

A PUP AND HIS PAL. State-side bound Marine Sgt. Hugh M. Smith of Cynwyd, Pa., had time to grab a couple of winks while being processed at Ascom City, Korea. His dog, not being rotated, stood guard for awhile then went to sleep too in the warm sun on a pile of tents.

The County Agent Reports on Klamath Agriculture

By C. A. HENDERSON
Klamath County Agent

The Nov. 1 Potato Production report for the nation did not change the situation very much. There were a few scattered increases, mostly in the Middle West and Eastern states with an overall decrease of nearly a million bushels in the Western States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California late potatoes. The national estimate as of Oct. 1, was 345,561,000 bushels while Nov. 1 showed 349,257,000 an increase of 3,696,000 bushels. In the Pacific Coast and Northwestern states, Oregon showed an increase of 600,000 bushels over the October report. Washington was the same. California late potatoes were the same, and Idaho an increase of 1,400,000 making a total decrease of slightly over 900,000 bushels. Most of the Nation's increase was accounted for in New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Colorado and Ohio.

The total carlot shipment for the nation for the season to date showed 18,337 on Nov. 9, as against 100,215 cars on the same date for last year. Up to and including Nov. 11, Idaho had shipped by rail this year 16,195 which is nearly 3500 cars more than the same date a year ago. The total Oregon and Washington shipments are both ahead of last year to date. All in all the potato situation looks good. This year's crop of 349,257,000 compares for the 10-year average 1942-1951 inclusive of 414,525,000 bushels.

ALSIKE CLOVER
The Oregon State College marketing report of Nov. 10, stated that alsike clover seed offers had now reached a support level of 25 cents a pound but that very little seed was moving and many dealers were completely out of the market. Growers generally are holding firm.

This is a most peculiar situation. The total crop is much smaller than last year, and the quality is excellent. Prices offered are only 60 per cent of prices offered a year ago. In the Klamath Basin there is a concentrated supply of excellent seed.

Son, Mother Reunited

SEATTLE (AP)—"You can't make up seven years in seven minutes," Roy Aitchison explained, and so today he is busy writing letters to his mother in Detroit.

The 39-year-old resident of Lake Sammamish had a telephonic reunion with Mrs. Emily Aitchison yesterday. The conversation covered a lot of things, he said, but it couldn't hope to fill in for all that elapsed time.

Aitchison lost track of his mother after the end of World War II. He returned from overseas duty with his Italian war bride and his mother moved to England. His letters to her were returned unopened, so he quit trying.

It developed that Mrs. Aitchison had returned to the United States and, not knowing her son's address, was unable to notify him she had returned.

An Associated Press picture of Aitchison and his dog Curley, which survived a ride on the pontoon of Aitchison's plane, led to the mother learning her son was in Seattle.

"We're going to exchange pictures and information now," he said, "and next summer maybe we can have a real reunion."

Morse Gets Large Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 39-pound turkey that was championed as the symbol of political independence was given Wednesday to Sen. Wayne Morse.

The man who presented the bird to the Oregon senator told Morse he hoped he would select the turkey as the symbol of his independence.

Morse is the senator who bolted the Republican Party in the recent presidential campaign. He signs his mail, "Independent," now.

The bird was given to Morse by William T. Geurts, Oregon turkey farmer and Utah businessman.

While the turkey gobbled, unaware of his impending Thanksgiving.

ing Day date, Geurts petitioned Morse:

"To give recognition to the three centuries of the association of the American turkey with our rich tradition of independent thinking and action by citing that noble bird as the symbol of the hundreds of thousands of independent voters who are looking for leadership to help make their voices effective."

Morse didn't promise to latch onto the turkey as his symbol, but he did thank Geurts for the spirit of his message and pledge "to exercise an honest independence of judgment on the merits of the critical issues which will come before the Senate."

Geurts said he has long been an independent voter and that he thought up the gesture to praise Morse for his role in politics.
