Archie Moore Looks for First Payday

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Archie Moore is one fighter who means it when he says he'll be a fighting champion.

Moore, who shook Joey Maxim, the Japanese sandman, out of the customers' hair, has to be.

While at 36, Moore is two years younger than Jersey Joe Walcott's admitted 38, the South St. Louis Negro realizes that time is running out on him.

He could use a payday. He was flat broke only two years ago. While he has made as many as $10,000 a year, he hasn't averaged $15,000 for the lot. He has had to operate a chicken shack in San Diego to make both ends meet. He fought Maxim for nothing more than the crack at the lightweight crown.

After 15 years, the last eight of which he was the ranking challenger, Moore finally hopes to get a fight at Madison Square Garden.

His most unusual case is a striking example of just how hard it is for a fighter, even a superlative one, to get anywhere these

ARCHIE MOORE... he's in demand now

It doesn't pay to be too good nowadays, with the matchmaking in reverse and losers getting the television assignments.

When Moore asked a manager for a date with his tiger, the reply would be: "We're not bothering you are we, Archie?"

Eddie Egan, then head of the New York body, told Moore he was a commissioner, not a matchmaker.

Moore, the first prize fighter to put up his hands behind a mustache and goatee, has to make up for lost time in the financial department. He relates story after story about being shortchanged.

Maxim and Ray Robinson drew $42,000, and got another $90,000 for theater TV. The next night, in Baltimore, the undersized Moore tackled towering Clarence Henry and drew $23,000 only because it was a benefit.

With Randy Turpin, a worthy challenger clamoring for a rubber match, Robinson was stepping out of his class.

Henry was the third ranking heavyweight challenger, one who would have drawn well against Walcott or Rocky Marciano.

"You couldn't have gotten Maxim or Robinson into a ring with Henry at gun point," says Moore. "But I beat him, could have knocked him out, I believe, if I had put the pressure on. So Robinson got close to $200,000 and I got $5,000, one of my bigger 'buses'."

The rags part of the Moore story has been written, and he richly deserves the riches. The newest champion had to leave high school in his first year and go to work. He wound up in a training school for bad boys, then a Civilian Conservation Corps camp.

After a highly successful trip to Australia in 1939, Moore, in early March of '40, following 10 fierce bouts with Eddie Becker, a swifty, fainter in the backyard of his San Diego home.

He was operated on for a perforated ulcer, was unconscious for six days, in a hospital for 38 days, his weight dropped from 160 pounds to 110. Doctors said he could never box again. He didn't for nearly two years.

People get ulcers from worrying. Now that he has something to sell, and someone else wants it, Archie Moore shouldn't have anything more to worry about.

OTI On Shy End Of 76-53

Oregon Tech made a battle of it just in the first quarter last night in Bremerton, Wash., as Olympic Junior College pulled away to a 39-23 halftime lead to register a spanking 76-53 victory over the touring Owls.

Frank Fulmer, a Port Angeles, Wash., all-state prep, was the big difference. The 65 center dumped 11 field goals and six free throws for 28 points.

Team captain, forward Bob Ellison, had 20.

Jerry Wyatt led Oretech with 14. The Owls grabbed a 3-0 lead but after Olympic tied it 4-1, then went ahead, it was no contest. Oregon Tech caught only about 20 per cent of its shots. The Washington marksmen were much better.

Olympic led 15-11 at the end of one frame but bulged it to 39-23 at the half and 63-33 at the end of three quarters.

The Owls rallied in the last quarter against Olympic reserves but they had too far to go.

Oregon Tech steps into Mt. Vernon tonight for a game with Skagit Valley JC.

Kansas State Moves to Top

Huskies Fifth In AP Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas State took over first place in the Associated Press basketball poll today as La Salle of Philadelphia, upset by DePaul, skidded to third. Seton Hall moved up a notch to second. The top 10 generally underwent a good shaking up but there were only two new faces in the group—Tulsa, No. 8, and Minnesota, No. 9, who moved in to oust Louisiana State and North Carolina State.

LSU was soundly thrashed by Tulsa last week, 84-58, while N. C. State took an unexpected lacing from St. John's of Brooklyn, 67-56. Minnesota beat second-ranking Illinois, 77-73.

