Anybody Missing A Pair of Shoes?
Lose your shoes? City police are holding four pairs of men's shoes which were found Sunday morning by Ralph Bennett, of the City Street Department, in a vacant lot at 11th and Walnut.
There are two pairs of tan oxfords, one pair of cream colored oxfords and one pair of black and white oxfords. The shoes appear to be of good quality and are in good condition.
They are being held at the police station.

HAWAIIAN RECEPTION—Their necks and arms overflowing with leis, former President Harry S. Truman, Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, smile as hula girls extend the traditional Hawaiian welcome for them on their arrival in Honolulu. The Trumans will vacation on nearby Coconut Island, where they hope to get "as much sleep and rest as possible."

LA Teacher Canned For Red Silence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles schoolteacher who refused to answer questions during current hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee was fired last night by the board of education.
Technically, the board suspended Abraham Minkus, terminated his salary and gave him 30 days to take his case to Superior Court if he wishes.
The board held that Minkus refused to tell the committee whether he is or was a Communist constituted immoral and unprofessional conduct and evidenced unfitness for service. The board several months ago adopted a regulation holding that employees are subject to dismissal.
The un-American activities committee, expecting to finish its current locally televised hearings today, has arranged a session April 7 for witnesses who object to being televised.
Yesterday, after clashing with Minkus, who first appeared last Friday, the committee encountered three more unfriendly witnesses who refused to tell about Communist affiliations, if any. They were dancer Libby Burke, writer David Robinson and his wife, Naomi Robinson.
Committee Counsel Frank Taverner told Miss Burke that Dr. Giovanni Rossi, former U.S.A. member of the University of California atomic scientist at Berkeley, had testified previously that he attended a meeting at her home in Berkeley. When Taverner asked her if that was true she declined to answer, or say whether she knew Lominis. She did admit that she was a student at Berkeley between 1942 and 1946.

Perjury Case Wins Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl Tuesday agreed to postpone Owen Lattimore's perjury trial until October. He refused to move it out of Washington.
The judge said he would fix a definite trial date in a formal order to be issued later. The trial had been scheduled for May 11.
Defense counsel had asked for a change of venue to some other jurisdiction and a postponement of the trial until next January.
Judge Youngdahl ruled that the trial will be held in Washington, saying Lattimore can have "just as fair a trial here as he can in any other jurisdiction."
Lattimore, a Far Eastern specialist who is on leave as director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations at Johns Hopkins University, is accused of lying seven times before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.
Among other things, he is charged with swearing falsely that he was ever a sympathizer or promoter of Communist interests.
Lattimore testified during a prolonged investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations, with which he was long prominently connected.
The subcommittee was looking into the private research organization in connection with an inquiry into whether Communists influenced this country's Far Eastern policy.

More Men Should Take On The Cooking Chore At Home

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Men, do you want a happier home? Want to head off those ulcers? Then get out in the kitchen and whip up a cheese soufflé.
Or some veal scaloppini. Or just plain ham and eggs. Americans will be happier and so will their families if the men did more cooking. This advice comes from Edward Arnold, who has been cooking since the age of 12 and has the waitline to prove it. He's indeed a happy man, as you can tell from his booming laugh.
To prove his theory, Arnold invited me for a lunch cooked by himself. When I arrived at his 10th-story apartment, he was attired in a big white apron and seemed to be having the time of his life.
"Chicken's just about done," he said, waving as he peeked into the oven.
Also present was Mrs. Arnold, a pretty brunette of Italian descent who seemed to be tolerant of the whole situation. She said that her husband is an excellent cook, although he sometimes goes overboard on tossing in ingredients.
"When I make a recipe the first time," he explained, "I follow the instructions to the letter. But the second time around, I like to improvise. I toss in whatever's handy—some herbs, a little wine, some curry powder."
It's the curry that Mrs. Arnold doesn't like. Nor will she allow him to tamper with her chicken-cacciatore, spaghetti and other Italian hies. No curry in those, thank you.
The lunch was delicious. Mixed green salad, broccoli with hollandaise sauce (dash of horse radish), red wine and a tasty chicken dish broiled with herbs and wine.
Arnold beamed over the compliments and expounded that other husbands should follow his example.
"Get out in the kitchen!" he urged his fellow man. "It's a great thing for the family. It brings the husband and the wife closer together. The husband begins to understand his wife's problems, and he forgets about his. There's nothing like putting around the kitchen for making you forget the worries of the day."
Mrs. Arnold added a word of caution: "Of course, there are some women who don't want their husbands in the kitchen. That's understandable when you see the mess some men leave behind them after cooking. But Eddie never does that."
"Oh, no," he commented. "The first rule of cooking is to have warm, sudsy water handy and wash your pans and utensils after you use them. When I cook a dinner, only the dishes are left to wash."
Arnold learned about cooking when, after his mother died, he went to live with an uncle who was an amateur chef. Young Edward majored in gastronomy with his uncle and has been matriculating ever since.

