

Frei-Myers Wedding December 26th

MRS. GEORGE LINDLEY . . . charming grandmother of the bridegroom, who poured at the reception.

Photos by Forbes

BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM . . . and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Frei, left; and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Myers.

IN CIRCLE . . . directly above, Mrs. Hans Frei, bride's mother, escorted by her son, John Frei, who served as usher and candlelighter. In background, Russell Smith, usher. Right of circle, Mr. Frei escorts his daughter down the aisle. Lower right, Georgia Myers, younger brother of the bridegroom, candlelighter, poses with his brother and new sister-in-law. Lower center, maid of honor; Rosemary and James; and to their right, Tom Sloan, the best man.

BEFORE THE CEREMONY . . . bride poses with her attendants. From the left, Faye Peugh, bridesmaid; Suzanne Joy Frei, sister of the bride, maid of honor; and Shirley Baldwin, bridesmaid.

MRS. JAMES LINDLEY MYERS . . . mer- double-ring ceremony in Peace Memorial an Church. She is the former Rosemary The pretty bride and her husband are of well known Kamath families, and are the younger set. At the right, Gunning ; Russell Smith, center; and Bill Staunton,

SOCIETY

by Milly Ramsby

Holiday Cocktail Party

In New Home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Eccles

December 27th

THEIR BEAUTIFUL NEW HOME . . . 220 Conger Avenue, was the setting for the first party they have given since its completion. Mr. and Mrs. Julian Eccles entertained over 150 guests during the evening at a festive holiday cocktail party. The river setting is a perfect background for the large house, designed along simple, impressive lines; and built of Philippine mahogany inside and out. Mellowness and a lived-in look prevail in the interior. A huge window along one side of the living room commands a sweeping view of Link River, brightly illuminated at night with floodlights. On the stairway, the Eccles exchange a toast before the guests arrive. With them before the fireplace, are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Boland, early guests of the evening. The household includes their two children, Ralph Parker, 2 1/2; and Edward Parker (Teddy), 1 1/2; and two pets, a cocker spaniel and a cat.

Photos by Floyd et Underwoods