

Commies Hit Nagy Speech

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Szabad Nép, official Communist Party newspaper, declared Monday Hungary had overestimated its strength and exaggerated the tempo of industrialization, especially that of heavy industry.

The newspaper, counterpart of Moscow's Pravda, devoted all of its front page and half of the second to the speech delivered in Parliament Saturday by Premier Imry Nagy, successor to Matyas Rakosi.

It called Nagy's new plans for Hungary a "program of broadest national unity" and a "turning point of extraordinary importance in our economic policy." Frequently the newspaper used the same words as the Premier did in his speech in which he promised to rectify "mistakes" of the previous government.

Referring to the lack of adequate iron ore, coal and electric power in Hungary, the newspaper said there is no need to force exaggerated progress of heavy industries "which lack the necessary conditions, especially if it is more economical to satisfy demands through international trade."

Teachers On Rerhire List

SPOKANE (AP) — The Eastern Washington College of Education Board of Trustees has offered to rehire seven of 16 faculty members dismissed during a controversy that divided the campus at the teacher college at Cheney 18 miles west of here.

The board announced its action Sunday as a four-man committee of out-of-state educators, headed by Dr. Raymond Mosher of San Jose State College, completed an investigation of the action of the board.

Commenting the action was what "we had originally been thinking along that line," Dr. Mosher said a written report will be made to Gov. Langlie who requested the investigation.

Five of the seven offered their jobs back were dismissed June 11 by EWCE president Otis Freeman on the board's authorization, and two were among 11 fired outright by the trustees.

Freeman and registrar George W. Wallace later tendered their resignations. The board announced Sunday both have been accepted.

Peron Tees Off On Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Argentine President Juan D. Peron lambasted the American press Monday as "agents of deceit" and said there would be no U. S.-Argentine friction if they told the truth about his country.

"When the American press represents a true picture of Argentine reality," he said, "then, I believe, friendship between our countries will be a simple problem—or it will be no problem."

His statements, made in an interview at Buenos Aires and published in a copyrighted article in the magazine U. S. News and World Report, continued his attacks on American journalism.

At the same time, he said, Argentine newspapers "express the state of mind of our peoples," whose feelings he described as "repeatedly outraged" by past policies of the U. S. State Department toward Argentina.

Last May the Argentine government prohibited, for about a week, the use of news from American wire services in Argentine newspapers. The Argentine press, overwhelmingly pro-Peron, did not resume use of these wire dispatches until about a week ago.

La Prensa, the big Buenos Aires newspaper, was taken over by the Peron government two years ago and given to the General Labor Confederation. Its former editor,

Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, is now exiled in Uruguay.

Big Three Aides Plan Meeting

LONDON (AP) — British experts on Korea, Russia, Germany, and the Mideast will fly to Washington Wednesday with Lord Salisbury for the conference of Big Three Western foreign ministers.

A spokesman told reporters at a daily news conference the U. S., Britain and France have set no firm agenda for the July 10 talks between Secretary of State Dulles, acting Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Sugar Missing At State Pen

SALEM (AP) — Seven hundred pounds of sugar is listed as missing from the state prison inventory, but Warden Clarence T. Gladden said Monday he doesn't know if it was stolen.

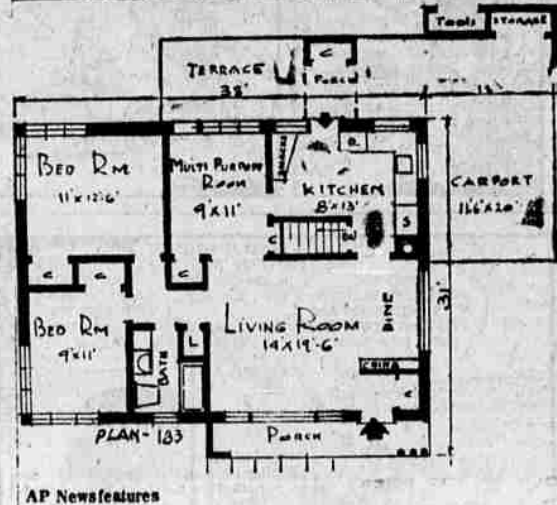

The sugar might have been used in the prison canteen, Gladden said, or it could have been stolen. The inventory was made last week, and it covered a period of several months.

