Farm Mishap Records Due

It's the end of the year and time for Klamath and Lake County residents to compile the year's accident records and mail them in to the Farm Accident Prevention Committee, according to Chairman Eber Kilpatrick.

The committee was organized early this year to help cut the number and types of farm accidents by volunteer offers of information through printed postcard forms.

Many local groups, including the farm and dairying groups and others, offered help at that time, and have the accident forms in their possession. Persons wishing to fill out the blanks should be able to obtain them there.

The idea is to obtain a count as accurate as possible of the injuries and the type incurred during a year's farming in this area. Through that means the committee hopes to discover where to attack the accident problems. There is no other means of the count available in this area.

Any farm accident which caused loss of time, pay or caused injury should be reported, no matter how little. Many little accidents could be serious, Kilpatrick said, except for certain factors.

Vandals Hit Two Churches

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Two Catholic churches, beautifully decorated for Christmas, were vandalized Friday by thieves who priests said "walked with their feet over the most sacred pieces of furniture."

Police said a chapel tabernacle, valued at $2,000, was almost ruined at the St. Francis Church. Ornate gold and bronze vessels were taken along with an undisclosed amount of cash from offering boxes.

Earlier, the Cathedral of Our Lady of Perpetual Help was entered and a money box was broken into, presumably by the same thieves.

Father Edward Vandergrint of St. Francis said someone took Christmas offerings and threw the boxes on the floor.

"They also tried to pry open the tabernacle to get at our sacred vessels," he added.

Last month, churches at Tonkawa and Pond Creek in Northern Oklahoma were burned. A 13-year-old girl confessed the crime.

WHIPS POLIO AND PNEUMONIA. Little Anthony Murphy caught pneumonia while still down with polio. He celebrates his first birthday while recovering from both. Tony, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Owensboro, Ky., has recovered the use of his arms. He squirmed with delight when he heard nurse Miss Doris Lefleit entertained him with the musical cake and stuffed toys. He'll be leaving the hospital in Louisville, Ky., soon for home.

Males Win Top Positions In Box Office Popularity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The box office champions of 1952 were announced this week. It appears that the movie business is still a man's world.

Of the top 10 winners of poll of theater men, eight are males. Only two girls—Doris Day and Susan Hayward—managed to crack the exclusive club. Day placed seventh and Hayward ninth.

Let's look at the males who won. Three selections come in the musical-comedy field—Marlin and Lewis, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

The other five—Gary Cooper, John Wayne, James Stewart, Gregory Peck, Randolph Scott—are largely identified with outdoor epics.

That would indicate the current tastes of moviegoers. They appear to want escapism—music, comedy and especially adventure. And when the public calls for such fare, the ladies are bound to suffer.

Female stars have the best chance in musicals. Witness the rapid rise of Doris Kappelhoff, also known as Day. But the movies offer little for actresses in comedy.

Very few of the great screen stars of comedy have been actresses.

And the girls are generally at a loss when it comes to adventure. They can do little but provide romantic interludes between the heroic exploits of the screen stalwarts.

Yes, movies today are patterned around the male talents. But such was not always true.

The greatest star of the silent era was a girl named Mary Pickford. And the top attraction of the early '30s was another girl, Shirley Temple.

In fact, that decade before the war can be considered the heyday of the female star. The box office polls were then crowded with names like Janet Gaynor, Bette Davis, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunne, Greer Garson, Ingrid Bergman, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, etc.

That was when the public was intrigued with the stories of women—deep, penetrating, romantic. But the war changed all that.

The return to realism did away with romance and brought audiences back to hard facts. And so the girls have to take a back seat to the clowns, crooners and rugged heroes.

But, who knows?—the women may have their day again.

Soviet Papers Laud Stalin

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today quoted the Soviet newspaper Pravda as saying millions of people will see Stalin's recent statement on international affairs as a "bright new manifestation of the peace-loving policy of the Soviet government."

The broadcast was the first Russian reaction heard here to the Soviet Premier's answers to four written questions put to him by James Reston, New York Times reporter.

