Grains

CHICAGO GRAIN — Grains dropped several cents, most contracts selling at new low ground for the year and more, in active dealings on the board of trade Monday.

Selling pressure hit hardest in soybeans. Crude soybean oil sold at 11 3/4 cents a pound, a new low for the year, and rumors circulated that several soybean processing plants were closing down or reducing their operations.

The liquidation in soybeans spread to other pits. Oats were hard hit and corn also gave up ground without much resistance. Wheat held up a little better than other cereals even though it was selling in new low territory since 1950.

Wheat closed 1/2-1 3/4 lower, July $2.09 1/2-1 3/4, corn 2 to 2 1/4 lower, July $1.56 1/2, oats 1 1/2-2 1/4 lower, July $1.51 1/2-1.50 3/4, soybeans 3 1/2-5 1/4 lower, July $2.84 1/2-2.83, and lard 20 to 45 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $10.35.

Women Todays

Mamie Eisenhower buys her clothes with an eye to her budget, and approaches each major occasion with the usual feminine wall of "I haven't a thing to wear!"

That's a nice thing about the first lady, says Mollie Parnis, the New York manufacturer-designer who makes most of her clothes—she's so normal. Says Mollie: "Mrs. Eisenhower is the typical American woman—warm, feminine and pretty; interested in clothes but thrifty about her selections; clever about accessories and color; proud of her husband and son, crazy about her grandchildren; young in looks because she's young in spirit."

Mrs. Eisenhower's frank enthusiasm for average priced American ready-to-wear has worked like a vitamin injection on the vast U. S. garment industry. Its members were first amazed, then delighted, when the new first lady put aside her Paris originals in favor of American $50 ready-made dresses to be found in every town in the land. Mollie Parnis explains: "Mrs. Eisenhower is no different from any other woman whose husband makes a good salary, but she doesn't like throwing money around. Like most of us, she has just so much to spend for her clothes. And she has found that a woman can be fashionably dressed without wrecking her budget."

With present taxes, Mollie says, there are fewer and fewer women who can afford $50 for a simple custom-made dress. The great American ready-made is the symbol of a new era. The newest Paris fashions are copied in $49.98 mass-production models almost before women have had time to study the originals in the fashion magazines. New fabrics and finishes add to the beauty and practicality of the ready-mades. New systems of sizing make it possible for almost any woman to find a perfect fit without extensive alterations.

Miss Parnis, in private life Mrs. Leon J. Livingston, is enjoying her job as fashion adviser to the first lady. The private phone on her desk at her Seventh Avenue office often rings these days with a special urgency as a thrilled switchboard girl says: "Miss Parnis, it's the White House again!"

Sometimes it's Mrs. Eisenhower on the phone and sometimes it's her secretary with an SOS for "a couple of short dinner dresses" or "something for receiving 500 ladies day after tomorrow." Whatever the emergency, Mollie is equal to it. Recently she even arranged to have a hem shortened for the first lady in time for lunch, working by long distance phone.

Charges Against Woman Dropped

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Check forger charges against Mrs. Mary Ellen Alton, 38, University of Oregon professor's wife, were dismissed Monday at the request of the prosecuting attorney.

The complaining witness, Harold Haberman, told the court: "I'm just a groceryman, not a handwriting expert. I'm sorry as the dickens."

Dismissal was asked after Clark Sellers, Los Angeles handwriting expert employed by the defense, reported that none of the checks for more than $1,000 was in Mrs. Alton's hand.

Gleim, Fruit Inspector, Dies

He was a member of the BPOE Four stepchildren; eight grandchildren; and the Episcopal Church.

Funeral services will be 10:30 a.m., from the Littlefield Mountain View Chapel, Ashland, with official of the Elk Lodge in charge. Final rites and interment will be in the family plot in Stearns Cemetery near Talent.

Born In Barn

By Geo. N. Taylor

There in Western Canada, in an exposition barn, outfitted with a sawdust trail, God and Satan, battled for the soul of a proud New England College woman. She was a Latin and Greek scholar. Daily in Chapel, the Bible was read and the hymns of the church sung. But as to Christ, our Lord, the College had Him only as a man — a mere man like us.

Born Again: — That night, this proud college woman for the first time learned that Jesus was God and that He came to die for our sins. Also that He arose from the dead to indwell with His own eternal life. Each of us, born into God's family, has his own inner faith. And here? As she arose out of her seat to go to the front, a new peace and joy became hers. And this the years have but increased. This bid to also turn your life over to the Lord Jesus is sponsored by a Portland Lumberman & Wife.

NATURE KNOWS NO BOUNDRY — This large tree (top) in the business section of Port Huron, Mich., was uprooted by force of tornado. The twister then jumped the St. Clair River and hit Sarnia, Ontario, in Canada, where two rescue workers (below) remove debris from buried auto in search of possible victim. At least four persons were killed and 39 others injured.
