

Fort Klamath Catleman Has Luck With Shorthorns

FORT KLAMATH — Annually thousands of head of fine beef cattle are pastured on the grassy meadows of the 160,000 acre Wood River valley—predominating breed of stock fattened due for market is the white face Hereford, but until just recently, two local men have been engaged in raising purebred Shorthorn cattle, one being an old hand at the business and the other a comparative amateur at cattle raising, although he has worked with cattle for many years.

At KUHS Highlights

Many students around school were mildly surprised Monday and today to find a real live turkey in the Retail Selling club's display window in room 204. The turkey was bought by the Retail Selling club to be given away at the Parents and Patrons open house at school tonight. The turkey is the door prize.

The open house is to allow parents to meet their son's and daughter's teachers. The parents will go around to the rooms that their offspring attend and meet the teacher, and perhaps talk over why Johnny got a 4 in such and such a subject. The meeting starts at 8:00 p.m.

Tomorrow the four football teams receive their awards. In addition to the regular letters, numbers, and emblems, the members of the Pelicans who showed the most improvement over his performance last year will have his name inscribed on a plaque for the "Most Improved Player" of the varsity. The player will be chosen by the coaches. This plaque is presented by the Tokatee Lions Club, who will also present one for the other four major sports—basketball, wrestling, baseball, and track. This trophy will be placed in a special trophy case in the gym.

Motorist Dies After Fight

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—A Boeing airplane Co. inspector from Seattle was stabbed to death by an unidentified motorist during a traffic argument late Tuesday night. David E. McGaughey, 34, was fatally wounded after he blocked his assailant's car with his own and then went over to remonstrate with the other man on "how to drive." Police Criminal Investigator Les Wheeler reported. He returned to his own car and told passengers he had been stabbed and died within a few minutes, Wheeler said. Associates of Seattle said he went there from The Dalles, Ore., his birthplace, three years ago. His widow and two daughters, Linda Kay, 4, and Jeanne Marie, 2 survive. He had been a pre-flight mechanic at the Boeing Renton, Wash. plant and was on a final inspection line at Wichita. He had planned to return to Seattle for Christmas.

Ike Praises Radio Work

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower says Communist attacks on Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia prove the networks "are hurting the Reds and giving comfort and encouragement to oppressed people." Eisenhower and his unsuccessful Democratic opponent in the recent presidential campaign, Adlai E. Stevenson, delivered recorded radio addresses Tuesday night endorsing the 1952 Crusade for Freedom. Their talks were carried by the works. The Crusade for Freedom sponsors Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia, which battle Communist propaganda. The crusade, a private organization financed by voluntary contributions, is seeking four million dollars to strengthen its broadcasting facilities. Both Eisenhower and Stevenson said the effectiveness of the crusade's radio programs beamed to the Soviet satellite countries in Europe and the Communist-threatened areas of Asia was reflected in sharp Communist reaction.

BEAR VS. TRUCK MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—What happens when a 300-pound brown bear and a 10-ton truck collide? Consolidated Freightways Inc., says about $25,000 worth of damages—excluding the dead bear. The Consolidated Freightways truck met the hard-running brui on what is normally human territory—U.S. Highway 10, about 15 miles east of here. The bear was knocked into some bushes along the highway where it soon died while the truck and its van rolled into a ditch and burned. The driver gained freedom by kicking his way out of the cab.

Special Heart
By MARY EGAN
"Harvest Moon" is the theme of the annual Sophomore Hop to be held this very evening in the Willard Hotel ballroom. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30 to the music of Pete Colly's Band. All to the credit of the sophomores, the programs and decorations are attractively made in keeping with the theme, Harvest Moon. Thus, it's sure to be a wonderful night for everyone attending, and what's more, SHA students will not have to be to school until 10 tomorrow!

Mary Anne Guidi represented Sacred Heart in the "I Speak for Democracy" contest broadcast last Friday evening over station KFJI. Though Mary Anne did not win first place, her hard work was rewarded when it was announced that she had placed second in the contest, receiving a portable radio as the prize. Congratulations, Mary Anne!

The Girl's Letterman Club is buzzing with activity these days as they plan for a skating party this coming Monday and a play day early next month.

Dane Government Loses Test Vote

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—government lost a parliament vote Wednesday on its drive to lower state-controlled milk prices, but decided the issue was too minor to warrant its quitting. The government had proposed shaving the state subsidy about a half cent a quart. The opposition Socialists and Liberals wanted the present subsidy to remain in force.

New Town Built To House NATO Force

MOENCHEN-GLADBACH, Germany (AP)—A brand-new town, with over 5,000 inhabitants, is being built near here as new headquarters of the Northern Army Group, which includes British, Belgian and Dutch divisions and the Second Allied Tactical Air Force, whose fighter and light bomber squadrons come from the same three nations. The small British naval command which runs the assault landing craft on the Rhine and small naval units in the North German ports also will be housed there.

Staff officers from the three nations and the three services—land, sea and air—will work together as a single team. Bulldozers are clearing forest in the suburban area and road building has begun. The project, slated to be completed by April 1954, will cost about 34 million dollars. It will be paid for out of occupation costs already provided by the German taxpayers.

The project is to integrate the various service headquarters, now scattered through a series of small towns in Westphalia.

The people of the little Westphalian towns, especially the health resorts of Bad Oeynhausen, Bad Eibsen and Bad Salzuflen, are delighted the military at last is going. They want to get back their requisitioned hotels, bath houses, theaters and sports grounds. Bad Oeynhausen, once the fashionable playground of the Kaiser's court, particularly resented the long military occupation.

But the disclosure that the move was being made to a position west of the Rhine caused adverse German comment that the Allies were "retreating" and preparing to give up all Germany east of the river in case of Russian attack. British staff officers say that was a wrong inference. The present headquarters, only 100 miles from the Iron Curtain, is in front of most of the troops under its command. It is military nonsense.

The study, by Dan D. Robinson, forest management professor, lists 23 fires caused by power saws in 1951. They burned 28,000 acres. All saws, he said, should have mufflers attached, spark plugs and wire connections should be covered, and fuel leak sources should be eliminated. Much of the trouble, his report said, stems from fuel spilled on the hot motor, from failure to keep debris away from the hot exhaust, and general failure to keep the saw in top condition.

the staff says, to have the joint army-air command of three army corps and 1,200 aircraft so far forward. The new town will cover an area 2 1/2 miles long about three quarters of a mile wide. As it is some seven miles from the city center, it will be completely self-contained with shops, a theater, sports grounds, a swimming pool, two churches and a school for 500 children. Over 700 bungalow-type houses are being built for families of officers and men stationed at the headquarters, as well as bachelor quarters for officers and barracks.
