BASEBALL IS COMING
KFJI Your Sports Station

Oh dear!
I wonder what happened?

Suppose you had been watching this tense scene, just as this woman and child did...

Even though you watched and watched, chances are you'd have to do what she did — get a newspaper to get the full story.

Then, for the first time, you'd learn that the girl on the ladder had fallen into the Potomac River, narrowly escaped being swept over the falls, and had clung to a rock for three hours. Then the firemen rescued her.

Being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story... the way you want it... right away... in all its local color.

This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or brief headlines here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"