"We've searched high and low around this place," Gladden said, "and no trace of it has been found. The whole thing might be just a clerical error," he said.

FOUR GENERATIONS . . . and all men in the Carter family. From the left, Lumly R. Carter, great-grandfather, Albany, Ore., William L. Carter Sr., 821 Mitchell, William L. Carter Jr., back of them; and William L. Carter 3rd, 16 months, 3356 Altamont Drive. Picture taken in Albany home of great-grandfather Carter.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

HOW A MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM adds flexibility to a small house is illustrated in this plan. This room can be used as a third bedroom, if needed, or can become a formal dining room, study, game room or hobby room. Economical to build, this house is a simple rectangle in shape and covers only 1800 square feet. This is plan 183 by Paul T. Haagen, 360 No. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill. (Informaion and blueprints from architect.)

KF Students On Top List

OREGON STATE COLLEGE — Seven students from the Klamath Falls area have been listed on the spring term scholastic honor roll at Oregon State college.

Albert Micka of Malin earned a straight "A" average in his course work of 16 academic hours.

Students receiving grade averages of 3.5 points or better, on the basis of an "A" equaling 4 points, are Diane Binkley, Barbara Custer, Mary Louise Poole, Robert Schieferstein and Charles Thurman, all of Klamath Falls; and Byron Speer of Fort Klamath.

There were 39 students listed on the honor roll with 66 named as having straight "A" grades.

Escaped Prisoner Found In Field

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate who walked away from a prison work crew Saturday was captured by a guard Sunday in a strawberry patch near here.

The guard said the fugitive, Thomas Preston Bousfield, 38, offered no resistance.

Bousfield was committed from Thurston County in 1948 for first-degree kidnaping. He had less than six months of his sentence remaining when he escaped Saturday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Brantree can be found in England.

HOTELS OSBURN * HOLLAND EUGENE, ORE. MEDFORD Thoroughly Modern Mrs. J. E. Early and Joe Early Proprietors

Nude Venus Art Display?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The statue of a nude Venus, which caused an uproar in Salem, Ore., recently when it was proposed as a memorial to Oregon pioneers, probably will be loaned to the Portland Art Museum.

Victor M. Carter, Los Angeles businessman and art fancier, reported Sunday that he has offered to buy the Rensler statue from the Pioneer Trust Co. of Salem for $18,000. If the sale is confirmed, he said, the bronze statue will be shipped to Portland on a loan basis.

The trust company reportedly paid $18,000 for the statue on the recommendation of a committee appointed to select an Oregon pioneer memorial. A former state employee left $30,000 for the memorial.

Many Salem residents objected to the statue so the plan of erecting it on the lawn in front of the new Marion County Courthouse was dropped.

Thomas Colt, director of the Portland Art Museum and a member of the committee that selected the statue, said Carter's offer will be held until July 9. He said he hoped that before that time someone in Portland would match the offer and give the statue to the museum outright.

Carter is a director of the Hollywood State Bank, president of the Westwood Manufacturing Co., and the owner of Builders' Emporium, a Van Nuys retail hardware firm.

Knowland Raps Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) says that if the U.S. had consulted fully with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, "I don't think this breach would have developed."

Rhee, Knowland said, "was not sufficiently consulted during the Truman administration and I don't think he was sufficiently consulted during the Eisenhower administration."

The senator, acting GOP leader of the Senate, said the "first real consultation" with the South Korea president came with the dispatch to Seoul of Walter Robertson as a personal emissary of President Eisenhower.

That came after Rhee had freed some 27,000 anti-Communist prisoners of war and threatened to fight on alone if an armistice were signed which left Korea divided.