CHIEF WIN

Kansas State's chief exploit of the week was a 93-69 triumph over Oklahoma. One hundred and one sportswriters and broadcasters participating in the poll, were sufficiently impressed to move the Wildcats from fifth to first place and give them 512 points.

Seton Hall had 507 points and La Salle 381.

Here's how the new top 10 stacks up: Kansas State, Seton Hall, La Salle, Illinois, Washington, Holy Cross, Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa, Minnesota and Western Kentucky.

ILLINOIS DROPS

Illinois fell from second to fourth as a result of its defeat by Minnesota. Washington, twice winner over St. Louis, climbed from seventh to fifth. Idle Holy Cross dropped two notches to sixth.

The rankings are based on games through last Saturday night and do not include last night's contests.

Kansas State won its sixth game in seven starts by trimming Yale, 79-70, in the Big Seven Tournament at Kansas City last night.

The leaders with points based on ten for first place, nine for second, etc., with first-place votes in parentheses:

Yank Duo Blasted By Sedgman, McGregor

By GAYLE TALBOT
ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—America's Davis Cup debacle became complete today when Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert collapsed under the fierce pressure applied by Ken McGregor and Frank Sedgman and lost the deciding doubles match by scores of 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

The blistering defeat will go down as one of the most one-sided in cup history.

Numerous times in the past teams have dropped the first three matches in the Challenge Round but research fails to uncover when one side was able to win only one set in two days.

Seixas and Trabert really never had a chance against the brilliant Aussie pair today. From the moment Trabert dropped his opening service to give the Aussies a 3-0 jump it was completely obvious

Sawyer Quits Baseball

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eddie Sawyer, fired last June as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, announced Tuesday he was quitting baseball in favor of private business.

Sawyer, popular former Ithaca, N. Y. college professor, who directed the Phillies to the 1950 National League pennant, was removed in mid-season this year as manager and given a job in the club's front office. He was succeeded by genial Steve O'Neill.

RUMORS

His retirement from baseball after 18 years in the game in both the minor and major leagues, dispelled recurrent rumors that Sawyer would succeed Fred Haney as pilot of the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League.

Haney recently was named as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, a post for which Sawyer also had been mentioned.

"I wouldn't be interested in a minor league job," Sawyer said adding:

"They have enough brains in the front office."

FUTURE PLANS

"I decided to step out and go into business where I can make as much money as I did with the Phillies." He declined to say exactly what his future plans were.

Sawyer was in the first year of a three year contract at a reported $35,000 a year, plus bonuses based on attendance, when he was dismissed. He has at least $70,000 coming to him under the contract. If the bonuses were voided, even if the bonuses were voided.

Tech to Use 'Belly Play'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Georgia Tech will depend on its belly play to generate yardage against Mississippi's Rebels even though the Engineers believe their Sugar Bowl football opponents have prepared defenses against them.

The uniquely-named play "has been our top ground-gainer all year," Coach Bobby Dodd of Tech said. "It isn't a secret weapon, but is something we've used all year."

Here's how the play works from Tech's conventional T offense:

Quarterback Bill Brigrman gets the ball from All-America center Pete Brown and runs straight back sticking the ball into the stomach of one of his halfbacks—Leon Hardeman or Billy Teas.

With both holding the ball they run toward the line and at the last minute Brigrman decides whether to give the ball to his halfback or keep it.

If he keeps it, he can run or pitch out to another back, who either runs or pitches to the line.

The Sugar Bowl crowd of 80,000 and a nationwide television audience will probably see a lot of the play.

Hill Rates Game Even

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The man who will guide Wisconsin into the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, Coach Ivan B. Ivy Williamson, said Tuesday he thinks the Trojans of Southern California rate the edge according to the experts in pre-game calculations.

Southern California's coach, Jess Hill, sticks to another view. He feels this clash between the co-champions of the Big Ten and his Coast Conference titleholders is "strictly even."

Williamson bases his belief mainly on the ground that "USC has a more impressive record than we have"—nine straight victories, including such victims as Northwestern, Army, California and UCLA, and one defeat, to Notre Dame, in the season's wins.

Thus far, Southern California has had no casualties on worry has been mending the hole in his defensive secondary occasioned by the loss of halfback Jim Pasalis through an ineligibleity ruling by the Coast Conference.

