EARTHWORMS
 The club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Lyle Hickman, April 4, 1:30 p.m. Officers were elected for the year: president, Jimmy Hickman; secretary, Helen Friberg; news reporter, Donald Alt; and song and yell leader, Jack Mitchum.

THE CITY RECREATION PROGRAM for the coming year will definitely be determined by attendance of Klamath Falls residents at the banquet, Monday night, April 20 in the Armory, according to the Sports and Recreation Committee making plans for the 6:30 dinner and the "riot of fun" program. Floyd Wynne of KFLW will emcee the program and Bob McVay of KFJI will help present awards to 1952 winners in all city sports. The dinner will be prepared and served by women of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints and preparations are being made for 350 guests. Dinner will be $1.50 per plate and the public is invited. Here, (l to r) are Olin Gregory, Blanche Petroff, Betty O'Leary and Bernadette Mathis, committee in charge of the dinner and program.

Hollywood Thinks You Are A Very Important Person

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—You are the most important person in the world, as far as Hollywood is concerned. You, the movie-goers of America, hold the film industry's future in your hands. Are you going to buy tickets to see third-dimensional movies that require glasses? Will you prefer pictures shown on wide screens? Or will you tire of both of these attractions and stay home to watch TV? Hollywood needs the answers to these questions, and only you can supply them. Your preference will determine whether the film industry will flourish again or whether it must seek some other salvation. What do you have to choose from? You're probably a bit confused. That's nothing—so are the people in Hollywood. New gimmicks come up every day. But, in general terms, here's what you will be offered: 1. The first thing you'll be seeing in a large number of theaters is 3D pictures. You have to wear polarized glasses for these. The pictures are shown on regular-size screens. The novelty is that the actors and scenery appear to come out on the screen. The first feature in this field was "Ewanna Devil," which is now in the theaters. Others coming out soon are "Man in the Dark," "The House of Wax," "Sangaree," "Fort Tl," "Arenne" and "It Came From Outer Space." 2. Ersatz wide-screen will come next. Some studios have devised trick lenses to throw normal movies on wide screens. You lost about 10 per cent of the picture at the top and 10 per cent at the bottom of the screen. But you get a much wider picture. There's little or no illusion of depth in this gimmick. Paramount unveiled its version this week with a preview of "Shame," which was filmed in the normal way over two years ago. There's nothing remarkable about it, except that the screen is big. These transitional devices are an effort to save a $350 million backlog of films from being outdated. 3. You won't see real wide-screen films until next fall. These are movies photographed with a wide-angle lens. Thus you get a much wider view of the scenery than you do with old-style lenses. First films with this method will be "The Robe" and "How to Marry a Millionaire." Some films, like "Miss Sadie Thompson" and "Wings of the Hawk" will use both wide-screen and 3D. If you live in certain big cities, you will also be seeing big-screen devices that give more or less of a third dimension. Among these are the pioneering Cinerama and the new Magna process, in which "Okiahoma!" may be filmed. So there you have it. You pay your money and you take your choice. Hollywood is waiting for your answer.

Coggeshall Says New Drug May Be Sure Malaria Cure

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (AP)—The new drug primaquine—already pronounced a cure for the most tenacious and prevalent form of malaria—may yet prove to be an actual preventive, a University of Chicago scientist says. Dr. L. T. Coggeshall disclosed that possibility in a report to the American College of Physicians Monday. He also revealed that primaquine is "now almost ready for general distribution" as a curative drug, after having demonstrated such powers in extensive tests carried on by various individual investigators, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Army. It's a proven cure, he said, for "vivax malaria," the highly relapsing type which affected so many American troops in the South Pacific during the last war. The disease is highly prevalent in many parts of the world, although malaria of any type is virtually nonexistent in the United States. During World War II, Dr. Coggeshall, as chief of the Klamath Falls, Ore., Marine Corps rehabilitation center, was able to study many cases of malaria's annual meeting that primaquine is used in combination with a so-called anti-malarial drug chloroquine. The latter's suppressive of infection, than curative.

Students Hear India Talk

CHILOQUIN—Ivy Coffey, a petite and attractive college student from Calcutta, India, spoke to the Chiloquin high school student body one morning last week. She was presented by Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern Oregon College of Education at Ashland, where Ivy is enrolled. Miss Coffey wore the traditional Indian sari, and told of the limited educational opportunities in her homeland where only 20 per cent of the people are literate, and six times as many boys as girls attend school. According to the speaker, since India was given independence in 1947 coeducation is making slow progress and it is hoped to make school compulsory by 1960. Problems in India's schools now result from the poor financial levels of the country's 350 million people, the fact that 12 major languages and 250 dialects are spoken, and the caste system. Miss Coffey plans to teach school in her native land after finishing college here in 1954. She is from a widely scattered family, with parents in India, brothers who are a doctor in England and a chemist in New Zealand, sisters who are a nurse in Israel, a secretary in San Francisco, and a graduate student at Columbia University in New York. Dr. Stevenson, in addition to introducing the speaker, told of educational opportunities at the college in Ashland.

CAP Squad Hears Talk

LI. E. W. PERRY, vice commander of the Civil Air Patrol Cadet Squadron here, gave an instructional drill in aircraft structure at a corps meeting Monday night at Altamont Junior High School. Following the drill, there was a forum period. Eight cadets have now joined the Ground Observer Corps here and one, Sgt. Pat Lilly, has received his wings for having totaled 30 hours of sky-watch. Maj. George Monascune, who presented the wings, praised CAP for its aid in the ground observer work.