Asked, on an NBC television program Sunday, whether the U.S. could now trust Rhee, Knowland replied that "I don't think Mr. Rhee has done anything which would warrant us not trusting him."

Sugar Missing At State Pen

SALEM (AP) — Seven hundred pounds of sugar is listed as missing from the state prison inventory, but Warden Clarence T. Gladden said Monday he doesn't know if it was stolen.

The sugar might have been used in the prison canteen, Gladden said, or it could have been stolen. The inventory was made last week, and it covered a period of several months.

"We've searched high and low around this place," Gladden said, "and no trace of it has been found. The whole thing might be just a clerical error," he said.

Big Three Aides Plan Meeting

LONDON (AP) — British experts on Korea, Russia, Germany, and the Mideast will fly to Washington Wednesday with Lord Salisbury for the conference of Big Three Western foreign ministers.

A spokesman told reporters at a daily news conference the U. S., Britain and France have set no firm agenda for the July 10 talks between Secretary of State Dulles, acting Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Peron Tees Off On Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Argentine President Juan D. Peron lambasted the American press Monday as "agents of deceit" and said there would be no U. S.-Argentine friction if they told the truth about his country.

"When the American press represents a true picture of Argentine reality," he said, "then, I believe, friendship between our countries will be a simple problem—or it will be no problem."

His statements, made in an interview at Buenos Aires and published in a copyrighted article in the magazine U. S. News and World Report, continued his attacks on American journalism.

At the same time, he said, Argentine newspapers "express the state of mind of our peoples," whose feelings he described as "repeatedly outraged" by past policies of the U. S. State Department toward Argentina.

Last May the Argentine government prohibited, for about a week, the use of news from American wire services in Argentine newspapers. The Argentine press, overwhelmingly pro-Peron, did not resume use of these wire dispatches until about a week ago.

La Prensa, the big Buenos Aires newspaper, was taken over by the Peron government two years ago and given to the General Labor Confederation. Its former editor,

Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, is now exiled in Uruguay.

Big Three Aides Plan Meeting

LONDON (AP) — British experts on Korea, Russia, Germany, and the Mideast will fly to Washington Wednesday with Lord Salisbury for the conference of Big Three Western foreign ministers.

A spokesman told reporters at a daily news conference the U. S., Britain and France have set no firm agenda for the July 10 talks between Secretary of State Dulles, acting Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

Sugar Missing At State Pen

SALEM (AP) — Seven hundred pounds of sugar is listed as missing from the state prison inventory, but Warden Clarence T. Gladden said Monday he doesn't know if it was stolen.

The sugar might have been used in the prison canteen, Gladden said, or it could have been stolen. The inventory was made last week, and it covered a period of several months.

"We've searched high and low around this place," Gladden said, "and no trace of it has been found. The whole thing might be just a clerical error," he said.

Commies Hit Nagy Speech

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Szabad Nép, official Communist Party newspaper, declared Monday Hungary had overestimated its strength and exaggerated the tempo of industrialization, especially that of heavy industry.

The newspaper, counterpart of Moscow's Pravda, devoted all of its front page and half of the second to the speech delivered in Parliament Saturday by Premier Imry Nagy, successor to Matyas Rakosi.

It called Nagy's new plans for Hungary a "program of broadest national unity" and a "turning point of extraordinary importance in our economic policy." Frequently the newspaper used the same words as the Premier did in his speech in which he promised to rectify "mistakes" of the previous government.

Referring to the lack of adequate iron ore, coal and electric power in Hungary, the newspaper said there is no need to force exaggerated progress of heavy industries "which lack the necessary conditions, especially if it is more economical to satisfy demands through international trade."

Teachers On Rerhire List

SPOKANE (AP) — The Eastern Washington College of Education Board of Trustees has offered to rehire seven of 16 faculty members dismissed during a controversy that divided the campus at the teacher college at Cheney 18 miles west of here.

