

K. F. Gets First Flower Class

A well-known horticulturist in gardening circles, Mrs. C. F. Gregg, Eugene, and a Washington State expert in flower arranging and staging, Mrs. Franck Nehammer, will assist here, April 22-24 in the first classes in a flower show school ever held in Klamath Falls.

The classes, which will cover instruction in show staging, flower arranging and horticulture, will be held in the city library club rooms.

The first two days will be devoted to lectures and the third to examinations.

Registration starts at 9 a.m. the opening day with classes opening at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Scott (Lois) McKendree, Klamath Falls, is serving as district flower show school chairman. The course is open to anyone interested but only those belonging to a Federated Garden club are eligible to take the examinations. It is also the first course in a series of five necessary to become an accredited judge.

Cost of the course is $5, small fee made necessary to defray traveling and living expenses of the instructors who do not charge for their time and printing.

In addition, each student who takes the examination must have a copy of "The Handbook for Flower Shows", priced at $2.50 which will be on sale at the library at the time of registration.

Other outside required reading for the course includes, "The How and Why of Better Gardening" by Laurence Manning, and "The Complete Book of Flower Arranging" by Rockwell and Grayson. The latter is in both city and county libraries and Shaw's will carry both volumes.

loads of Lakeview, NPC and Willow Ranchites slithered to Alturas for one of the classic basketball games between Alturas Hi and Lakeview Hi.

What game! Alturas won the B game by two points in overtime play and the "A's" of Lakeview won 52 to 47 in the varsity tussle. All four teams were so evenly matched that the excited, boisterous spectators had no inkling whatsoever which team would win. After all—it was luffly that each school got a win, for each had substantial alibis for losing.

And say! that Pit River stretch was treacherous. The road was so slick that when you stopped your car, vibrations from its running motor would wriggle it right off the road. Oh! Oh! Please pass the salt—Well, anyway—it was so slick that several cars went off in the borrow pit and there was at least one car wrecked, we're unhappy to say. The way we saw, thirty miles an hour was top speed for that stretch — that night. Even next morning Art Lenkeit said he sweat a gallon of salt water trying to keep his car in the road on his way to the wildlife meeting.

Plans are shaping up for the big inter-county March of Dimes dance to be sponsored by the East Side Grange here on March 14. There will be two orchestras on hand to furnish tunes for the occasion gratis. The "Diary Five" will take over for the first two hours, then a group of musicians composed of Mrs. Bill Kelo, on the piano; Mrs. Helen Bradley, on the accordion; "Whitey" Foster on his silver-tone trombone; Robert Paris, on his alto sax; Bill Kelo, strumming drums; Kelton Vincent, wooing on the guitar and myself on the fiddle—dee—dee . . . Doggone I hope everyone and his pet coon show up to make this dance memorable for its productivity of the stuff with which the cause must be met — somehow.

There will be no ticket sales made in advance so if anyone should care to donate the price of a ticket ($1.00) who don't dance or can't come—all's well.

So far everyone has co-operated splendidly and the outlook augurs well for a sure-enough good time on March 14. Ray Beber will throw in the chips—chips of dills and a box of potatoes chips to help the supper along.

Ray was truly the image of a very anxious father, waiting for his son, Spike, to arrive or call from San Francisco. Spike who has been serving for the last year in the cavalry or motorized infantry in Korea, was to arrive in Frisco today—a few days ahead of schedule. He then was to call his dad somewhere along the specialty service truck circuit. Hope he calls. Ray could sell twice as much stuff then—I betcha!

Mrs. Lillian Reid, recently returned from a trip down south, entertained the NPC Needle Club at her home last Saturday afternoon. As usual the ladies spent a lovely social afternoon. There were twelve members present, 4 children and one guest, Mrs. Ida Lee Butler. Delightful refreshments of creamed chicken in patty-shells, pickles, olives, jelly, a pear salad, punch and coffee, were served.

The VFW is sponsoring a free movie, "Virginia City" at the Antler's Hall Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. There will also be refreshments served aft. Rudy Estrom, of Willow Ranch is furnishing the movie. An iron lung will be gassing for shekels right handy like — for your convenience in helping the March of Dimes. The public is invited to this event. Let your conscience be at ease by expanding the intake of the iron lung!

