Dulles Hopes High For Formation Of European Peace Community Soon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says "there is a good chance" for formation of a European Defense Community but he hopes that "concrete evidence" of progress will be forthcoming promptly.

Dulles gave that report of his impressions of a flying trip to European capitals, from which he returned Monday, in a radio and television broadcast to the nation last night.

He cautioned that the alternatives to formation of a European Defense Community are "considerably weaker," and he said the security of Europe itself and in some degree the security of the United States depend upon successful accomplishment of the undertaking.

Six European nations—Italy, France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—signed a treaty to create the EDC last May. Dulles said it was then expected to be ratified and related arrangements for tying it to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be ratified and made operative in six months. Actually, he noted, months have passed and ratification is still lacking.

This has been "disconcerting" to the U. S., Dulles said, because American security plans are based upon eventual inclusion of German military strength in the Western European defense system. That, he said, is what the EDC wants to accomplish.

EDC was developed by European leaders, he declared, and in supporting it the U. S. has not "been trying to impress an American scheme on Europe."

In the past seven years, he said, this country has contributed 30 billion dollars to Europe and stationed "tens of thousands of our armed forces" there because European security vitally affects American security.

"But our effort," he continued, "will not be a military force Europe, of ourselves, or humanity, unless it fits into a constructive program for European unity. Nothing that the U. S. can do will ever be enough to make Europe safe if it is divided into rival national camps."

"President Eisenhower himself said recently that he was impressed with the 'feebleness' of alternatives to the European Defense Community."

The Eisenhower administration is understood to have no alternative plan for the defense of Western Europe under a formal study having committed itself instead to EDC.

There are at least two theoretical alternatives. One would be for the U. S. to make direct arrangements for the treatment of Western Germany, though that is considered virtually impossible because of French opposition; and the other would be for the U. S. to make new plans for a "peripheral defense" built upon bases in England, Spain, Greece and other positions outside the heart of Europe.

EDC has been pressing for faster action on EDC so he can demonstrate to Congress in the first part of April that strong defenses are in prospect and justify further U. S. aid to European forces. He hopes to be able to go to the North Atlantic Treaty meeting at Paris April 23 with assurances that U. S. aid will be continued for another year on a scale the administration considers adequate.

He described this situation to European leaders on his trip—he visited London in addition to the continental capitals—but, he said last night, neither gave nor received any "concrete promises or pledges."

"We did come back," he said, "with the feeling that there is a good chance that the European Defense Community will be brought into being. There are plenty of hurdles to be overcome. But we believe that there is a will to proceed."

"We hope that in the coming weeks this determination will be translated into concrete evidence that real progress is being made. Without that, future planning will be difficult. Candor requires us to say this."

"The Rock" Said Too Expensive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The warden of America's toughest prison—Alcatraz—Thursday said the institution is too expensive to maintain and should be transferred to an inland location.

Warden Edwin B. Swope said a "maximum security" penitentiary is vital in the nation's penal system, however, and the Alcatraz-type prison should not be abandoned.

"The fact that we have an Alcatraz," he said, "is the biggest single factor in maintaining peace in the 30 other federal prisons. We will always have to segregate the few real trouble makers."

Prisoner upkeep on the 12-acre island fortress in San Francisco Bay is more than twice as much as in other prisons, Swope told newsmen. It costs $80 just to haul a large load of water to "The Rock." The island has 229 prisoners.

Pink-walled Alcatraz is virtually escape proof. Only two inmates are unaccounted for in its 18-year existence. Ralph Roe and Theodore Cole, convicted of bank robbery and kidnaping, disappeared in a fog December, 1937. They are listed as drowned.

The bloodiest escape attempt occurred in May, 1946. Two guards and three convicts were killed as rioters seized control of the main cell block for 24 hours.

Prison security has improved 90 per cent since then, Swope said, and such an outbreak could not happen again. "We have the best system of bars and mechanical devices."

However, such maximum security could be maintained elsewhere, Swope said.
