US Bond Exhibit Goes On Display In Klamath Banks

An exhibit of United States Bonds, the sale of which has helped finance various war efforts as well as peacetime development of our nation since 1776, is on view at the 1st National and First National banks downtown.

Titled "Bonds of Freedom," the collection is on loan from the state office of the United States treasury's savings bond division. It will be shown later at the South Sixth Branch of the 1st National.

All the bonds and other treasury certificates in the collection are originals, excepting those of 1776, 1803 and 1912, which are facsimiles, since only a single specimen of each of the latter issues is known to exist.

Aside from one special loan to buy warplanes, the first borrowing after the Declaration of Independence was authorized by the Continental Congress in October, 1776, when certificates of $300 to $1,000 denominations, bearing 4 per cent interest, were first offered. Although the rate was raised three months later to 6 per cent, sales were slow until the first major victory at Saratoga in October, 1777, after which the financial position of the loosely-unioned states was also strengthened by loan from its own citizens.

The 1776 series, first to bear the names of the United States of America is represented in the Bonds of Freedom exhibit by a facsimile of a certificate issued in 1789 to one John A. Bonfield. At that time the outlook was dark, Washington's soldiers were deserting steadily and money was lent to the government on faith and hope alone. As the war dragged on, the market value of continental securities fell until some issues

New Drug Legislation Proposed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Legislation proposing stiffer penalties for two-time narcotics violators—but permitting probation for first offenders—went to the Senate today.

The bill by Assemblyman H. Allen Smith (R - Glendale) was passed by the Assembly Monday, 70 to 0.

In addition to longer terms for possession and sale of narcotics, it creates two new categories of offenses. Inducing or encouraging a minor to violate the narcotics law and to thwart a police trap, substitute a harmless substance in an agreed narcotics delivery.

Smith told the Assembly, the measure, worked out with a group of experts and supported by law enforcement authorities, would give California the outstanding state narcotics law in the United States.

The provisions would let the courts decide whether a first offender should be sent to prison or placed on probation. Smith said one or two judges opposed this discretionary power, but that 99 per cent of the state judiciary was for it.

The bill increases the penalties for possession from a maximum of 6 years to 10 years for a first offense and from 10 years to 20 years for subsequent offenses.

For selling, transporting or giving narcotics the term would be a maximum of 15 years, first time and 5 to 25 years for second conviction. Penalties for young first offenders, that jail offers a bad example, it certainly is no cure. He said that if the defendant is in trouble again, he can be in prison for violation of probation.

Big Shipping Hopes Held

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Don Magnuson (D-Wash.) said Monday that an Army policy decision on unloading of ammunition will mean capacity loads soon at Bangor, Wash., and Beaver, Ore.

He said Bangor, near Bremerton, and Beaver, on the lower Columbia River, have been declared two of the nation's safest ammunition ports from the over-all standpoint of the number of people who would be exposed to any possible explosion.

The Army informed Magnuson the first ship to load at Beaver under the new schedule is due May 4.

April loadings at Bangor were down sharply as a result of several factors, including heavy gulf port shipments.

Magnuson said the new Army directive calls for use of the safer ports to the fullest possible extent.

AUTO DEATH
 PORTLAND (AP)—Fred W. Hicks, 21, was fatally injured Monday when his car ran out of control and crashed on the Broadway Bridge.

He was the city's 19th traffic victim last year at this time there were 21 traffic deaths.

The New Packard CLIPPER

There hasn't been so much interest in a medium-priced car in years

FIVE months ago Packard announced the new CLIPPER line.

Five months . . . yet wherever you go today . . . in hotels, in restaurants, on trains, at parties, in meetings . . . wherever people gather, you hear them say: "That new Packard CLIPPER is the buy of the year!"

How come?

Well, first there's Packard engineering, traditionally fine, historically dependable. It's largely responsible. Packard, remember, is the oldest maker of fine cars in America.

Second, Packard's manufacturing position is unique. Packard alone with 54 years' experience in fine-car building combines craftsmanship of the highest character and modern mass production techniques that result in greater dollar for dollar values throughout the car.

And in addition to Packard's own exclusive manufacturing pluses, the new CLIPPER is a thrilling car to drive. And what thrill is more important to a man who really loves a car!

There's the Packard engine, famous since the Year One in automotive history. This wallopig big powerhouse with a reasonable appetite can purr like a kitten and pull like an elephant.

There's the Packard ride! Smooth, luxurious . . . it will make you want to load 'er up and head for the wide open spaces.

There's Packard's contour styling that is setting the new trend in automotive design.

There's everything you want your family car to have today. In all, around 70 big-car features!

See! Compare! Drive!

In fact, if you'll go to one of the CLIPPER dealers, listed below and check the big-car features of this new car, we feel that you'll

Did you know that you can own a Packard CLIPPER 4-Door Sedan (Illustrated above) FOR ONLY $2938.00 Delivered in Klamath Falls

Silver Bullet Plan Talked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has fired its first "silver bullet" in an effort to get what gunfire hasn't bagged in Korea—a live Communist pilot with a flyable MIG-15 or other modern Soviet warplane.

In offering rewards to Red pilots who land their planes on Allied airfields, the United Nations Command has come up with a jet-age version of an accepted tactic in the gaudy era of Chinese warlords.

The announced price scale for the first man and aircraft is $100,000 and for each subsequent pilot and plane, $50,000. Any rewards will be paid out of an Air Force contingency fund.

Senators generally applauded the plan, although fear was expressed that the psychological warfare move might backfire.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said in an interview he regarded the offer as a bold stroke.

"Any step, however unusual and unprecedented, that leads in the direction of a satisfactory solution of the war in Korea is worthwhile and should be tried," he said.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) said the offer furnishes "another example of taking the initiative in demoralizing to the people behind the Iron Curtain that the Western nations are seeking only peace and to bring the war in Korea to an end without bloodshed."

Midwest On Warmer Side

By The Associated Press

Warm air from the Gulf pushed northwest into midcontinent areas today while the East and Southern sections got a little cool weather from the Midwest.

The cool air in the South extended as far as Central Florida, which reported temperatures in the middle 50s early today.

Temperatures during the night were in the high 60s and low 70s in Kansas, Oklahoma and Northern Texas as compared to the low 40s over most of the other parts of the Central Plains. It was 90 yesterday in Lamar, Colo., the highest reading in the state this year.

Showers hit sections of Illinois and Indiana and were in prospect for other North-Central states. There also were showers over the Northern Rockies.

But rain had stopped along the Pacific Coast after heavy falls the last two days. The heaviest April rainfall in 57 years, nearly 2 inches, was reported in the San Francisco bay area.

Cost Estimate on Bills Demanded

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bill requiring publication in the voters pamphlet of cost estimates of initiative measures when the state controller figures they in 1954's $250,000 or more has been approved by the Senate Elections Committee.

The committee Monday sent to the floor another measure allowing uninstructed delegations to national political conventions to run without a nominal candidate.
