Turkey Care Saves Flavor

With Thanksgiving just around the corner, many a housewife with a freezer in the house is planning to cook that turkey now and save time and trouble when the big day comes.

It's a great idea—if you don't make one mistake.

Don't stuff your turkey with dressing before freezing.

Expert tests by food authorities have proved that stuffing a bird before it's frozen may cause spoilage of the turkey, deterioration of quality and at the very least, flat and soggy dressing.

The thing to do, say the experts, is to freeze the bird alone. Then prepare the dry ingredients that go into your dressing the day before the holiday dinner, and store them in the cupboard. Do the same with the wet ingredients but put them in the refrigerator.

On roasting day it will take only about 20 minutes to mix the dressing and stuff the bird, and you'll be assured of fresh and tasty dressing and an unspoiled turkey.

Mince Pie

Mother never turned out a more taste appealing lattice mince pie than this one. And it's so much easier to make these days, with the delicious packaged mincemeat.

Just take a 1-pound 2-ounce jar or a 9-ounce package of mincemeat and combine it with 2 cups of sliced apples, 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, fresh, canned or frozen, and ½ teaspoon of grated lemon peel.

Pour the mixture into a pastry-lined piepan, top it with a lattice crust, and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 35 minutes.

For a fancy pie edge, trim the bottom crust pastry ½ inch beyond the edge of the pan. Then lay the strips across the pie, folding the edge over them. Crimp the edge by using the forefinger of your right hand to press pastry between the thumb and forefinger of your left hand.

Another suggestion if you're in a hurry—use a plain top crust and cut a big "M" in the center.

HINTS

EXTRA GOOD

For a quick and tempting dessert during this holiday "rush" season, try a glorified ice cream sandwich. Place a generous slice of ice cream between two graham crackers and top with thick chocolate syrup. Try peppermint ice cream for a nice variety.

TRY THIS

When steel wool is used in finishing furniture, the tiny particles seem to collect in corners of drawers or shelves. A good way to remove them is with a small magnet.

DECORATION

Over an almond paste topping make a thin frosting like this—1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine and 1 tablespoon hot milk. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla extract. Decorate as desired with candied fruits and nuts.

EASY AS PIE

Use a heavy, washable plastic bag for flouring the fried chicken instead of boarding paper bags for that purpose. The plastic bag washes out in warm sudsy water, and will last through many seasons. It's easily stored and the bottom will never plop out at a crucial moment.
