

Twenty-Four Planes Ready To Seek Lost Globemaster

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A faint radio signal was the only tenuous clue today to the fate of 52 men aboard a giant C-124 Globemaster which vanished Saturday night over the Gulf of Alaska.

Twenty-four search planes were poised here ready to fan out when weather permits over the 150 miles to tiny Middleton Island, the four-engine transport's last check-point. The weather outlook was poor.

The 41 Army and Air Force passengers and 11 crewmen were listed officially yesterday as missing in the continuing plague of U.S. military air disasters throughout the world.

Names of the crew were released late yesterday. The passengers have not been identified.

Since Nov. 7, six planes either have crashed or disappeared. They carried 362 men, of whom 62 are known dead, 22 are missing and eight survived. Three of the troop carriers were lost in Alaska, two in Korea and one in Montana.

The weak radio signal, which could have come from emergency equipment carried by the Globemaster, was picked up yesterday by the CAA station at Yakataga, on the Alaska coastline about 150 miles east of Middleton Island.

The SOS was so dim no bearing could be taken. But authorities at Elmendorf Air Force Base here said the signal on the international distress frequency of 500 kilocycles might have come from "Gibson Girl" radio transmitters attached to the C-124's rubber life rafts.

They cautioned, however, against undue optimism, pointing out that the signal was not picked up again and past experience in Alaska aerial tragedies has shown that mysterious radio transmissions are not uncommon and have proved valueless in searches.

"No trace of the Military Air Transport Service Globemaster, biggest in military use and capable of carrying 200 men, was found by 11 search planes which went out yesterday despite bad weather.

From Middleton Island to the mainland is about 50 miles of water. Then to Anchorage the route is edged by what veteran fliers call some of the "most rugged country in the world" with glacier covered peaks of 12,000 feet or more.

The Mats Globemaster, big as a three-room house, made its last report over Middleton at 9:47 p.m. Saturday on a 1,400-mile flight to Elmendorf from McChord Air Force Base, near Tacoma, Wash.

The Alaska Air Command confirmed early today the C-124, based at McChord, was on a routine flight to Alaska and most of the 41 passengers were stationed in the territory.

The Globemaster was flying at 9,000 feet on schedule for hours and 17 minutes out of McChord when last heard from. It should have reached Anchorage 46 minutes later.

CHRISTMAS SEALS have been mailed by the Tuberculosis and Health Association. Willing workers in preparing the seals this year were women of the "8 and 40," several of whom are shown above as the thousands of seals were mailed at the postoffice here. In the picture are (l to r) Mrs. Lina Motschenbacher, Mrs. Mabel Foster, Mrs. Fannie May Thompson, Postmaster Chet Langslet, John Harlan and Mrs. Lillian Otterbein.

Adlai to Be Invited To Speak to Oregon Demos

PORTLAND (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, defeated Democratic presidential candidate, will be asked to speak at the annual Oregon Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet next spring.

That was decided Sunday at a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee here.

Stevenson, in a telegram to Oregon Democrats Saturday, said he hopes members of the party in the state "can work together to help the party merit success in future campaigns."

At Sunday's meeting, T. Lawson

McCall, former assistant to Gov. Douglas McKay and now a radio commentator, was criticized for being "unduly partisan" toward the Republican Party in his daily KGW news commentary.

The group's executive committee was asked to discuss the matter with officials of KGW, and should that fail to bring satisfaction, the board authorized to file a formal complaint with the Federal Communications Commission.

McCall replied by saying: "The apprehension this group feels, is, I am sure, not shared by most thinking Democrats of the state."

He said the Democrats were trying to "intimidate" him and that the present criticism was due to a recent broadcast in which he mentioned Howard Morgan, state Democratic chairman.

In that broadcast, McCall reported, he said Morgan's comments on the appointment of Gov. McKay as secretary of the interior, were "stupid and vicious." Morgan was critical of the appointment.

In other action the Central Committee asked three investigations—two by its executive board of the State Tax Commission and of the sale of merchandise to state institutions, and the other by the Oregon Bar on whether or not attorneys are soliciting business from prisoners in the state penitentiary.

Robert Y. Thornton, state attorney general-elect, told the Saturday meeting that a crime survey should be made in Oregon.

"I hope the Legislature will authorize creation of a series of non-partisan commissions to study crime, law enforcement, juvenile justice, correction, commitment and release procedures and similar problems," he said. He added that he was working on the draft for such a program.

