

2 Unbeaten Records Involved In Washington Senatorial Race

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Two young but veteran campaigners, never beaten for public office, are locked in a bitter fight for the only Washington State seat in the U. S. Senate at stake in this election.

The Republicans have it; the Democrats think they can get it. Big guns at both political parties have wheeled into the state to fire salvos in behalf of the candidates.

The seat, held by Sen. Harry P. Cain since 1946, is sought by Henry Jackson, a Democratic member of the U. S. House of Representatives for the last 12 years, and Ed Weston, late A. F. of E. leader, who was mayor of Tacoma before his election to the Senate after World War II service in Europe.

President Truman, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois supported for 40 years Jackson during their campaign trips through the state. Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma will be here tomorrow to continue the Democratic pitch for Jackson.

Cain received the support of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower when he was here. Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin will be in the state tomorrow and Sens. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Robert A. Taft of Ohio are on their way.

McCarthy, whose primary election victory heated the Cain camp, will invade Jackson's home town of Everett to make a statewide broadcast. Cain will introduce him.

Cain, 46, gained national prominence two years ago when he successfully opposed President Truman's nomination of former Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington State as chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

His opponents have attempted to associate him with the "real estate lobby" and "poor trust," charging he takes his orders from them and other "special interest" groups. Jackson's advertisements have quoted Eastern publications describing Cain as one of the nation's worst senators.

Cain, in turn, has labeled Jackson "a rubber stamp" for President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, asserting that he

Chiang Urges Cooperation In Fight Against Commies

TAIPEH (AP) — Chiang Kai-shek today urged the East to form a common front against communism. Unless they do, he said, the East will fall to Soviet imperialism and after that the whole world.

By the term "East," he explained he meant the Far East and Middle East.

HST Afraid Says Dewey

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says President Truman fears to have a "clean" administration take over in Washington, and "it must be because the treason is so great he does not dare let it be rooted out."

He made the statement last night in a speech at a rally of the New York Young Republican Club.

Horses Take Over Pennsylvania City

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Old Dobbin may be on his way out but you'd never know it in Pennsylvania's capital city during October and November.

Horses by the hundreds and horse lovers by the thousands take over the town for two weeks each fall. First there's the week-long Pennsylvania National Horse Show, now one of the world's largest; then the Standardbred Horse Sale, the leading harness horse auction.

Already more than 600 horses have been entered for the 1952 Pennsylvania National, Oct. 25 through Nov. 1. Show officials believe that may be a record number ever housed under one roof anywhere in America.

"From everything we can find out, it's the largest number of horses ever brought together for a pure indoor horse show," said one of the officials.

The Pennsylvania National, first on the indoor horse show circuit, brings together just about every variety of horsethief to compete for $35,000 in prizes.

There are jumpers—both international and domestic—hunters, high stepping and harness horses, Arabians, Tennessee Walkers and Westerns. In addition, there are the special exhibitions of trick horses, hitches and the United States Olympic dressage team.

The International Jumping Competition between teams from five nations is the spectator favorite. Jumping against the young U. S. teams will be entries from Canada, France, Ireland and Mexico.

Just as important to the true equine enthusiast are the hundreds of show classes when the nation's top exhibitors, including radio's Arthur Godfrey, display their blue-bloods. Godfrey is a leading breeder of the classic Arabians.

The key to the horsemen's growing interest in Harrisburg is the seven-acre Pennsylvania State Farm Show Building, which offers unsurpassed stabling facilities under one roof. The huge arena accommodates nearly 10,000 spectators.

Following on the heels of the Pennsylvania National is the standardbred auction. Some 799 trotters and pacers brought a record $1,601,435 during last year's five-day sale.

Float Shows GOP Victory

SOUTH PASADENA (AP) — Last New Year's Day the Democrats wailed when South Pasadena's Rose Parade was sighted in Pasadena's Rose Parade.

The float showed an elephant tromping into the front door of the White House and a donkey leaving at the rear.

City officials yesterday announced that their next float will be "A Bicycle Built for Two," with a donkey and an elephant riding tandem. If Adlai wins next month, the donkey will be up front; if Ike comes through, the elephant will be riding in the front seat.

Handicapped Women Aided

CHICAGO (AP) — A project of designing tailor-made homes for handicapped housewives was described today to delegates of the 40th annual National Safety Congress.

Dr. Edith L. Kristeller, director of the New York University project, said model rooms have been set up that enable handicapped women to do household work from their wheelchairs.

Grammer Defense Works On 'Other Woman'

BALTIMORE (AP) — George Edward Grammer's defense counsel set about today trying to tear down testimony of the state's star witness, a trim, attractive New York secretary, who told the court she and Grammer had talked about marriage.

Mathilda Mizibrocky's testimony was what the state felt it needed to pinpoint what it has contended from the start of the week-long trial—that Grammer killed his wife because she said something about United Nations office worker.

Dorothy May Grammer's body was pulled out of her car the night of Aug. 19 after the car ran out of control down a sloping suburban Baltimore road. On her head were deep gashes the medical examiner said could not have been caused by objects within the car.

Judge Herman M. Moser permitted as evidence a statement Grammer made to police saying he hit his wife with a piece of pipe after a half-dozen drinks because she said something about his thinking more of his job than

Doctor Urges Change In Cerebral Palsy Attitude

BY FRANK CAREY Associated Press Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago specialist on cerebral palsy in infants Tuesday called on doctors to adopt a "realistic" middle course between "over-pessimism and over-optimism" regarding the ailment.

"Incorrectly, although undoubtedly innocently—through improper understanding of the condition—many physicians inform parents that nothing can be done about it while many others say 'the child will outgrow it,'" declared Doctor M. A. Perlestein of the American Academy of Cerebral Palsy, adding:

"The real facts are that on the one hand, advances have been made in helping cerebral palsied patients to live a reasonably normal life and that changes for the better often occur as such patients grow older.

"But on the other hand, there is actually no such thing as 'outgrowing' it—and any such statement invariably leads to disappointment and frustration on the part of the parents and the patients themselves."

In an interview at the 21st annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Dr. Perlestein said: "There was a time when most doctors leaned towards over-pessimism, but now the pendulum appears to be swinging towards over-optimism."
