little group composed of him and Paul Hunsinger of Cleveland. He is a big man and a big eater who always has enjoyed life, and for every football anecdote you might have heard, Steve knows a dozen. Most of them are in his book.

SEMIOS
There is some serious stuff, too, for younger coaches who would like to know how Steve does it. There are pages of diagrams, but nobody can force you to look at them. Mainly it is the story of a worthy, interesting life, of a heavyset kid who was born in a log cabin in the outback country, first came to New York in a cowboy outfit in 1926.

It is not possible in limited space to give any impression of the wealth of amusing incidents recounted by Owen from his long career. Somewhere along the line, Steve has run into them all—players, coaches and other assorted characters—and he has a little special memory of each of them. To choose one at random, there is the great Jim Thorpe, and we will let Owen tell it:

"Old Jim played wingback at right half, and I played left tackle.

Prior to the Saturday game against Washington Monte has caught 78 in his college career and needed to boost his average only a shade to overtake McColl. His 13 for this season left him 29 back of Barker.

Brethauer showed up at Oregon with no advance notice and couldn't work his way into the frosh lineup until the final game. Since then he's been a general handyman around the Webfoot grid camp, catching passes, kicking off, sharing in the punting and playing either end or halfback on defense.

And in the locker room he's a volunteer assistant trainer, taping other players and ministering to their bumps and bruises.

Good ends are plentiful around the conference this season and Babe Curfman has one at Idaho he wouldn't swap for anybody. That's Ray Lewis, a senior who faked a freshman quarterback at Utah State into tossing a wild lateral and then fell up the ball to open the way for Idaho's winning score.

As the defensive platoon left the field and the offense came on, Lewis stopped to talk with Quarterback Wayne Anderson, who then stuck his head in the huddle and said:

"Did you hear old Banjo Eyes Lewis? Now let's do some blocking and get the job done."

This is what Mr. Lewis said to

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the ball for you on the three, there are three minutes to play and we're trailing by three. If you don't hack this one over, don't look around for any help. We'll let you stay in there and take your beating. "The defense rests."

Mr. Anderson: "We've been saving your bacon all day. Now we got the