Hoyas Stop Seattle But Not O'Brien

BOSTON (AP)—Johnny O'Brien lived up to advance notices and even set another record but his Seattle University Chiefs were reduced to the consolation round of the second annual Boston Invitation basketball tournament at the Arena Monday night.

A tall, sharpshooting band of Hoyas from Georgetown remained undefeated by whipping Seattle 79-70 in a first round contest. The fast breaking Rhode Island Rams edged Boston College 72-68 in the nightcap.

Seattle meets Boston in the consolation final Tuesday night with Georgetown tackling Rhode Island.

Johnny O. did everything they said he could despite strong defensive performances by the Hoyas. He was watched closely, though, and had to get 16 of his 26 points on the free throw line.

That broke the Garden-Arena mark of 14 set by Holy Cross star Bob Cousy, now a top professional player in the Celtics.

Johnny's 26 points gave him a 2,646-point total for his four-year collegiate career, a new all-time mark. Bill Bolger of Georgetown snipped Johnny O. for scoring honors by dunking 29 points.

Broncos Quit Grid

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—The University of Santa Clara, once a national football power, has quit intercollegiate football because it cost too much.

Officials of the Jesuit school, last of the Pacific Coast's Catholic colleges, said the school lost about $80,000 this season on the sport and $72,000 in 1951.

Santa Clara's president, the Rev. Herman J. Hauck, S. J., said Tuesday the move was made regretfully "in deference to the general economic welfare of the university."

The Broncos had scheduled eight games for 1953, including Stanford, Texas, Rice, California, Miami, Idaho, San Jose State and College of the Pacific.

Santa Clara's head coach, Dick Gallaiger, had resigned last month to rejoin the professional Cleveland Browns as scout. The assistant coaches now lose jobs.

The university has fielded football team since 1902, except in world wars. It went twice to the Bay Bowl, in 1937 and '38, and upset Kentucky 21-13 in Miami's Orange Bowl in 1950.

Powerboat Marks Fall

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Five powerboat racers racked up new records in the Orange Bowl Regatta Monday but a 25-year-old housewife grabbed the spotlight when she was clocked at more than 100 miles an hour.

Mrs. Mildred Foulke, Baltimore, Md., drove the Sagana XIII owned by her husband, Frank, at an average of 111.289 over the measured mile.

She thus became the first woman of record to drive a boat at such speeds although her performance did not break the record set by Bobby Sykes Long Beach, Calif., at 121.703 miles per hour last August.

Howard Johnson's Mismaster from Los Angeles was driven by Lou Nuta, Jr., Miami, at a record 122.039 miles an hour, bettering Sykes' mark for 266 cubic inch hydroplanes.

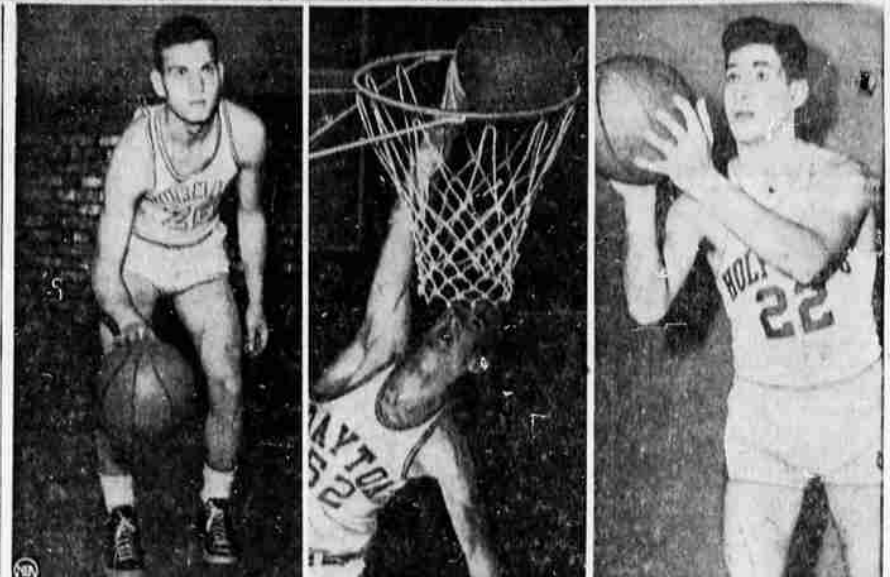

Bill Mowley, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., sped at 44.450 miles an hour to break the old mark of 47.397 set by Jack Leek, Tacoma, Wash., at Seattle last Nov. 8 in a stock hydroplane.