The board announced its action Sunday as a four-man committee of out-of-state educators, headed by Dr. Raymond Mosher of San Jose State College, completed an investigation of the action of the board.

Commenting the action was what "we had originally been thinking along that line," Dr. Mosher said a written report will be made to Gov. Langlie who requested the investigation.

Five of the seven offered their jobs back were dismissed June 11 by EWCE president Otis Freeman on the board's authorization, and two were among 11 fired outright by the trustees.

Freeman and registrar George W. Wallace later tendered their resignations. The board announced Sunday both have been accepted.

Escaped Prisoner Found In Field

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate who walked away from a prison work crew Saturday was captured by a guard Sunday in a strawberry patch near here.

The guard said the fugitive, Thomas Preston Bousfield, 38, offered no resistance.

Bousfield was committed from Thurston County in 1948 for first-degree kidnaping. He had less than six months of his sentence remaining when he escaped Saturday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Brantree can be found in England.

HOTELS OSBURN * HOLLAND EUGENE, ORE. MEDFORD Thoroughly Modern Mrs. J. E. Early and Joe Early Proprietors

Nude Venus Art Display?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The statue of a nude Venus, which caused an uproar in Salem, Ore., recently when it was proposed as a memorial to Oregon pioneers, probably will be loaned to the Portland Art Museum.

Victor M. Carter, Los Angeles businessman and art fancier, reported Sunday that he has offered to buy the Rensler statue from the Pioneer Trust Co. of Salem for $18,000. If the sale is confirmed, he said, the bronze statue will be shipped to Portland on a loan basis.

The trust company reportedly paid $18,000 for the statue on the recommendation of a committee appointed to select an Oregon pioneer memorial. A former state employee left $30,000 for the memorial.

Many Salem residents objected to the statue so the plan of erecting it on the lawn in front of the new Marion County Courthouse was dropped.

Thomas Colt, director of the Portland Art Museum and a member of the committee that selected the statue, said Carter's offer will be held until July 9. He said he hoped that before that time someone in Portland would match the offer and give the statue to the museum outright.

Carter is a director of the Hollywood State Bank, president of the Westwood Manufacturing Co., and the owner of Builders' Emporium, a Van Nuys retail hardware firm.

Commies Hit Nagy Speech

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Szabad Nép, official Communist Party newspaper, declared Monday Hungary had overestimated its strength and exaggerated the tempo of industrialization, especially that of heavy industry.

The newspaper, counterpart of Moscow's Pravda, devoted all of its front page and half of the second to the speech delivered in Parliament Saturday by Premier Imry Nagy, successor to Matyas Rakosi.

It called Nagy's new plans for Hungary a "program of broadest national unity" and a "turning point of extraordinary importance in our economic policy." Frequently the newspaper used the same words as the Premier did in his speech in which he promised to rectify "mistakes" of the previous government.

Referring to the lack of adequate iron ore, coal and electric power in Hungary, the newspaper said there is no need to force exaggerated progress of heavy industries "which lack the necessary conditions, especially if it is more economical to satisfy demands through international trade."

Teachers On Rerhire List

SPOKANE (AP) — The Eastern Washington College of Education Board of Trustees has offered to rehire seven of 16 faculty members dismissed during a controversy that divided the campus at the teacher college at Cheney 18 miles west of here.

The board announced its action Sunday as a four-man committee of out-of-state educators, headed by Dr. Raymond Mosher of San Jose State College, completed an investigation of the action of the board.

Commenting the action was what "we had originally been thinking along that line," Dr. Mosher said a written report will be made to Gov. Langlie who requested the investigation.

Five of the seven offered their jobs back were dismissed June 11 by EWCE president Otis Freeman on the board's authorization, and two were among 11 fired outright by the trustees.

Freeman and registrar George W. Wallace later tendered their resignations. The board announced Sunday both have been accepted.

