Legislature Still Facing Three Major Bills Before Solons Can Shut Up Shop

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.
SALEM—Oregon's Legislature, on its 100th day and planning to adjourn late Tuesday, will have to dispose of three major, educational and building problems before it gets through.
Also, 19 Senate-House conference committees were at work trying to resolve differences between the two houses.
Chief stumbling block is the House-passed bill to ban picketing by unions in order to influence workers to join a union. The Senate had the bill on its Tuesday calendar in a drastically amended form, and from there it probably will go into a conference committee.
The school district reorganization bill, which was stripped of its effectiveness by the House, was in a second conference committee, the first one having failed to agree.
The House refused to go for the Senate's provision that consolidate districts, be created by majority vote. Present law lets any district stay out of a consolidation.
The third major dispute Tuesday is the argument over the three million dollar mental hospital to be built in the Portland area. It was authorized by the people last November, and the Ways and Means Committee allowed only $250,000 to buy land and draw plans. This would delay actual construction for at least 18 months.
Dr. F. H. Darnmasch, Portland, father of the proposed hospital, will make a determined effort to get $1,500,000 to build part of the hospital. He'll make his pitch when the $250,000 appropriation is considered by the House.
The Senate held a night session Monday to clear the decks for Tuesday's battles, the night meeting ending at 11:15 p.m.
A resolution for an interim committee to take preliminary steps to write a new Constitution and make recommendations to the 1955 Legislature was approved by the Senate and sent to the House. The House already has approved the governor's recommendation for a constitutional convention in 1957, but the Senate wouldn't go for it.

The House completed legislative action on a proposed constitutional amendment to double legislators' $600 annual pay. The people will vote on it in Nov. 1954.
Both Houses passed a bill to construct two buildings near the Capitol for $700,000. They will house the agriculture and purchasing departments, and also store cars in the new state automobile pool.
The House completed legislative action on measures to require more signatures in initiative and referendum petitions, extend the soldier's bonus application deadline to next Dec. 31, permit seizure of abortion establishments, direct the governor to take steps to save the educational television channels that have been allocated to Oregon, increase salaries of Supreme Court justices and district attorneys, prohibit race track touting, pay pensions to widows of supreme and circuit judges, and create interim committees to study public welfare and the proposed State Revenue Department.
The Senate completed action on legislation to have a midnight to 4 a.m. curfew in areas outside cities for children, to tax house trailers, and have an interim study of property taxes.
An attempt to take the Coquille River closure bill away from the House Fish and Game Committee failed 42 to 16. The bill, passed by the Senate, would have closed the river to commercial fishing, but it will die in the committee.

Ike To Wind Up Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga.—President Eisenhower ends his vacation Tuesday after one more round of golf.
The President arranged a game with fellow club members at the Augusta National Course and planned to leave for Washington by plane in the afternoon.
Eisenhower and Ben Talt played Monday what the Senate Republican leader described as 13 holes of "ragged golf."
Talt said no scores were kept and that he and the President had "a very pleasant game."
The Ohioan flew back to the capital late Monday after telling newsmen the President played much better than he did in the round they shot Sunday, shortly after Talt arrived from the capital.
Former golf star Bobby Jones, president of the Augusta National Club, disclosed that Eisenhower had an 86 Sunday—reportedly his first score below 90 since he took office. He had an 84 here in November as President-elect.
Talt said that during his brief stay he and the President talked business only. That, he added, was to arrange for GOP congressional leaders to meet with Eisenhower at the White House Thursday morning.

Cadillac
LAZA
Puts a Good Mark on a Man!

Regardless of where he drives, no man is wholly a stranger to the people about him—if he sits at the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.
His name may be unknown—and also his occupation—and, likewise, the whereabouts of his home.
But he is not without standing. For his Cadillac marks him as a man of character and substance.
Wherever he may be, let him arrive at the door of a distinguished hotel or restaurant—or let him seek the ear of anyone for direction or information... and he has the courtesy that goes with respect.
And let it be said for Cadillac owners that, almost invariably, they respond in kind.
Indeed, the honor which Cadillac does to its owners is the fruit of the honor they have so long bestowed upon Cadillac. When so many wonderful people favor a particular make of car over such a long period of time—the car must inevitably become a mark of distinction.
All of this, of course, comes to the owner of a 1953 Cadillac as an extra joy and satisfaction.
It comes in addition to the magnificent performance of Cadillac's 210 h.p. engine and improved Hydra-Matic Drive... the wonderful comfort of Cadillac's new Air Conditioner... the car's soft, easy, relaxing ride... its marvelous balance and handling ease... its long life and dependability... and its truly amazing economy of upkeep and operation.
Put them all together and they spell the grandest satisfaction in all the world of motoring.
Have you seen and driven the 1953 version of the "Car of Cars"?
If not—we should be happy to see you at any time. Why not come in today?

Monday, April 21, 1930—The boys' quartet of Klamath Union High has returned from a trip to Eugene. The boys were entertained on the campus and sang at the Eugene high school and the Hall of Music. Those who made the trip were: Herbert Graham, Hubert Totton, Max Rae and Jehry Kessler.
Tuesday, April 22, 1930—Two sweepstakes tournaments have recently been held at the Golf and Country club, G. A. Krause and Dr. Paul W. Sharp tied for first place, both having a score of 21. Mr. Krause won the playoff. There were four ties for the second place. T. B. Watters, E. H. Pike, C. B. Huntley and Claude McCulloch. On April 20, first place was again won by G. A. Krause. Second place was won by Paul Dalton, Dr. Paul W. Sharp and Claude McCulloch tied for third place.
Wednesday, April 23, 1930—Applications for the postmaster-ship at Klamath Falls will close May 20th, according to word received from the US Civil Service. As far as is known there are but two applicants for the job, the present incumbent, John A. McCall, and Francis R. Olds.
Thursday, April 24, 1930—Considering the fact that Austin Hayden receives only ten pins per game handicap, he is showing the way to the rest of the bowlers in the Herald's Diamond Model tournament. His total of 1702 pins in nine games with only 18 pins on a gift, demonstrates that what Crosby and Watters say is the contrary, he still is the big chieftain in the game locally.
Friday, April 25, 1930—The tenth annual community dinner of the Klamath county chamber of commerce will be held in the Willard hotel with Governor Norblad as principal speaker. The committee in charge of the program consists of Arthur Wilson, chairman; Ven J. Henry Thomas, E. M. Chilcote, Lee Jacobs and R. E. Patterson.

W. Houston, E. B. Hall, W. O. Smith, John Parker, Wilson Wiley, C. A. Hayden, Oliver Spiker, John Boyle, Francis Olds, Exalted Ruler Elbert Veatch, Perry O. DeLap and Leslie Rogers.
