

AAUW Annual Silver Tea

...in Colorful Fall Setting

SOCIETY

by Milly Ramsby

AAUW's recent Silver Tea, was of course, not an anniversary celebration—but a day set aside annually to raise funds for a fellowship; awarded to a qualifying woman college graduate for advanced study. As a matter of fact . . . the local organization dates from February 28, 1925 . . . putting it comfortably past the 25 year mark. Many patrons have made this project a yearly success; and through it—more women have been recognized in various specialized fields.

INTREPID INGENUITY . . . with "driftwood-like" manzanita . . . vied successfully with an Audubon chromolithograph—(colorful masterpiece of the art of printing from stone)—Below the print . . . on the table draped with fish net . . . bleached bare twigs of manzanita on a slab of the same wood, sea shells, ivy and Japanese floats formed the arresting and unusual arrangement.

At left, Mrs. Howard Listoe, seated, has just served Mrs. Louis Soukup. Next to her is Mrs. Lloyd Drew; and to Mrs. Drew's right, Mrs. Eugene Favell, one of the hostesses for the tea. At this end of the table, Mrs. Joe J. Thomas happily surveys the foursome. She represented the Lioness Club when asked to pour, and Mrs. Listoe represented the Girl Scouts. Table arrangement was made by Mrs. A. Ivan Thompson.

THEY ENJOYED IT . . . The cool comfort and conversation in the outdoor patio of the Stanley Miller home. At the table in foreground, Mrs. A. R. Halverson, Mrs. Carl Miller and Mrs. Charles Johnson. Back of them, Mrs. Earl Weimar, under the umbrella; and . . . needing no introduction is Nora Sullivan.