In his replies, Stalin professed a desire to co-operate in any "new diplomatic approach" to end the Korean War and claimed Russia is interested in ending it. He also said he regarded favorably the possibility of diplomatic talks with representatives of President-elect Eisenhower "looking toward the possibility of a later conference between Eisenhower and himself."

The Moscow broadcast quoted Pravda—organ of the Soviet Communist party—as saying:

"Stalin's replies to the New York Times once more stress Soviet readiness to collaborate in work ending the war in Korea. Stalin's replies published on the eve of the new year give hundreds of millions of people new strength in the struggle for peace, for ending the policy of force and aggression, for ending the grasping war against the peace-loving Korean people, for regulating international questions by peaceful talks."

"Millions of people see in these answers a new bright manifestation of the peace-loving policy of the Soviet government, a policy directed toward strengthening universal peace toward the development of peaceful collaboration between peoples."

Koje Youngsters Have Christmas

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—Santa Claus even found a moment to visit this bleak prisoner of war island.

Twenty-three Korean children whose mothers are behind barbed wire donned paper hats and played with balloons and candy-filled stockings.

A Christmas party was staged in the schoolhouse within the stockade where the prisoner of war mothers and children live. They are separated by barbed wire from thousands of Communist war captives.

The Allied POW Command said: "The mothers, at first suspicious, relaxed and let their youngsters enjoy themselves."

Triplets Born In Home, Hospital

LACKAWANNA, N. Y. (AP)—Triplets were born within 45 minutes to Mrs. Christine Paszkiewicz yesterday—one at home and two in the hospital.

Mary, weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces arrived at home a few minutes before 1 p.m.

Then an ambulance sped Mrs. Paszkiewicz a quarter of a mile to Our Lady of Victory Hospital, where Michael, 3 pounds 9 ounces, was born at 1:13. Marie, 3 pounds 13 ounces, came at 1:41.

The hospital said the 32-year-old mother and the babies all were in good condition. A spokesman said the children were born about two months prematurely.

The father, John, is a 30-year-old grain miller. They have three other girls: Aurelia, 11; Rose Marie, 9; and Marcia, 5.

Actress To Try To Lose Yorkshire Accent

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The Women: A movie cutie who hails from merrie old England is confessing that she's about to become the first British actress in Hollywood to deliberately comb the bestbeak pie and Yorkshire pudding out of her voice.

Until now most London imports have rushed back to the Old Vic in a huff at the suggestion that they shelve the Stratford-on-Avon tones. But not pretty Dawn Adams, who plays Priscilla in MGM's "The Plymouth Adventure." Says Dawn: "I don't think England will turn against me for trying to overcome my accent. Hollywood isn't making as many pictures calling for British backgrounds and casts. Actors from France and Italy work to overcome their accents. What's wrong with a British actress trying?"

Worried not at all about the London press barbequeing her if she's caught with a trace of Ohio, Kansas or Alabama in her voice, Dawn says:

"Really, I'd like to be able to talk like Judy Holiday and Jean Arthur if the parts call for it. I'm trying to get an American voice—and my career will be the better for it."

It's going to be a blow to male moviegoers who watched her rolling gait in "Ten Tall Men" and "Willie and Joe Back Up Front," but U-I is putting the kibosh on Mari Blanchard's super-sexy body movements in "The Prince of Baghdad."

Mari, possessor of the swiftest, swiftest walk since Mae West undulated before the cameras, is being slowed down to a few rolls and losses in the film that's launching her as the No. 1 glamour girl on the lot.

And it's tough for me to hold back," she said. "I have to stiffen up before I take a step. I just naturally walk that way. It's perfect posture and it's not deliberate. I don't swing my hips. That's vulgar. I lead with my shoulders and the walk just happens."

Meet Hollywood's Star for a Day—Angela Clarke.

Handsome Angela of the classic features was unknown to moviegoers even to most Hollywood stars until Warners looked at her performance in "The Miracle of Fatima" and gave her five-pointed billing with Gilbert Roland.

Now she's back playing small featured roles "and I don't care if I ever get star billing again," she told me on the set of "Jamaica Seas."

Other movie queens can scream for time off to gab about in Europe or float in their swimming pools—Barbara Stanwyck's skipping the vacations. Now working in "Nearer My God to Thee," Barbara has
