FORT KLAMATH

By MYRTLE WIMER

Warren (Lefty Wild Eagle) Wilder has accepted an invitation to attend the eighth annual Fleet of Flowers Memorial Day observance to be held Sunday at Depoe Bay, where he lived before moving to Fort Klamath last fall. He will be accompanied by his wife, Jenie, and their three small sons, Leonard, Tony and Alfred, if arrangements can be made for the care of the Junction service station and Indian museum and gift shop which the Wilders operate one mile south of here. He has participated in the ceremonies for the last six years, as representative of the Indian race, and attends attired in the full native dress of the Karok (Upper Klamath River) tribe, of which he is a member. He is also a featured speaker on the program.

Mrs. Joanna Taylor was taken ill during the night, Saturday, and was taken to Klamath Valley Hospital by Kaler's ambulance. During her absence, her local property, Joe's Motel, is being managed by Mrs. Jerry Sisemore and Mrs. Taylor's nephew, Roy Hawley.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Seth Dixon have returned from spending the winter in the Bay Area. Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gordon have moved back to their home at the Dixon ranch at Seven Mile after occupying the Dixon's residence during the owners' absence. Gordon is ranch foreman.

James Legget left May 21 to report to Port Hueneme, Calif., after a 30-day emergency furlough from Subic Bay in the Philippines. He was called home by the serious illness and subsequent death of his father, James Ferguson Legget.

The old Pelton residence, now the Patrick J. McAuliffe property, is receiving a new coat of paint. Two fireplaces were added on the lower floor and electric heating system installed. PLUSH

By DIXIE DIXON

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ede are back at their ranch near Plush from their home at Brookings, on their annual spring trip. They also come back for a short stay during deer hunting season each year.

Warner Valley had unusual weather the past week with snow on the hills and several inches on Hart Mountain.

Charlotte Reichert went to Klamath Falls Tuesday to visit her daughter, Peggy.

About 10 days ago Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, our Plush stage drivers, had a very unpleasant experience. They had sold their home at Westside and were making a trip to Ashland and decided to go by way of Weed to look at some trailer houses which were for sale. As they were nearing Dorris, they picked up a Negro and woman companion, apparently hitchhiking, and took them on to Weed. They thanked the Cox's and left and George and Ella went into a tavern to get information. When they came out and got in their car, the Negro crowded in with them and at the point of a gun (which he had stolen from the glove compartment of the Cox car), made them drive him around, finally to his place. By some miracle, George and Ella made their escape and got to their car. While they were driving to Weed to make a report, the Negro shot and killed the woman. The Negro was picked up but later escaped, supposedly making his way toward Portland. George and Ella were held from Thursday to Monday evening as witnesses.

Moral: Never, never, never pick up strange hitchhikers.

Last Friday evening the 8th grade graduation exercises were held at the community hall at Adel. Graduating were Darlene Wakefield and Margaret Schadler of Adel, and Paul Reichert of Plush. Those driving from Plush to attend were the Overtons, Grisels, Mrs. Strom, Plush teacher, and J. P. Egan.

A school picnic was held at the community hall at Adel. Pauline Grisel took Mrs. Strom and pupils down on Monday.

Dave McAuliffe, better known as Frisco Dave, is out of the hospital and back at Plush, feeling fine.

Omar Sinclair, traveling agent for the state weather bureau station, was a Monday caller at Plush. Snow was falling like wintertime and the ground was white.

Wheat is now coming up in a field on the Archie Lamon ranch, eight miles south of here, but it took a second planting, as the first seed blew away when a high wind carried the field away and deposited it on the highway. The highway crew obliged by returning the field to its rightful owner but the seed remained on the missing list.

The annual prom was held Saturday evening at the school gym with Anderson's orchestra from Lakeview furnishing the music.

Baccalaureate service was held Sunday evening at the school auditorium. Program included address by the Rev. Sunshine Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Tom Brattain. Mrs. Elmer Johnson was honored with a handkerchief shower. Her husband has been principal of the Paisley school for five years and they have decided to move elsewhere to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Green visited relatives at Cedarville, Calif., last week.

Out-of-town guests attending the prom were Joan Pocheiu, OSC; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Masters Jr., and Gordon Masters of Alturas; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Pollack and family, Ray Goudy and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moore and sons of Redmond. Johnny Miller, of the Chewaucan Cattle Company, Bakersfield, who is in town on business, gave a vocal solo during the evening.
