

Naguib Plans New Laws

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's reform Premier, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, passed his country's 1923 Constitution into the Egyptian today as obsolete and said his government is writing a new one.

Until it is finished, he said in a nation-wide broadcast, "my government will exercise constitutional power."

Chief among the problems facing the Constitution writers is whether to do away with Egypt's 147-year-old monarchy and establish a republic. Popular revolution has been rising steadily against the royal dynasty since Naguib and his Army associates deposed King Farouk last July and began spotlighting "scandals" of his 16-year reign.

A government spokesman said Monday that the Constitutional

Committee would decide whether the monarchy-versus-republic issue would be decided by constitutional amendment or by a popular referendum.

Under the old Constitution, Naguib said in his broadcast, Parliament was under the influence of the government instead of the government being responsible to Parliament. Constitutional change was inevitable if his Army movement's aims were to be attained, the Premier declared.

Egyptian and foreign observers agree that if the monarchy's future is put to a public vote, it will mean the end of the dynasty established in 1805 by Mohammed Ali, an Albanian. Throughout its rule, Egypt's people have lived in conditions of incredible poverty while their sovereigns piled up and squandered vast riches.

U.N. To Decide On Hearing

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. votes today on a motion to invite the Bey of Tunis to send a representative to take part here in the debate on the explosive French-Tunisian question.

At a special night session last night, Pakistan's Husein Bey, titular ruler of the French North African protectorate, to appoint a representative to come here as quickly as possible.

The vote on the ticklish issue comes up in the Assembly's Political Committee today.

Husein, whose delegation joined 12 other Asian and Arab nations in putting Tunisia's demands for self-rule before the U. N., said he intended that the Bey's representative come to give his country's views but not have a vote.

American and other Western delegates indicated they would oppose the motion in view of the fact that France is not present. France is boycotting the Tunisian debate on the ground that the U. N. has no competence to deal with what she claims is entirely a domestic affair.

Delegates to the 60-nation committee held day and night sessions yesterday to get through the long list of speakers. In the debate in the hope of reaching a final vote on the two resolutions before urging France and Tunisia to settle their dispute peacefully.

The Arab-Asian resolution calls on France and Tunisia to negotiate a settlement under the supervision of a U. N. commission. It also asks France to "establish normal civil liberties" in Tunisia, which has been ruled by martial law during months of bloody nationalist-inspired violence. There is little hope that France will accept it.

Another resolution is a compromise proposal sponsored by 11 Latin American countries and backed by the United States. It calls on the Assembly only to urge moderation on both France and Tunisia and to appeal for them to get together for a settlement.

Most delegates expected the committee to adopt this more moderate resolution, but they were not sure it would bring the matter any closer to solution.

Students To Move Books

DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — Eighty-three thousand books are to be moved today the hard way—armful by armful.

A task force of more than 1,500 students and members of the faculty of Northern Illinois Teachers College volunteered to tote the volumes from the old library to a new one, about 100 feet away.

The new Sven Franklin Parson Library was completed recently. It cost two million dollars. But there was no money to pay for the transfer of the books. So the students offered to handle the job. The Administrative Council approved the idea with the proviso that the professors and others be allowed to lend an arm.

Movie Maker Signs Christina

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film producer Al Rosen says he has signed up Christina Jorgenson, the girl who underwent sex conversion from man to woman in Copenhagen.

Rosen said last night the 26-year-old girl, who served in the American Army as a man, would star in a new version of the comedy "Mary Had a Little," and make stage appearances with the picture.

Rosen claims that Miss Jorgenson, as a man, tried to crash Hollywood three years ago but did not succeed. He said he expects her to come to Hollywood next month.

Miss Jorgenson has undergone operations and treatments and is still under medical care in Copenhagen.

Ike May Bypass Presidential Yacht

By DON WHITEHEAD

ABOARD USS HELENA. En Route to Hawaii (AP) — It looks as if President-elect Dwight Eisenhower's passion for golf, fresh-water fishing and frugality in government will leave no place for the ocean-going yacht, the Williamsburg, as a presidential retreat in the next four years.

The changes are friends say, that Eisenhower will try to find a mountain retreat somewhere near Washington—one with a small golf course—as his hideaway from White House duties.

And they say his plans rule out the Williamsburg not only as being too expensive a luxury but one not suited to his ideas of recreation.

The ideal summer White House in Ike's book would be a mountain retreat at about 2,500 feet altitude, not too far from Washington. Good fishing water would be a must and also the golf course.

It would have to be close to the White House because Ike might want to sneak away on Fridays and not return until Sunday night. Some say he has thought that maybe former President Herbert Hoover's old retreat at Rapidan, Va., might fill the bill—or some place similar.

He doesn't want anything fancy. President Truman preferred Key West for his vacations and he liked to have the Williamsburg around for week-end cruises from time to time.

The Williamsburg has a crew of more than 100 and like all yachts it costs a lot to run. Nobody knows just how much, because in government bookkeeping it's a training ship for the Navy.

The yacht was sold to the government by Hugh Chisholm, head of the Bath Iron Works, and was used in World War II as a convoy flag ship in the North Atlantic. It was converted as a White House yacht in 1946.

Sleepy Texan Goes to Bed

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — "I'm going to bed," Jess Hensley announced at 4:55 a.m. Tuesday.

The decision cost him a chance at $1,000.

Hensley and Robert Cook, 32, both Midland house-painters, had not slept since 7:14 a.m. last Friday, according to Larry King, news director of a local radio station.

Each had to borrow money to put up his half of a $1,000 "pot" to be claimed by the man who could stay awake longest.

Ninety-eight hours and innumerable cups of coffee later, Hensley admitted defeat.

"Money isn't everything," the red-eyed Hensley declared. "I'd rather sleep."

Cook claimed his $1,000 and announced he would use it to buy Christmas presents, including one for Jess; he sure deserves it.