Mr. D. H. McKenna and wife, Nettie R. have taken a five year lease on the two acres at the west side of town, along the creek, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cruson. They plan to use the land for a building site.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

MR. AND MRS. W. R. SCOGGINS . . . 1335 Sargent, announce the engagement of their daughter, Freda, to Louis Di Nunzio Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Di Nunzio, Youngstown, Ohio. A March wedding is planned.

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE E. ALEXANDER . . . 4415 Peck Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Muri Mr. and Mrs. George A. Metz, 1630 East Main. Date has been set for April 4, in the First Christian Church.

quated, forlorn little village sure needs that mill in operation — worse than Lakeview needs two more dentists in operation. . . . Might be able to get an appointment for a sack of feed then without having to mortgage the farm to get the job done — especially when the bottom has disappeared from the egg mart! Temporarily at least.

When Billie Madison and Perry Tilson got their feet back on terra firma, in the bottom of Kelly Creek Canyon week ago last Sunday, they were sure were a couple of tired hombres.

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds. The going over the slippery surface was very difficult and at times very dangerous. They used snow shoes and pulled over a hundred pound load of supplies, bedding, wood and a pup tent on a toboggan. But on top they removed the snow-shoes.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.

"Next time," said Billie while taking a breather, "We'll know better what to bring along."

"Next time," hummed Perry, "We'll know better—not to bring ourselves along."

They mortally froze for it turned out, unfortunately, to be two of our coldest nights and we thought about those boys up there. They had borrowed the snow-shoes from the boys at the Buck Creek Ranger station. They, too, were somewhat solicitous about the two young adventurers, when they failed to come in the second day out.

It was indeed a happy reunion for a couple of octogenarians when 88 year old Lt. H. T. Hughtart, Spanish American War vet paid a surprise visit to 80 year old Tom Roberts and wife, last weekend. It had been 52 years since the mustering out of the Michigan 34th Volunteer Infantry Regiment when Mr. Roberts had last seen his commanding officer, Lt. Hughtart. The flash the two old soldiers made of their reminiscences musta been something! Worth even a recording and emission over the radio.

Mr. Hughtart's home is in Hamel, Minn., but he spends much of his time traveling around over the country. Where feasible, he stops off to reminisce with other buddies in his regiment of whom only 13 now remain and they live again in the memories of that glorified day in American history, long gone and almost forgotten. Mr. Hughtart in appearance remains the true soldier type—straight of back, robust in health, sharp brown eyes, a strong memory.

PLAYERS CLUB

A wonderful time and excellent food was the opinion expressed by all who attended the annual dinner party for Players Club held Wednesday evening March 4, at the Yacht Club. Members and their guests met at seven p.m. for a social hour followed by a crab feed.

The remainder of the evening was enjoyed with bridge and pinocle. High score in bridge was awarded to Mrs. J. Gwyn Martin and low to Mrs. Robert A. Wood. High in pinocle went to Mrs. J. T. Allen Jr., and low to Mrs. H. H. Madole. Mrs. Frank Bogstoy won the special prize.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Earl Murphy, Mrs. Fred Ervin, Mrs. E. W. Kramer and Mrs. W. Scott Oppelt.

Next regular meeting is scheduled for March 18 in the Library Club rooms.

QUOTA CLUB

Lucille Graham, Seattle, governor of the 14th district of Quota International, made her official visit to the Klamath Quota Club Monday evening when a business meeting and dinner was held in the Empire room at the Winema.

In an informal manner, the governor discussed district and international activities, and urged the start of an annual seminar for new club presidents in the 14th district, the first of which will probably be held this year in Seattle about the middle of May. By this get-together the presidents could not only be instructed on their duties and obligations, but would have the opportunity to become acquainted with each other.

During her talk, Mrs. Graham stressed tolerance, friendship and service to others, particularly personal service which she believed counts far more in the long run than does financial service. She also explained the purpose of the international scholarship fund, money for which is now being raised from the various districts or clubs and by gifts from individuals. She was presented with a check from the Klamath club to be added to the donation from this district.