U.S. Spends $87 Billion On Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has poured out more than $7 billion dollars in foreign aid during the past 12 years.

Although most of it was in grants and gifts, about 11 billions have been repaid to date.

The Commerce Department in a detailed report released Sunday said the United Kingdom, Soviet Russia and France together received about two-thirds of the total.

In all, more than 50 countries or areas benefited.

The United Kingdom received $1 billion dollars in goods, services and funds this country gave or loaned abroad. Nearly 29 billions were transferred during World War II.

During the warm season the ice near the edge of a glacier may move forward a few inches per day on the average, says the National Geographic Society.

year ending last June placed the figure at $5,006,000,000.

UNESCO Has Money Woes

PARIS (AP) — UNESCO, the educational and cultural arm of the United Nations, faced its gravest crisis Monday because members of the 68-nation body can't agree on how much education, science and culture should cost.

Director General Jaime Torres Bodet, 52-year-old former Mexican cabinet minister, on Saturday quit his post as head of the international organization's secretariat only 11 days after Trygve Lie resigned as U. N. secretary general.

With Torres Bodet went Brazil's Paulo de Berrêgo Carneiro, chairman of UNESCO's executive board, and Board Member Vladislav Ribnikar of Yugoslavia. The conference recessed until Tuesday while delegates took stock and sought a future course of action.

Although there apparently was no connection between the UNESCO resignations and Lie's, some delegates to UNESCO's seventh annual conference now underway here saw both as a clear sign of the uneasiness which recently has afflicted most international bodies set up since the war.

Torres Bodet was described as very disappointed because he thinks he detects a "breakup of solidarity among nations in the backing of various technical assistance programs to further the stated aims of UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The budget fight was the second squabble disrupting this session. The conference's vote last Wednesday to admit Spain, whose government is considered a Fascist dictatorship by some members, produced a wave of walkouts and resignations from UNESCO and Allied organizations.

Torres Bodet's quitting—which he said was "irrevocable"—was precipitated by the conference's refusal by a 29-21 vote to give him the $20,439,104 budget he asked for the next two years.

The nations which pay the most for UNESCO—led by Great Britain ($1.59 per cent) and the United States (33.2 per cent)—wanted expenditures held to this year's level of $8,718,000 annually, even if it meant there could be no expansion of the organization's present programs. In the end, a compromise budget of 18 million dollars for 1953-54 was approved.

If your clothes are showing excessive wear too quickly, check yourself on your use of the washing machine. Are you over-loading, over-washing, or over-bleaching?

McCall, former assistant to Gov. Douglas McKay and now a radio commentator, was criticized for being "unduly partisan" toward the Republican Party in his daily KGW news commentary.

The group's executive committee was asked to discuss the matter with officials of KGW, and should that fail to bring satisfaction, the board authorized to file a formal complaint with the Federal Communications Commission.

McCall replied by saying: "The apprehension this group feels, is, I am sure, not shared by most thinking Democrats of the state."

He said the Democrats were trying to "intimidate" him and that the present criticism was due to a recent broadcast in which he mentioned Howard Morgan, state Democratic chairman.

In that broadcast, McCall reported, he said Morgan's comments on the appointment of Gov. McKay as secretary of the interior, were "stupid and vicious." Morgan was critical of the appointment.

In other action the Central Committee asked three investigations—two by its executive board of the State Tax Commission and of the sale of merchandise to state institutions, and the other by the Oregon Bar on whether or not attorneys are soliciting business from prisoners in the state penitentiary.

Robert Y. Thornton, state attorney general-elect, told the Saturday meeting that a crime survey should be made in Oregon.

"I hope the Legislature will authorize creation of a series of non-partisan commissions to study crime, law enforcement, juvenile justice, correction, commitment and release procedures and similar problems," he said. He added that he was working on the draft for such a program.

Director General Jaime Torres Bodet, 52-year-old former Mexican cabinet minister, on Saturday quit his post as head of the international organization's secretariat only 11 days after Trygve Lie resigned as U. N. secretary general.

With Torres Bodet went Brazil's Paulo de Berrêgo Carneiro, chairman of UNESCO's executive board, and Board Member Vladislav Ribnikar of Yugoslavia. The conference recessed until Tuesday while delegates took stock and sought a future course of action.

