

Doctors Shy From Military Because of 'Civilian Work'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the American Medical Association says many doctors are refusing to volunteer for military service because they feel too much of their time is wasted treating wives and children of armed forces members.

Dr. Louis H. Bauer of Hempstead, N.Y., called upon the service to find out how much time military doctors spend caring for dependents because, he said, "Questionnaires sent to (medical) men on leaving the service are this frequently as a cause of resentment—namely that they have been drafted from civilian life to take care of other civilians."

In urging an investigation by the armed forces, the AMA leader said yesterday in an address prepared for the 50th annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States:

"The necessity for extension of the doctors' draft law will depend in part on the answer to this question."

Dr. Melvin A. Casberg, chairman of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council, said yesterday doctors up to 31 years of age without veterans' status may be drafted early next year unless the present outlook in doctor supply improves.

At another point in his talk, Dr. Bauer asserted:

"The medical services of the armed forces are still suffering from unfavorable reactions, the result of the last war service. There is no doubt that doctors were wasted at that time. Many were kept weeks and months in mobilization camps doing little. Others were assigned to duties of a nonmedical nature."

"Many, in fact most, of these conditions have now been largely eliminated. Unfortunately, this is not widely known. Former officers have tended to discourage men from going into service, because of their unfavorable recollection of their own service."

He urged the armed forces to undertake a campaign of public relations among the civilian medical profession.

FBI Seeks NY Racket Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI hunter today for Thomas (Three-Finger Brown) Luchese in the wake of State Crime Commission hearings which recited with testimony aimed at a former judge's financial affairs.

The state probes looking into political-underworld links no soon er suspended the public hearings yesterday than U. S. Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery authorized the FBI search for Luchese, a healthy garment manufacturer and ex-convict described as a boss racketeer and friend of politicians.

Luchese previously testified privately before the commission but balked at talking at the open hearings.

A two-day search by a U. S. marshal and two deputies failed to locate Luchese. The government seeks to take away his citizenship and deport him to his native Sicily.

Officials are hunting him to serve denaturalization papers. He allegedly concealed arrests in obtaining citizenship.

In the final hours of the commission hearings, witnesses described the financial dealings of 71-year-old retired State Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy, appointed last year as a court referee.

The commission introduced records purporting to show that Levy's known receipts totaled $228,000 from 1946 to 1951 inclusive while he spent $406,000 during the same period. Levy's judgeship pay over the six-year period amounted to $168,000—$28,000 a year.

In explaining his inability to give the commission an accurate estimate of his living expenses, Levy said in closed-session testimony:

"Look, I'm very free with money. Money never had any value with me, not from my earliest days."

McCarthy To Top Hunters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he assumes he will become chairman of the Senate investigating group in the new Congress and when he does, he will push Communist-in-government probes.

McCarthy also told reporters he is convinced President-elect Eisenhower will give the incoming Republican-controlled Congress "anything that is necessary to clean house" in the government.

General Now Delivery Boy

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION, Korea (AP)—A four star general delivered a package of goodies to a Marine company cook today after being it half way around the world.

"Mission completed," said Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg as he handed a package of food to Pfc. Nicholas Baldwin, of Minneapolis.

The U. S. Air Force Chief of Staff became "delivery boy" as a favor to Baldwin's parents, whom he met in Europe earlier on his around the world inspection tour of American air bases.

On the first stop of his tour of U. N. ground forces today, Vandenberg met 24-year-old Baldwin at a light plane airstrip.

"I brought a package for you," Vandenberg said. "I think there's some food in it. I hope your buddies don't eat it all up."

Vandenberg shook hands with Baldwin, who was surrounded by a star-studded array of Army, Marine and Air Force brass.

Baldwin said later: "I was plenty shook."

Cat Taster To Retire

MELTON MOWBRAY, England (AP)—Whiskers has retired after five loyal years as the chief taster in an animal food factory and had a medal hung around his neck.

One factory executive said of the ginger cat: "He had a better personality than his junior assistants. If whiskers turned away in disgust from a new product, we had to scrap it."
