Lumber Firm Gets Anti-Labor Order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Campbell and McLean, Inc., Eugene, Ore., Saturday was ordered by a National Labor Relations Board examiner to stop threatening reprisals against employees for union activities.

Examiner Irving Rogosin found the firm, which handles green veneer and plywood, had engaged in unfair labor practices by demoting Winford W. Smith, who was active in the union.

The firm was directed to restore any pay Smith had lost and to reinstate him to his job as plywood patcher.

The instrument which is believed to have received the historic telegraph message, "What Hath God Wrought," in the early testing of the telegraphic method of communication, is a museum piece at Cornell University.

Laboratory Workers Burn Themselves With Simulated Atom Blast In Experiment

By FRANK CAREY
 AP Science writer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Laboratory workers here have intentionally burned themselves with heat waves simulating the flash of an atomic bomb.

More than a dozen scientists and laboratory aides at the Medical College of Virginia—including a woman doctor and a woman nurse—have bared their arms to a beam of hot light from a specially-rigged anti-aircraft arc searchlight.

While results can be compared only to the effect of earlier-model atom bombs, they should allow rough predictions of the effects of more powerful bombs, including the projected hydrogen bomb, the scientists say. The tests are supported by grants from the Army surgeon general's office.

Burns sustained by the volunteers have been only dime-sized because the heat from the searchlight is focused on a half-inch hole in a heavy shield.

But many second-degree, blistering burns have been produced, along with some burns approaching the third-degree variety, with the flesh practically charred.

All of the volunteers recovered without ill effects and are now planning further tests.

The most outstanding results so far of the human tests—and animal tests that went with them—are these:

1. They have conclusively disproved an earlier belief that persons caught in the open by an atomic blast would have three seconds to duck the bomb's heat.

2. Tests show that maximum burning occurs within a single second. This means that ducking won't prevent a person from getting burned—although he should duck anyway to escape blast and falling debris.

3. The tests demonstrated that Negroes burn more easily than white persons when exposed to flash heat. The scientists conclude that this is because white skin, like white clothing, reflects heat better.

4. The tests gave these new data on actual distances from a bomb blast at which burns of varying severity could be expected:

First degree burns, similar to sunburn, are possible from as far as 13,000 feet—over two miles—from the blast on a clear day.

Second degree burns, in which the skin is blistered, are possible at 10,000 feet.

Third degree burns, in which the skin is desiccated and will require grafting, are possible up to 7,500 feet from the explosion of a Hiroshima-type bomb. Newer models are more powerful.

The scientists emphasized that further distance studies will be required.

Bank Robber Nabbed In Idaho

COLFAX, Wash. (AP)—A three-day search for a farm youth wanted in connection with a bank robbery at Farmington, Wash., ended Sunday with his arrest in a Plummer, Idaho, coffee shop.

The FBI and officers of two states, following the trail left by Richard Phillip Carter, 19, found him in custody of Plummer town marshal John Dretke.

Whitman County Sheriff Jerry Mulcahy said the arresting officers found $2,300—the exact amount taken in the robbery of the Farmington State Bank last Friday—in Carter's pockets. He was brought to the Whitman County jail here pending federal arraignment in Spokane.

DAMAGE

PORTLAND (AP)—The freighter Ashington Mail tore a 40 by 75 foot chunk out of a dock here Sunday.

The ship, attempting to turn in the Willamette River, was swept into the dock by the current. The vessel was not badly damaged, and was able to proceed up river.

William "Thin Man" Powell To Go On Pension

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—William Powell goes on a pension at MGM next month but he shows no intention of ending his long and distinguished film career.

The suave actor, who looks much younger than his 60 years, is the first performer to qualify under the famous MGM pension plan. His 19-year association with the studio ends April 28.

"I am grateful to the studio and particularly to its president, Nicholas Schreck, for the foresight in devising the pension plan," said Powell. "It's not often that an actor can look forward to any form of security."

But Bill indicated no intention of merely sitting at his Palm Springs home and collecting his hefty pension checks. After 40 years as an actor, he shows no eagerness to loaf in the towel. In fact, he is dreaming up a TV series with his long-time sidekick, Myrna Loy. The "Thin Man" may ride again on the TV channels.

Right now Powell is up to his ears in pioneering again. He is appearing in "How To Marry a Millionaire," one of the first two films to be shot in the new, wide-screen Cinemascope process.

"So, I'm blazing trails again," he commented. "Just 25 years ago, I appeared in the first all-talking picture made on the Paramount lot — 'Interference.' With Clive Brook and Evelyn Brent. But I'll be darned if I'll wait another 25 years to pioneer another, or whatever the next new dimension will be."

He recalled that the movie industry was in a turmoil then — "everything went wrong on the set." Although the business is more stable today, there are still some bugs in the new processes. For instance, the side of the film sometimes sheds in the camera, leaving a hair-like piece in the lens and ruining the take. A lengthy camera inspection is required after each scene is completed.

Since the studio contract phase of his film career is ending, I asked Bill to wax nostalgic about his life and times in Hollywood. Ever the gentleman, he obliged. He recalled that he had been tied to studio for 27 years—five at Paramount, three at Warners and 19 at MGM. I think that's a record of some kind.

His best pictures? Bill named "My Man Godfrey," "One Way Passage," "The Great Ziegfeld," "Life With Father." For the latter two, he won Academy nominations. How about "The Thin Man"? He didn't mention the famed whodunit as one of his best, but he admitted a sentimental liking for it.

"The 'Thin Man' series was a great windfall," he said. "It supplied a 13-year string of pictures of fairly consistent quality."

I watched Bill get dressed for a film scene. As usual, he was decked out in faultless attire: he was the picture of the impeccable.
