Indian Fish Payments Set

PORTLAND (AP)—Revised agreements to pay two Indian tribes for loss of fishing rights were announced here Thursday by the Army Engineers.

CHANGES

MOSCOW (AP)—Two more Soviet Republics—Armenia and Azerbaijan—have streamlined their governments in line with changes made in the central administration following the accession of Premier Georgi M. Malenkov.

The Warm Springs tribe would get $4,047,800 and the Umatilla $4,198,000 for loss of the Celilo fishing site, which will be flooded by The Dalles Dam, now under construction.

Col. Thomas Lipscomb, Portland District engineer, said the agreements had been approved by Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Burgin, chief of the Army Engineers. They now must be ratified by Interior Secretary McKay and the 1,078 Warm Springs Indians and the 1,118 Umatillas.

Lipscomb said he had been advised the Yakima tribe did not want to negotiate on an agreement at this time, hoping that Congress would halt construction of the dam.

If the halt is not made, negotiations will be resumed with the Yakimas, the Nez Perce tribe and with a small group of other Indians, he said.

In another Indian fishing site matter—this one to provide a site at Cascade Locks to replace sites flooded by Bonneville Dam—Lipscomb said he had assured Cascade Locks residents they would be consulted about rules governing Indians' use of the site.