During the business hour, presided over by President, Ade Sproat, a report on the county juvenile home was given by Helen Majors, chairman for service and welfare. In December, Quotarians started a fund to purchase individual toys for children being cared for at the home, and Mrs. Majors who was in charge of selecting these, pointed out the extreme need of clothing and other items for these children, urging the club to keep this for a year-around project. At the close of her report, the governor expressed special approval of this type of service, stating that Seattle Quotarians are now vitally interested in that city's new juvenile home which has everything but the personnel to operate it.

Cardula Ellis reported that there will soon be another printing of the Quota Quizzes, a clever hard-to-hear hearing pamphlet which is being patented and which is distributed throughout the first four grades of the schools. Flo Wallace reminded members of the bingo party scheduled for March 23 when guests are to be invited, and announced that the rummage sale date has been changed to April.

Hazel Morrison, treasurer, presented a printed financial report, and other committee reports were given by Anna Anderson, Elizabeth Derby and Joy Rolph.

The birthday gifts were awarded to Mildred Crawford and Cardula Ellis.

At the close of the meeting, Alice Vitus, past district governor, entertained Mrs. Graham and members of the club at her home.

4-H NEWS

MALIN BREAKFAST CLUB

The meeting was called to order by Yvonne Chilcoat. We meet at the leaders home, Mrs. Bert Burns. We made a bunch of cookies that were very good and planned a tea for our Mothers. Five members were present. We adjourned and will meet again Thursday, Feb. 24th. April Gubert for Darlene Hadley, whose fiance is Jerold Dillavou; given by Mrs. Max Cline, Mrs. Clark Abbott and Mrs. Della McAlliff. The gold linen cloth on the refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations. Darlene's mother, Mrs. Herbert Hadley assisted her in opening the many gifts. Seventy guests were served refreshments; and Nancy Tibbitts and Shirley Dillavou were at the coffee and tea services.

LARGE BRIDAL SHOWER . . .

ments served aft. Rudy Estrom, of Willow Ranch is furnishing the movie. An iron lung will be gassing for shekels right handy like — for your convenience in helping the March of Dimes. The public is invited to this event. Let your conscience be at ease by expanding the intake of the iron lung!

Mr. D. H. McKenna and wife, Nettie R. have taken a five year lease on the two acres at the west side of town, along the creek, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cruson. They plan to use the land for a building site.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

MR. AND MRS. POWELL A. TURNER . . . 3931 Bristol, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Gary Cahoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Parke C. Cahoon, 317 McKinley. No date has been set for the wedding.

Klamath Nile Club Luncheon

Attended by Over 80 Members

The Klamath Nile Club met Wednesday, March 4, in the Pelican Party Room for its regular monthly luncheon. In charge of the meeting were the newly elected officers for the year: Charlotte Osborn, president; Peggy Chilcote, vice president; and Florence West, secretary-treasurer.

An entertaining program was presented by the committee, including Ruth O'Harra, Mildred Dimbat, and Vivian Owens. A Junior High School quartet, composed of Jerry Fremo, Wayne Pounds, Milton Stone, and Donald Finney, directed by Miss Ruth Lebaugh, sang four numbers. A humorous gossip column was given by Ruth O'Harra, after which the group joined in singing Irish songs.

The president announced the following committee chairmen for the coming year: Sewing, Dixie Beber; Bookness and Distress, Grace Huls; Thanksgiving Box, Olive Riach; Christmas Box, Jean Coddington; Calling, Peggy Chilcote; Cards, Claudine Van Buskirk; Birthday Bank, Ada Matthews; hostess, Madeline McLaren; and Publicity, Geraldine Gwaley.

Guests at the meeting were Leta Douglas and Myrtle Myers; a new member, Arthur Stone was welcomed. Florence Steinselger won the birthday prize and Leta Douglas the special prize.

A little more than $50 was disclosed in the birthday bank when it was opened. The club voted to buy gifts for the Salt Lake Shrine hospital with the money. Also the group approved the purchase of twenty scrapbooks for a project presented by Irma Marshall.

Members are asked to check the new membership list which will be mailed soon, and let Florence West or President Charlotte Osborn know if there are any errors in addresses or telephone numbers.

Klamath Nile Club was hostess last month at a tea held during the regular session of Zulueta Temple No. 13, Daughters of the Nile, at Ashland. Those who served on the committee were Mabel Henry, Grace Huls, Phyllis May, Edna Jones, and Charlotte Osborn.

