Nuns Save Boys In Fire

INGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N. J. (AP)—Nuns sheltered 66 orphan boys to safety Wednesday as fire swept St. Joseph's school for boys, atop the Hudson River palisades.

As flames shot through the roof of the three-story wooden building, the 17 sisters of the order of St. Joseph of Newark, led the grammar school age children from their classrooms.

Firemen had the blaze under control in about an hour.

One of the sisters said that about 10 a.m., a loud crash was heard. All of the lights in the building went out.

The sisters, who act as faculty of the school, lined up the children in semi-darkness. They marched in orderly fashion out of the building.

Fire departments from air surrounding municipalities fought the fire, which a nun said started in the little sleeping quarters of the facility.

Metal Trades End Dispute

PORTLAND (AP)—A threatened strike of 10,000 metal trades workers of the Portland area was averted off Wednesday with negotiators' agreement on undisclosed conditions.

Cult Blamed In Rail Bombing

GRAND FORKS, B. C. (AP)—Railway tracks winding through Sons of Freedom Doukhobor settlements in British Columbia were reported "bombed" at points 40 miles apart Tuesday night.

During the same period a lumber mill was swept by a mysterious fire which destroyed an estimated one million board feet of lumber.

Royal Canadian Mounted police said the track bombings, at least, appeared to be the work of Sons of Freedom terrorists.

The first track dynamiting to be reported damaged the Canadian Pacific Railway's Kettle Valley line two miles west of here.

Later, the Nelson Daily News said 150 feet of track was damaged in an explosion on the CPR line at Tarrys, 18 miles west of Nelson.

The lumber mill fire was at Passmore, 24 miles northwest of Nelson. No details were known and police listed the blaze as being of "unknown origin."

The track dynamitings were the first in months.

THEFT

Tulana Farms reported to police today that two new saddles had been stolen, apparently sometime last night, from their operation at Williamson River.

One of the saddles was a Charlie Reed product and the other a Steiner.
