

Police Find Lost Money

PORTLAND (AP) — Credit L. Jeffries, who lost $2,500 on the street here earlier this week, got $2,050 back and was a happy man Thursday.

Police said the man who found it also was happy, for he went on a $50 spree and then was freed because police decided there was nothing they could do about it.

The police said merchants reported Wednesday that a seaman was spending money freely. The police set out in search and finally caught up with Seaman Charles Mabry Sandbridge, 27, at the town of Yamhill, southwest of Portland.

They said he had $2,050 in his pockets, and admitted spending $450 after finding the money on a Portland sidewalk.

The police, anxious to return him to Portland, even put up $50 bond for the drunkenness charge against Sandbridge there.

In Portland the 75-year-old Jeffries happily accepted the money, and showed no inclination to take any action against Sandbridge. So Jeffries headed for the bank with his roll, and Sandbridge was freed.

The whole affair started because Jeffries earlier refused to put the money in a bank, saying he liked to carry $100 bills with him. He had 25 of these bills, wrapped in paper, when the bundle fell unnoticed from his waistband. The money was part of the life savings of Jeffries, former restaurant operator.

Douglas Wants More Action

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) recommended last night that a limited offensive be launched in Korea and criticized the failure of several U. N. nations to take their share of the burden in Korean fighting. He was especially critical of Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

Douglas suggested that a knock-out blow in Korea might be brought about by a joint landing on the neck of the peninsula short of the Yalu River. He said such an operation would require many more troops than are presently in Korea.

Carlson May Be GOP Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), said Thursday Wesley Roberts of Kansas had a very good chance to become the new Republican national chairman, and would make "an ideal man" for the job.

Roberts served as director of organization for the GOP National Committee—one of the top jobs under National Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield—throughout the 1952 campaign.

For six months before the Chicago national convention Roberts was executive director of the Washington headquarters for President-elect Eisenhower.

Summerfield, named by Eisenhower as postmaster general in his cabinet, has announced he will quit the party chairmanship before he assumes his government post Jan. 20. The national committee is expected to elect a successor about the time of the inauguration.

Doctor Mulls Human Skull

ROSEBURG (AP) — Dr. Homer Harris, head of the State Police Laboratory, will attempt to determine whether a skull found east of here is that of Cherokee James, Salem policeman who disappeared in 1939.

James, whose correct name was Emory W. never was seen again after starting on a hunting trip. There was speculation then that he had (a) died of a heart attack or (b) been killed by a vengeful ex-convict. James at one time was a stern penitentiary guard.

James' brother-in-law, Walter Dorman of Salem, inspected the skull, but could not say whether it was that of James.

It was turned over then to Harris, who was here to testify in a trial.

The skull was found last month by a logger, 40 miles east of Roseburg.
