Stocks

NEW YORK — The stock market moved slightly higher Tuesday, but trading slowed as prices advanced.

Rail and steel stocks were the first to show mild strength. Then other issues began moving up from their lows of the day, and a considerable number joined the plus side.

In the first four hours of trading, 1,070,000 shares changed hands, but in early afternoon, the ticker tape stood idle for short periods. It appeared volume for the day would approximate 1,600,000 shares. Monday's volume was 1,490,000 shares, most of them traded while the market was slipping badly.

Grains

CHICAGO GRAIN — Most grains finished with small advances on the board of trade Tuesday but a late sell-off wiped out gains in wheat.

Wheat had been ahead with other cereals until the last 10 minutes when selling expanded and put prices fractionally down for the day. Brokers thought most of the support for the market came from short covering.

Prospect of export sales of wheat to West Germany next week aided that cereal. Light cash grain receipts and further declines in local supplies helped corn. An advance in crude heat oil provided the background for buying in soy beans.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 1/2 lower, July $2.02 1/2-2.02, corn 1/2 higher, July $1.54 1/2-1.54, oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July 69-69 1/2, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July $1.39-1.39 1/2, soybeans 1/2 to 1 cent higher, July $2.86 1/2-2.86 1/2, and lard unchanged to 1/8 cents. Hundred pounds lower, July $10.02.

Chiloquin Church Honors Alaskan

CHILOQUIN — Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Matthews of Seward, Alaska, were guest speakers last Wednesday evening at the Chiloquin Methodist Church. Matthews is now being transferred to Illinois after acting as superintendent of the Jesse Lee home for children in Alaska.

The Jesse Lee home cares for an average of 80 children up to 18 years of age, children of Eskimo, Aleut, and Indian blood. The children are not orphans but from homes broken by divorce, neglect or illness. The home is on a several acre plot a mile and a half from Seward, between the bay and the nearby mountains. There are three main buildings and the superintendent's home, all of which are operated by the women's work of the Methodist Church.

A housemother is provided for each 10 or 12 children. The only formal education given at home is kindergarten to 10. Older children are taken by bus to the town schools, and also to participate in Boy Scouts, Brownies, Girl Scouts, and all church activities. Much informal training is given at the home during the long winter evenings, however, such as leather work, using a loom, cooking, sewing and music. Fourteen young pupils take private music lessons from a teacher who comes out once a week and holds a recital frequently at the home.

All children learn to become independent and to care for themselves. By the time they are 11 they do all their own ironing. Children are encouraged in outdoor activities, too, and do a lot of sledding, skiing on barrel staves, hunting for small game, clam digging, fishing with a stick, line and hooks, hikes.

Mr. Matthews told of the chore of cutting 54 heads of hair for the boys, of the delight each fall when 250 boxes of Washington apples arrive from WSCS groups in that vicinity, of the Christmas boxes which always come too late for the current year, and are stored for the next Christmas.

The couple showed excellent color slides of the work in the home and the nearby scenery. At the close of the program their daughter Christine, 13, played an Aleut lullaby on the piano for the attending audience. The Matthews were also accompanied by their sons, 12 and 14, and are on their way to New Mexico to pick up a daughter, 7.

Crater Lake Travel Skids

May Tourist travel to Crater Lake National Park skidded 14.7 per cent under that of May a year ago and bad weather takes the blame.

May of 1952 saw 3,024 cars bringing in 10,472 persons to the park. Snowfall figures give an indication to the drop in travel. May 1953, brought 59 inches. May of last year saw just 13 inches and the average over the last 18 years is 23.8 inches.

Total snowfall to date (Sept. 1, 1952, through May 1953) is 964.5 inches. Snow on the ground at the park's headquarters at the end of May measured 116 inches, as compared to 78 inches in 1952.

There was a trace of snow Monday, turning to combined rain and snow during the night.

All roads to the park are in good condition. Park officials reported "cloudy skies" Tuesday.
