

WE SAVE FIRST BECAUSE:

When you have a family it's necessary to have a cash reserve for emergencies.

As a housewife, I've found savings the only way we can afford the things we want.

My business requires a capital reserve and well established bank credit.

I'm dependent on my salary. Savings provide me with money for vacations and other luxuries.

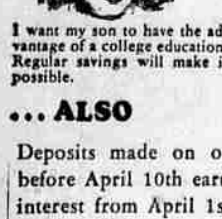

Farming's big business and savings give me the necessary credit to operate economically and profitably.

I've seen how savings have helped others during time of illness and emergencies.

I want my son to have the advantage of a college education. Regular savings will make it possible.

Today's Women

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Contrary to popular belief, says a beauty salon authority, there are few henpecked husbands in America, but "rooster-pecked" wives are legion.

It's the wife who works herself into a state of nerves every time she gets a new hat or a new hair-do, worrying for fear her husband won't like it. The average U. S. wife is eager to please her spouse, and terrified of his criticism, says D. J. Brown, who has spent most of his adult life observing women in the intimate atmosphere of the stage and screen frequent his plush new glamor factory on New York's "chic street," East 56th.

"I've seen brilliant and beautiful women go all to pieces over the idea of cutting her hair," he says "because they're afraid of what their husbands or sweethearts will say. Their good sense tells them they will look younger and more attractive with a different hair style, but their hearts start palpitating over the possible effect on Tom, Dick or Harry."

"A favorite remark of women is, 'My husband loves long hair.' This usually is a fallacy. Men think they like long hair because it seems the thing to do. Actually, they merely want their wives or girl friends to look beautiful, so they can be proud of them. Long hair has a romantic sound, but it is not flattering to all women. If a man can be shown that his wife will look prettier with short hair, he probably won't object. But he has to be convinced."

It is for this reason that D. J. urges his customers to bring their husbands along when they contemplate a new hair style or color. He explains:

"I honestly believe that if women made it a practice to bring their husbands along to help them decide on a new hairdo or a new hat, the divorce rate would go down in America."

D. J. claims that once the husband is inside the salon, the battle is half won. He recalls: "Once an irate husband threatened to kill me because I had cut his wife's hair. He was an aging European nobleman, his wife was European."

beautiful and much younger. When I called his bluff, and told him he simply didn't want his wife to look young, he admitted it and apologized. And when everyone admired the wife in her new flattering hairdo, he beamed with pride."
