

DANNY McSHAIN

TOMMY MARTINDALE

McShain Here Tonight

Armory Mat Jam Expected

Danny McShain, who combines ring glamor with a two-listed attack, is expected to join the Armory tonight against Tommy Martindale, the top bout on an outstanding mat program.

McShain is the junior heavyweight champion primarily because he's just plain tough. He asks for no favors in the ring, gives none.

His rugged, milling style of wrestling makes him one of the top drawing cards in the country.

McShain's title won't be at stake in the one-hour, two-out-three-fall match against Martindale, good-looking matman who won last week's elimination tourney at the Armory.

NO CINCH
Martindale is no set-up for the champ. The Milwaukee matman whipped Bill Fietzer and Paddy Mack last week to earn the scrap with McShain. He's a smart performer, always dangerous, particularly when he's in trouble. He's expected to find plenty of trouble against McShain.

Two other matches share equal billing in the semi-windup spot.

Mack, currently the most unorthodox wrestler on the local scene, tangles with young George Drake. Mack whipped Drake last week in the semi-final match of the elimination tourney, using a choke-hold most of the way. Drake never had a chance but if the young blond lad gets the jump on the Boston Irishman tonight things could be different.

ROSS HERE
The other semi shows Tough Tony Ross, who needs no introduction, against Chet Wallick, making his first appearance here.

Fans here remember Wallick's brother, Leo, who a couple of seasons ago used the dreaded pile-driver gimmick to win a long series of bouts.

The Armory box-office opens 7:30, one hour before the first bout.

Beavers In First Place

SEATTLE (AP)—The Oregon State Beavers, helped by six Washington errors and six stolen bases, humbled the Hawks 9-1 Tuesday for their sixth straight Northern Division road victory.

The win boosted the Beavers to undisputed possession of first place, half a game ahead of Oregon.

The last heavyweight championship here knuckled right occurred July 8, 1882, between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain. Sullivan won after 75 rounds.

Joe Knockout-minded On Eve of Title Tiff

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Now comes Jersey Joe Walcott with heavy talk about punching the daylight out of Rocky Marciano.

Says Jersey Joe: "I will do my best to win by a knockout, from the first round on."

He didn't bat an eye when he said it. He merely shrugged when it was pointed out that the statement seemed a contradiction of his long training routine.

Virtually every minute of Walcott's preparation for Friday's heavyweight title bout with Champion Marciano at Chicago Stadium has carried a strong for-the-route conditioning keynote.

Furthermore, his manager, Felix Bocchicchio, has said:

TOO STRONG
 "Marciano is too strong and tough to knock out easily. Jersey must outbox him this time."

There hasn't been much question that, of the two, Walcott is the better boxer. He's harder to hit and, for a 39-year-old or older man, his timing is excellent.

He is also a better than average slugger, as witness his first-round knockdown of the previously unfloored Marciano in their championship fight in Philadelphia last summer, won by Rocky with a come-from-behind 13th-round knockout. Jersey Joe also has had

Joe Louis on the floor three times and won the heavyweight title from Ezzard Charles with a KO.

DANGEROUS
 But fight experts note that slugging with the young and powerful Marciano is a dangerous business. They figure Jersey Joe would have to be very cautious.

Nonetheless, Walcott maintained to reporters last night that he is capable of blasting Rocky out from under the heavyweight crown.

"I'm ready to go 15 rounds," he said, "but I don't intend to try for a decision. I will do my best to win by a knockout."

As for Marciano, he never has contradicted by word or action his intention, announced at the start of training, to KO Jersey Joe "earlier than before."

Yesterday he said at his Holland Mich. camp that he expected to end the bout "about midway." He has boxed 225 rounds in preparation for the fight, mostly perfecting sharper, shorter swings and developing his pressing, brawling, close-in style.

Today he leaves Holland for Chicago and, like Jersey Joe, will hide out during the remaining hours before the battle at 9 p.m. EST, Friday.

Matthews, Beshore Draw

Portland Fans Boo Verdict

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Veteran fighter Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle, trying to get back into the ranks of leading heavyweight contenders, was hard-pressed to gain a draw with Freddy Beshore of Los Angeles here last night.