Times Honors 24 Athletes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Twenty-four top figures of the sports world have been honored at the 10th National Sports Award Dinner sponsored by the Los Angeles Times.

More than 1,200 fans attended the testimonial affair at the Ambassador Hotel Monday night.

Among those honored were: Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees, centerfielder, baseball; Clyde Lovellette, Kansas University, basketball; Jim Sears, USC, and Donn Moomaw, UCLA, both football; Norman Van Brocklin, Los Angeles Rams, pro football; Julius Boros, pro golfer; Jack Westland, Everett, Wash., amateur golfer.

HIGH MEN—Frank Selvy (left), fifth top scorer in the nation last season, paces the Furman attack. Six-foot-eight John Horan (center) puts the ball in the basket for Dayton. Togo Palazzi is busting scoring records at Holy Cross.

Jayhawks in Way Of Number One K-State

By The Associated Press
Kansas State, the nation's new No. 1 college basketball power, goes after its third Big Seven tournament title Tuesday night, but a familiar club stands in the way, the Kansas Jayhawks.

K-State Tuesday replaces LaSalle of Philadelphia as the top team in the Associated Press poll, and Tuesday night the Wildcats will try to prove their right to the No. 1 ranking by whipping Kansas.

The K-Staters eased into the finals of the Big Seven tourney Monday night by tripping Yale,

Wyoming, Idaho Win In Upsets

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Idaho and Wyoming, two upstart-minded "basketball" teams, clash in one semi-final feature of the 17th annual All-College Tournament here Tuesday night, while two powerhouse—Oklahoma City University and Oklahoma A&M—meet in the other.

The two Western teams, rated as underdogs in the tourney, pulled major upsets in the first round Monday, Idaho blasting Western Kentucky, the No. 10 team in the nation, 78-60, and Wyoming tumbling previously undefeated Tulsa 58-48.

Oklahoma A&M reached the round of four with a 68-61 win over Penn State, and OGU stopped Bowling Green, 65-58.

Idaho, the nation's leading defensive team, pounded the bucket for its biggest collection of points this season in ousting the favored Kentucky quintet.

The 135 points made by the two teams was a new tourney mark, topping the 134 made in 1949 when Baylor defeated Tulane 69-65 in Bayler.

Julius Boros To Compete

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Pro Golfer of the year, Julius Boros, is going to compete in the 27th annual $20,000 Los Angeles Open, for which Marshall Hall of Long Beach set the pace Monday with two rounds of 69 for 138, one stroke better than Charles Congdon of Tacoma, Wash.

Boros drove in from North Carolina. He previously had indicated he would not compete here this time, but showed up on the Riviera course to the surprise of everyone.

Top amateur was Irving Cooper of Long Beach with 142.

Merrill, Malin In Non-Leaguer

Merrill visits Malin and Bly goes to Lakeview tonight in non-conference games.

J. A. I. O. F. variety preliminary games start at 7:30.

Malin holds a 34-28 non-league win over the Huskies this season. Lakeview is the only team to beat Sacred Heart in six games and will be favored to beat Bly.

Wreckers Tournery Winners

The Sixth Street Wreckers held the Gun Store to five points in the last quarter last night, potted 12 themselves for a 47-43 victory in the final game of the holiday Victory League tournament.

The Gun Store held the lead at the end of the first three quarters, 21-19 at the half and 38-25 going into the last frame. But Bob Flora dumped two field goals in the last quarter, George Hanson, Dick Lundsten and Ron Owings one each as the Gunners were being held to just five points.

Lou Fredrickson scored 13 for the Wreckers, Hanson and Owings 12 each, Chuck Boettcher led the Gun Store with 14.

Bell Gets Fish Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service Monday appointed Milo C. Bell, chief technical adviser to the Washington State director of fisheries, as a consulting engineer assigned to work on a Columbia River Basin federal fishery program.

Fish and Wildlife Director Albert M. Day said Bell will be the agency's liaison officer, working with agencies concerned with dam construction in Washington and Oregon.
