Negro Held In Shooting

A 26-year-old Negro, Eugene Wright, is held in the County Jail for shooting a hole in the dashboard of a taxicab.

Specifically, he is charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Wright, a Southern Pacific section gang laborer at Algoma, was riding in a cab driven by Wesley Ray near Algoma, coming to town, when a 9-mm automatic pistol he was handling went off, accidentally, he said.

He was brought on into town and ducked the pistol back of a Klamath Avenue tavern, and Ray complained to police.

City Police picked up the Negro and turned him over to state officers.

Spangler Tells Liquor Rules

Klamath Lumberman Bill Spangler, chairman of the Oregon State Liquor Commission, explained to members of the Klamath Falls 20-30 Club last night the inner-workings of the Oregon liquor laws and the purposes behind them.

The club meets Tuesdays in the Willard hotel under Pre. Ed Hos-

Xmas Tree Cut Low

Klamath residents in the face of unfavorable conditions, aren't making the inroads into the local Christmas tree populations this season the way they did last, but there is still quite a run on for Yule trees.

Foresters in this area report cars move along the highway—especially from the Greensprings—in a steady stream bearing tall-tale evergreen-needed limbs protruding from windows or turtlebacks.

One reason for the "serve yourself" Christmas tree fad may be the prices.

Years ago the trees sold for as little as a dime each, and maybe ran up to 50 cents for big ones. But, reports here show prices this year for cut trees selling at roadside were running about a dime a linear foot.

ment operative. He did say that the commission has made some recommendations to the legislature—but wouldn't say what they were.

The Twenty-Thirtians donated 3,100 candy canes remaining from the Christmas Opening program to the city schools for Christmas parties.

Pete Colley, Sears, furnished musical entertainment during the evening, and the club plans to have him furnish music during the forthcoming convention here.