Referee Ralph Gruman voted 60-40 for Matthews. Judge Freddie Steele had it 30-30, for Beshore. Judge Bobby Richards called it even.

Only a rousing ninth-round rally saved Matthews from defeat by Beshore, whom he stopped in seven rounds two years ago.

Matthews, fighting after a long layoff during which he had his tonsils removed, took a bruising body beating from Beshore in the middle rounds. Scaling 160, the Los Angeles mauler made the most of his weight advantage over Matthews, 181.

Beshore, decisively winning the eighth round with a series of good head and body punches, apparently had a safe lead.

But in the ninth, Matthews finally opened a cut around Beshore's right eye and shook him with a right to the jaw. Beshore hung on, but took several more vicious head and body blows and was plainly hurt at the bell.

He recovered in the final round, however, and crowded Matthews so closely that the Seattle boxer failed in a desperate try for a knockout.

Matthews, long a Portland favorite, heard many fans boo the decision. Impressed with Beshore's surprising showing, they apparently thought he had won.

Matthews' manager, Jack Hurley, who before the fight had called it a tune-up for a possible rematch with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, protested the draw decision.

While admitting Matthews was not at his best, Hurley said: "Look, not a mark on him. And did you see the other guy's face? I thought they still paid off on clean punching in this game."

Matthews said it was as tough a fight as he has had in a long time.

The Associated Press card had it 3-41 Matthews.

A crowd of 4,752 paid $23,272 to see the fight.

CORVALLIS (AP)—Norm Merrill of Grant High, Portland, and Diane Peterson, McMinnville, won the singles championships in the Oregon High School tennis tournament here Tuesday.

Salem edged defending champion Grant 7-6, for team honors in the boys' division.

Salem won the state team title when Dick Wilson and Mal Williamson defeated John Regier and Dick Lough of Dallas, 7-5, 6-2 in the boys' doubles.

The girls' doubles title went to the Olin twins, Barbara and Carol of Jefferson, who defeated Susan Walcott and Elizabeth Carter, Grant, in the only three-set match of the finals, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Merrill, the new boys' champion, defeated Bonnie Groves, Roseburg, 6-2, 6-4 in the final. Miss Peterson, 15-year-old Freshman, stopped Jackie Lou Ford, Marshfield 6-2, 6-1 for the title.

In the morning semifinal, Wilson and Williamson defeated Jack Jacobson and Jim Lehi, Marshfield, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2.

Dom DiMaggio Joins Brothers; Quits Sox

BOSTON (AP)—Modern baseball's greatest brother combination—the three center-fielding DiMaggios—were united on the sidelines today as a result of 35-year-old Dom's voluntary retirement after 10 seasons as a Boston Red Sox star.

NO SURPRISE
 Tom's decision did not surprise Boudreau.

"I knew he was considering it three or four weeks ago, when he notified Joe Cronin of his plan. But he didn't say anything to me and I have no comment to make," Boudreau said.

Cronin explained that Dom had wanted to delay his retirement until May 31.

"I asked Dom in yesterday and asked him why he specified May 31 and he told me he didn't want to make another Western trip," Cronin explained. "I tried to change his mind and when he refused, I asked him to retire before the May 15 deadline."

Duke University, then Tracy, played its first baseball game in 1889 with the Winslow State YMCA. The game ended in a 10-0 tie. It was called at the end of eight innings due to rain.

Several weeks before he was due at the Sarasota, Fla. training camp, Dom entered a Boston hospital for eye treatment. He was late reporting and when he did, found rookie Tom Umpflett leading down his 15-chasing berth.

"My arm feels great, my legs are good and my eyes are okay and I was ready to play the opening game," Dom explained. "I don't regret Umpflett or the other young outfielders, Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens. They are very promising and in a couple of years they may be great. But I just can't stand being a hanger-on."

After paying high tribute to Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey and General Manager Joe Cronin in his retirement statement, which ignored Manager Lou Boudreau, Dom indicated he would be willing to rejoin the club if his services
