Ex - OSC Staff Nominations

OREGON STATE COLLEGE — Two former staff members of the Oregon State college school of home economics—Olga P. Brucher, a 1929 OSC graduate, and Claribel Rye—are included on the list of six women recommended for appointment as home economics assistants to the new secretary of agriculture.

After graduating with honors from OSC, Miss Brucher served on the staff as a foods instructor for three years before going to Columbia University for advanced study. At the present time, she is dean of the college of home economics at the University of Rhode Island.

Miss Rye, who was state leader of home economics extension in Oregon from 1930 to 1935, is well remembered throughout the state for her homemaker activities. She is now assistant to the director of the California extension service.

Recommendations for appointment to the important post came from the American Home Economics association.