Although there apparently was no connection between the UNESCO resignations and Lie's, some delegates to UNESCO's seventh annual conference now underway here saw both as a clear sign of the uneasiness which recently has afflicted most international bodies set up since the war.

Torres Bodet was described as very disappointed because he thinks he detects a "breakup of solidarity among nations in the backing of various technical assistance programs to further the stated aims of UNESCO—the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The budget fight was the second squabble disrupting this session. The conference's vote last Wednesday to admit Spain, whose government is considered a Fascist dictatorship by some members, produced a wave of walkouts and resignations from UNESCO and Allied organizations.

Torres Bodet's quitting—which he said was "irrevocable"—was precipitated by the conference's refusal by a 29-21 vote to give him the $20,439,104 budget he asked for the next two years.

The nations which pay the most for UNESCO—led by Great Britain ($1.59 per cent) and the United States (33.2 per cent)—wanted expenditures held to this year's level of $8,718,000 annually, even if it meant there could be no expansion of the organization's present programs. In the end, a compromise budget of 18 million dollars for 1953-54 was approved.

If your clothes are showing excessive wear too quickly, check yourself on your use of the washing machine. Are you over-loading, over-washing, or over-bleaching?

NEED A GOOD USED TRUCK?
Then look for the sign of the

for VALUE
for APPEARANCE
for PERFORMANCE

If it doesn't have "VAP" appeal... don't buy it!

Bad Weather no problem!

when we FLUFF DRY your wash

Only 5c pound

One tub washed, Dried and Neatly Folded... 55c (Soap & Bleach, Each 5c Extra)

LET THE LAUNDERETTE DO IT!

South 6th & Owens

HOME OF THE VAPS

HITCHCOCK and MOSHER

USED TRUCKS and CARS MAIN GARAGE

632 South 6th Ph. 5279 312 Spring Ph. 7771

Senator Warns Against Arms Letdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dewey Short (D-SD), chairman-designate of the House Armed Services Committee, cautioned today against "letting down our guard" if a truce is agreed upon in Korea.

The 54-year-old former college professor will head the important House committee after Republican wins the new Congress Jan. 3. He is rounding up 20 years of service in the House.

"We must guard against the mistake we have made in the past—disarming too soon," he said in an interview. "While our ultimate goal should be world disarmament, we must keep strong as long as times remain as they now are."

"We must build up, rather than reduce, our military strength," he added.

Short, who describes himself as neither an isolationist nor a militarget, said he believes there can be substantial savings made in next year's and subsequent military budgets.

"We must cut federal expenses if we are to preserve our economy, which is our main strength," he declared. "With the military budget taking about 80 cents out of every tax dollar, it is obvious that it affords the place for the heaviest reductions."

But he emphasized that he doesn't favor budget-cutting at the expense of preparations.

"I believe we can sharply reduce the military budget," he said, "without reducing the strength of our military forces by a single man or a single weapon or warplane. There is entirely too much waste now and by stopping it we can save billions."

EXTRA FLAVOR NO QUICK OATS because it's Pan-Toasted

Fountain Pen Repairing
BY FACTORY-TRAINED TECHNICIAN
Underwood's CAMERA SHOP
708 Main St., Phone 7088

This year we again bring you those Quality Birds—Raised especially for BIG Y

TURKEY

FRESH — NOT FROZEN — and fresh killed and dressed. Prepared the way you want them.

These are Premium Grade "A" Turkeys

TOMS 47 c/lb.
HENS 53 c/lb.
OYSTERS 55 c For Your Dressing PT.
HENS 37 c/lb. Fresh dressed, Colored

All other Grocery and Meat prices in our Nov. 20 AD effective Thru Wednesday, Nov. 26

DIAMOND "A"
Pumpkin 10 c 303 Tin

Cranberry Sauce 2 for 35 c Ocean Spray No. 1
Cove Oysters 39 c Blue Plate
Spry 65 c 3 lb. Tin
Sugar 95 c 10 lbs.
Mincemeat 35 c STANDBY 24 oz. jar
Fruit Cocktail 19 c HUNT'S 303 Tin
Margarine 19 c HOLIDAY Colored Cubes lb.
Mayonnaise 59 c Durkee's Improves Your Salads
Cranberries 29 c Fresh, New Crop lb.
Sweet Potatoes 5 c Good Size lb.
Celery 5 c Crisp and Green lb.

BIG Y MARKET
PARK EASY AND PAY LESS