Escaped Prisoner Found In Field

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate who walked away from a prison work crew Saturday was captured by a guard Sunday in a strawberry patch near here.

The guard said the fugitive, Thomas Preston Bousfield, 38, offered no resistance.

Bousfield was committed from Thurston County in 1948 for first-degree kidnaping. He had less than six months of his sentence remaining when he escaped Saturday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Brantree can be found in England.

HOTELS OSBURN * HOLLAND EUGENE, ORE. MEDFORD Thoroughly Modern Mrs. J. E. Early and Joe Early Proprietors

Nude Venus Art Display?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The statue of a nude Venus, which caused an uproar in Salem, Ore., recently when it was proposed as a memorial to Oregon pioneers, probably will be loaned to the Portland Art Museum.

Victor M. Carter, Los Angeles businessman and art fancier, reported Sunday that he has offered to buy the Rensler statue from the Pioneer Trust Co. of Salem for $18,000. If the sale is confirmed, he said, the bronze statue will be shipped to Portland on a loan basis.

The trust company reportedly paid $18,000 for the statue on the recommendation of a committee appointed to select an Oregon pioneer memorial. A former state employee left $30,000 for the memorial.

Many Salem residents objected to the statue so the plan of erecting it on the lawn in front of the new Marion County Courthouse was dropped.

Thomas Colt, director of the Portland Art Museum and a member of the committee that selected the statue, said Carter's offer will be held until July 9. He said he hoped that before that time someone in Portland would match the offer and give the statue to the museum outright.

Carter is a director of the Hollywood State Bank, president of the Westwood Manufacturing Co., and the owner of Builders' Emporium, a Van Nuys retail hardware firm.

Commies Hit Nagy Speech

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Szabad Nép, official Communist Party newspaper, declared Monday Hungary had overestimated its strength and exaggerated the tempo of industrialization, especially that of heavy industry.

The newspaper, counterpart of Moscow's Pravda, devoted all of its front page and half of the second to the speech delivered in Parliament Saturday by Premier Imry Nagy, successor to Matyas Rakosi.

It called Nagy's new plans for Hungary a "program of broadest national unity" and a "turning point of extraordinary importance in our economic policy." Frequently the newspaper used the same words as the Premier did in his speech in which he promised to rectify "mistakes" of the previous government.

Referring to the lack of adequate iron ore, coal and electric power in Hungary, the newspaper said there is no need to force exaggerated progress of heavy industries "which lack the necessary conditions, especially if it is more economical to satisfy demands through international trade."

Teachers On Rerhire List

SPOKANE (AP) — The Eastern Washington College of Education Board of Trustees has offered to rehire seven of 16 faculty members dismissed during a controversy that divided the campus at the teacher college at Cheney 18 miles west of here.

The board announced its action Sunday as a four-man committee of out-of-state educators, headed by Dr. Raymond Mosher of San Jose State College, completed an investigation of the action of the board.

Commenting the action was what "we had originally been thinking along that line," Dr. Mosher said a written report will be made to Gov. Langlie who requested the investigation.

Five of the seven offered their jobs back were dismissed June 11 by EWCE president Otis Freeman on the board's authorization, and two were among 11 fired outright by the trustees.

Freeman and registrar George W. Wallace later tendered their resignations. The board announced Sunday both have been accepted.

Escaped Prisoner Found In Field

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate who walked away from a prison work crew Saturday was captured by a guard Sunday in a strawberry patch near here.

The guard said the fugitive, Thomas Preston Bousfield, 38, offered no resistance.

Bousfield was committed from Thurston County in 1948 for first-degree kidnaping. He had less than six months of his sentence remaining when he escaped Saturday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Brantree can be found in England.

HOTELS OSBURN * HOLLAND EUGENE, ORE. MEDFORD Thoroughly Modern Mrs. J. E. Early and Joe Early Proprietors

Nude Venus Art Display?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The statue of a nude Venus, which caused an uproar in Salem, Ore., recently when it was proposed as a memorial to Oregon pioneers, probably will be loaned to the Portland Art Museum.