Atom Blast Touched Off

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An atomic explosion, relatively weak as judged by veteran observers here but packing a strong wallop at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving ground 75 miles northwest, flared over the Nevada desert at 5 a.m. Tuesday.
The flash was less brilliant than either of the two preceding shots of the spring test series. The usual fast-rising white cloud from the blast, almost always seen here, was not visible. And no shock wave was felt here, also unusual.
But the AEC reported the device, touched off from a 300-foot tower gave observers at the Yucca Flat test site the most severe hollering they've had this year.
Two strong shocks were felt, and there were continuing reverberations after the blast, the AEC said.
The AEC did not describe the blast, but explained for the effects noted in the control tower and the lack of effects noted here.
The AEC has explained previously, however, that explosion effects, as felt at a given time and place, are dependent on atmospheric conditions of the moment. Shock waves skip freakishly, sometimes hitting harder at distant points.
There were no troops in foxholes on the proving ground this time.
Thirty aircraft circled the test site during the blast, but the AEC said the planes were the usual craft assigned for such shots and there were no Air Force indoctrination planes, as at first believed.
Twenty-five vehicles, including two buses, were exposed to the explosion. The AEC said these same machines were used in the civil defense test March 17. Animals, mostly mice, were also exposed for bio-medical studies.

Retired Burglar Dies At 100

LEEDS, England (AP)—Robert Woolridge, 100, retired burglar, died in an old people's home here Tuesday.
He said on his 100th birthday last month he spent 52 years in all the major jails in Britain and the United States.
He last appeared before a court when he was 94 on a charge of attempted burglary. He was let off on account of his age, and finally decided that crime does not pay.

FLEEN

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP)—Police said Tuesday that the former Nazi general, Otto Ernst Remer, has apparently fled from Germany to escape a prison term.
He was supposed to begin a three-month prison term last Friday for slandering the 1944 rebels against Hitler by calling them traitors.
The way your policy is written means a lot AFTER the fire. Let Hans Norland analyze your problem and write it for you the way it should be. 827 Pine St.

Legislators Eye Cut in Family Tax

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
SALEM (AP)—The Oregon Senate, for the second session in a row, will decide whether parents of two or more children should get an income tax reduction.
The House voted Monday for the bill, asked by Gov. Paul L. Patterson, to make the personal exemptions conform with the federal income tax law.
These exemptions would be $600 for each member of a family, compared with the present schedule of $750 for each adult and $300 for each child.
This bill also gives an extra $200 exemption for each person over 65 years old, and an extra $600 exemption for each blind person.
When a baby sitter is needed so a parent can work, up to $700 of the baby sitter fee is deductible. Childless couples would pay more tax and couples with one child would pay the same tax.
The House passed a similar bill in 1961, but it did not pass the Senate.

Food Group Raps Milk Law

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland milk price store differential—one cent off on two-quart purchases—which is to go in effect April 16, was criticized Monday by the Oregon Food Merchants Association.
Howard McAnulty, secretary of the 1,000-member organization, said that stores which grant the differential will have to cut their margin of profit from the present 2 cents to 1 1/2 cents.
The differential, which would permit stores to sell two quarts of milk for one cent less than dairies charge for delivery, was approved last week by the State Board of Agriculture.
McAnulty said the differential should have come out of the distributors' margin. Distributors, he said, could make it up with more efficient distribution practices. But he said this plan was opposed by "interests that want home delivery subsidized at the expense of store sales."
He also criticized the board's decision to ask the Legislature for a milk control law amendment to restore the board's power to restrict distribution licenses. The Legislative Council recently said the board was acting illegally in making such restrictions.
The amendment which the board is seeking would "greatly increase the alarming trend toward monopoly" in the milk business, McAnulty said.

Communist Youth Members Keep Mum

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. High Commission newspaper, New Zealand, reported Tuesday that more than 20,000 members of the Russian Zone's Communist Free German Youth Organization have refused to submit to questioning before secret police agents.
The newspaper said the youths refused to appear before special FBI commissions because secret police were present and they could not speak freely.

Boilermakers Ask Strike Sanction

PORTLAND (AP)—Monday's negotiations between Portland employers and metal trades unions broke down before they got started.
And as a result the Boilermakers union asked its international headquarters to sanction a strike.
Union Vice President Homer V. Patton said the employers called off the meeting before the union could discuss its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase which would bring boilermakers' and machinists' pay to $2.25 an hour.