President Charlotte was also one of the hostesses at the Ceremonial of the Temple in Ashland, March 5, at which Supreme Queen Sally Luke of Portland was honored.

Hostesses for the Wednesday meeting were Blanche Marks (chairman), Caroline Fowler, Helen Spiker, Vera Powell, Grace Bereman, Margaret Bigger, Leona Selby, Grace Cole, Ora Reading, Maude Wright, and Mildred Isaacs.

permit us to reform you...

reformation is easy once you're under the influence of this smoothing, soothing Jantzen that slims your waist, puts curves and flats in the proper places.

This one comes in wonderful nylonized nylon, meaning nylon made absorbent, silky-feeling... panty-girdle or girdle ...white, or black... to 12.50

Jantzen 'forever uplift' bras in nylonized nylon... white ... 3.95 to 5.00

Jantzen perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

perfectly natural makers

Pine Creek

There was a slight change in his tone when he spoke of the Barlow. . . .

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.

"Next time," said Billie while taking a breather, "We'll know better what to bring along."

"Next time," hummed Perry, "We'll know better—not to bring ourselves along."

They mortally froze for it turned out, unfortunately, to be two of our coldest nights and we thought about those boys up there. They had borrowed the snow-shoes from the boys at the Buck Creek Ranger station. They, too, were somewhat solicitous about the two young adventurers, when they failed to come in the second day out.

It was indeed a happy reunion for a couple of octogenarians when 88 year old Lt. H. T. Hughtart, Spanish American War vet paid a surprise visit to 80 year old Tom Roberts and wife, last weekend. It had been 52 years since the mustering out of the Michigan 34th Volunteer Infantry Regiment when Mr. Roberts had last seen his commanding officer, Lt. Hughtart. The flash the two old soldiers made of their reminiscences musta been something! Worth even a recording and emission over the radio.

Mr. Hughtart's home is in Hamel, Minn., but he spends much of his time traveling around over the country. Where feasible, he stops off to reminisce with other buddies in his regiment of whom only 13 now remain and they live again in the memories of that glorified day in American history, long gone and almost forgotten. Mr. Hughtart in appearance remains the true soldier type—straight of back, robust in health, sharp brown eyes, a strong memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

quated, forlorn little village sure needs that mill in operation — worse than Lakeview needs two more dentists in operation. . . .

When Billie Madison and Perry Tilson got their feet back on terra firma, in the bottom of Kelly Creek Canyon week ago last Sunday, they were sure were a couple of tired hombres.

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.

"Next time," said Billie while taking a breather, "We'll know better what to bring along."

"Next time," hummed Perry, "We'll know better—not to bring ourselves along."

They mortally froze for it turned out, unfortunately, to be two of our coldest nights and we thought about those boys up there. They had borrowed the snow-shoes from the boys at the Buck Creek Ranger station. They, too, were somewhat solicitous about the two young adventurers, when they failed to come in the second day out.

It was indeed a happy reunion for a couple of octogenarians when 88 year old Lt. H. T. Hughtart, Spanish American War vet paid a surprise visit to 80 year old Tom Roberts and wife, last weekend. It had been 52 years since the mustering out of the Michigan 34th Volunteer Infantry Regiment when Mr. Roberts had last seen his commanding officer, Lt. Hughtart. The flash the two old soldiers made of their reminiscences musta been something! Worth even a recording and emission over the radio.

Mr. Hughtart's home is in Hamel, Minn., but he spends much of his time traveling around over the country. Where feasible, he stops off to reminisce with other buddies in his regiment of whom only 13 now remain and they live again in the memories of that glorified day in American history, long gone and almost forgotten. Mr. Hughtart in appearance remains the true soldier type—straight of back, robust in health, sharp brown eyes, a strong memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

quated, forlorn little village sure needs that mill in operation — worse than Lakeview needs two more dentists in operation. . . .

When Billie Madison and Perry Tilson got their feet back on terra firma, in the bottom of Kelly Creek Canyon week ago last Sunday, they were sure were a couple of tired hombres.

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.

"Next time," said Billie while taking a breather, "We'll know better what to bring along."

