Washington, Oregon and California continued to bask in June-like warm, sunny weather Monday.

Seattle's temperature Sunday, while mild, was lower than that of many other cities on both sides of the coastal mountain range.

Other Washington readings Sunday included Hoquiam, 70; Olympia, 63; Kelso, 60; Spokane, 64; and Walla Walla, 70. Oregon and California generally were warmer than Washington Sunday.

In Oregon it was 79 at Roseburg and 75 at Salem.

Gradually cooling temperatures were forecast.

TACOMA (AP) — Eighteen candidates for the new City Council swung into their last day of campaigning here Monday.

If good weather holds, the vote will probably be large. Approximately 30,000 turned out to arrow the field of 99 candidates down to the present 18 on Feb. 10.

With the selection of the new members, the new council will buckle down to the difficult task of finding a city manager, although the new administration will not officially take office until June 1.