Victor M. Carter, Los Angeles businessman and art fancier, reported Sunday that he has offered to buy the Rensler statue from the Pioneer Trust Co. of Salem for $18,000. If the sale is confirmed, he said, the bronze statue will be shipped to Portland on a loan basis.

The trust company reportedly paid $18,000 for the statue on the recommendation of a committee appointed to select an Oregon pioneer memorial. A former state employee left $30,000 for the memorial.

Many Salem residents objected to the statue so the plan of erecting it on the lawn in front of the new Marion County Courthouse was dropped.

Thomas Colt, director of the Portland Art Museum and a member of the committee that selected the statue, said Carter's offer will be held until July 9. He said he hoped that before that time someone in Portland would match the offer and give the statue to the museum outright.

Carter is a director of the Hollywood State Bank, president of the Westwood Manufacturing Co., and the owner of Builders' Emporium, a Van Nuys retail hardware firm.

Commies Hit Nagy Speech

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Szabad Nép, official Communist Party newspaper, declared Monday Hungary had overestimated its strength and exaggerated the tempo of industrialization, especially that of heavy industry.

The newspaper, counterpart of Moscow's Pravda, devoted all of its front page and half of the second to the speech delivered in Parliament Saturday by Premier Imry Nagy, successor to Matyas Rakosi.

It called Nagy's new plans for Hungary a "program of broadest national unity" and a "turning point of extraordinary importance in our economic policy." Frequently the newspaper used the same words as the Premier did in his speech in which he promised to rectify "mistakes" of the previous government.

Referring to the lack of adequate iron ore, coal and electric power in Hungary, the newspaper said there is no need to force exaggerated progress of heavy industries "which lack the necessary conditions, especially if it is more economical to satisfy demands through international trade."

Teachers On Rerhire List

SPOKANE (AP) — The Eastern Washington College of Education Board of Trustees has offered to rehire seven of 16 faculty members dismissed during a controversy that divided the campus at the teacher college at Cheney 18 miles west of here.

The board announced its action Sunday as a four-man committee of out-of-state educators, headed by Dr. Raymond Mosher of San Jose State College, completed an investigation of the action of the board.

Commenting the action was what "we had originally been thinking along that line," Dr. Mosher said a written report will be made to Gov. Langlie who requested the investigation.

Five of the seven offered their jobs back were dismissed June 11 by EWCE president Otis Freeman on the board's authorization, and two were among 11 fired outright by the trustees.

Freeman and registrar George W. Wallace later tendered their resignations. The board announced Sunday both have been accepted.

Escaped Prisoner Found In Field

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A state penitentiary inmate who walked away from a prison work crew Saturday was captured by a guard Sunday in a strawberry patch near here.

The guard said the fugitive, Thomas Preston Bousfield, 38, offered no resistance.

Bousfield was committed from Thurston County in 1948 for first-degree kidnaping. He had less than six months of his sentence remaining when he escaped Saturday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Brantree can be found in England.

HOTELS OSBURN * HOLLAND EUGENE, ORE. MEDFORD Thoroughly Modern Mrs. J. E. Early and Joe Early Proprietors

Nude Venus Art Display?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The statue of a nude Venus, which caused an uproar in Salem, Ore., recently when it was proposed as a memorial to Oregon pioneers, probably will be loaned to the Portland Art Museum.

Victor M. Carter, Los Angeles businessman and art fancier, reported Sunday that he has offered to buy the Rensler statue from the Pioneer Trust Co. of Salem for $18,000. If the sale is confirmed, he said, the bronze statue will be shipped to Portland on a loan basis.

The trust company reportedly paid $18,000 for the statue on the recommendation of a committee appointed to select an Oregon pioneer memorial. A former state employee left $30,000 for the memorial.

Many Salem residents objected to the statue so the plan of erecting it on the lawn in front of the new Marion County Courthouse was dropped.