"Next time," hummed Perry, "We'll know better—not to bring ourselves along."

They mortally froze for it turned out, unfortunately, to be two of our coldest nights and we thought about those boys up there. They had borrowed the snow-shoes from the boys at the Buck Creek Ranger station. They, too, were somewhat solicitous about the two young adventurers, when they failed to come in the second day out.

It was indeed a happy reunion for a couple of octogenarians when 88 year old Lt. H. T. Hughtart, Spanish American War vet paid a surprise visit to 80 year old Tom Roberts and wife, last weekend. It had been 52 years since the mustering out of the Michigan 34th Volunteer Infantry Regiment when Mr. Roberts had last seen his commanding officer, Lt. Hughtart. The flash the two old soldiers made of their reminiscences musta been something! Worth even a recording and emission over the radio.

Mr. Hughtart's home is in Hamel, Minn., but he spends much of his time traveling around over the country. Where feasible, he stops off to reminisce with other buddies in his regiment of whom only 13 now remain and they live again in the memories of that glorified day in American history, long gone and almost forgotten. Mr. Hughtart in appearance remains the true soldier type—straight of back, robust in health, sharp brown eyes, a strong memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

quated, forlorn little village sure needs that mill in operation — worse than Lakeview needs two more dentists in operation. . . .

When Billie Madison and Perry Tilson got their feet back on terra firma, in the bottom of Kelly Creek Canyon week ago last Sunday, they were sure were a couple of tired hombres.

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.

"Next time," said Billie while taking a breather, "We'll know better what to bring along."

"Next time," hummed Perry, "We'll know better—not to bring ourselves along."

They mortally froze for it turned out, unfortunately, to be two of our coldest nights and we thought about those boys up there. They had borrowed the snow-shoes from the boys at the Buck Creek Ranger station. They, too, were somewhat solicitous about the two young adventurers, when they failed to come in the second day out.

It was indeed a happy reunion for a couple of octogenarians when 88 year old Lt. H. T. Hughtart, Spanish American War vet paid a surprise visit to 80 year old Tom Roberts and wife, last weekend. It had been 52 years since the mustering out of the Michigan 34th Volunteer Infantry Regiment when Mr. Roberts had last seen his commanding officer, Lt. Hughtart. The flash the two old soldiers made of their reminiscences musta been something! Worth even a recording and emission over the radio.

Mr. Hughtart's home is in Hamel, Minn., but he spends much of his time traveling around over the country. Where feasible, he stops off to reminisce with other buddies in his regiment of whom only 13 now remain and they live again in the memories of that glorified day in American history, long gone and almost forgotten. Mr. Hughtart in appearance remains the true soldier type—straight of back, robust in health, sharp brown eyes, a strong memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Runnels returned last weekend from Quincy, Calif., to resume road work for the state down at Camp 39. He has moved into one of the W. C. Starke buildings recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Dibble Bray.

Mr. Oscar Branson left Sunday for Chico where he secured a state highway transfer to road-work there. His family will move down this coming weekend, provided he is successful in obtaining suitable living quarters by that time. Branson has been road-working at Camp 39 on the Joseph creek grading job between Davis Creek and Alturas.

Speaking of Joseph Creek: Last night that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph! that reminds me of: Jay Joseph!

Saturday night when numerous car

quated, forlorn little village sure needs that mill in operation — worse than Lakeview needs two more dentists in operation. . . .

When Billie Madison and Perry Tilson got their feet back on terra firma, in the bottom of Kelly Creek Canyon week ago last Sunday, they were sure were a couple of tired hombres.

They had spent two nights out and nearly 3 days on their expeditionary, twenty mile hike or more from Horse Prairie over near Deep Creek; across the Warner Mt. range, coming out smack dab atop Crane Mt.

Up there the wind howled, in whistled and ricocheted against the icy, glazed bumps, biting into the boys' cheeks with a stinging, needling sensation. The snow on top was better than four feet deep and thickly glazed over like a grotesque photoshadow from far removed fairyland where everything was deeply covered with an opaque, glossy coating of pearly white which took on a tone or iridescent grandeur when the sun peeked out from under the clouds.

By morning when they kindled a camp fire, the embers would be sunken into a ghastly four-foot hole or deeper—with still more snow under them.